CASSIDY WARNS MATERIALS MEN: PAY SALES TAX

Assails Stelle Plan as Illegal.

Atty. Gen. John E. Cassidy announced yesterday that material supply dealers who fail to report their sales tax obligations for November in full by Dec. 15 will be prosecuted by his office. He added that the material men would find no defense in a ruling made last week by State Finance Director A. L. Carter, absolving them from payment of the tax on their sales to building contractors.

John E. Cassidy.

The attorney general's statement was a direct defiance to Gov. John Stelle, who has upheld the right of Carter to issue the ruling, which would deprive the state of several millions of dollars annually. Cassidy has already referred to the changed regulations, which took effect Nov. 1, as "illegal and outrageous."

Serves to Complicate Suit.

Cassidy said the modification had only served to complicate a law suit before Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Circuit court, in which a number of material companies are seeking to enjoin the state from collecting the tax from them and to force repayment of sales taxes taken from them under protest in the past.

Tomorrow, Cassidy is to file with Judge Fisher a motion outlining his views on this point. It will set out that the "revision and promulgation of the revised rule constitutes an illegal attempt by the director of finance to exempt from taxation persons required to pay a tax," and also that Carter's act constitutes improper interference with pending litigation. Further, Cassidy will ask, since admission of the rule would weaken the state's case, that it be barred from the present suit.

The differences between Cassidy and Stelle on the rule became even more pronounced yesterday. The governor at Springfield said he upheld Carter fully and had no intention of abrogating the controversial regulation, known as rule 6.

Leaves Decision to Court.

"Only the court can decide whether the rule is right or wrong," said Stelle. "I earnestly desire a decision that will settle the question of law." Earlier he said the rule was designed to "force" a quick appeal to the Illinois Supreme court.

Cassidy's full opposition was made manifest by another action yesterday. He appointed Samuel Herman, a lawyer, who first made public the sales tax revision scheme of the governor and finance director, an assistant attorney general. Herman was employed in Carter's office, but resigned when the ruling was made over his protest.

"Mr. Herman will be assigned to tax matters," said Cassidy, "and may participate in the case before Judge Fisher."

The attorney general will ask that the suit, in which one of the participants is the Material Service corporation, be dismissed.

Suit Complicated Affair.

The suit itself is a complicated affair. It was filed 20 months ago. The complaining companies began by asking that the tax they paid on sales to contractors be segregated in the state treasury. They also asked that the levies on them be held illegal and that they be repaid what was collected from them over their protests.

In consequence of these pleas, something more than a half million dollars has been segregated. There has, however, been no ruling on the request for repayment and, if the attorney general's office continues to fight along the present line, there can be none until a final adjudication by the state Supreme court.

The effect of the Stelle-Carter ruling would be to free the material men from the necessity of paying in and segregating their taxes, an important advantage in itself.

2 SWEPT AWAY AS COAST GUARD BATTLES WAVES

Nation's Toll 157—31 Among Hunters.

Ludington, Mich., Nov. 13 [Special].—The most furious storm on Lake Michigan in recent years abated today after causing an estimated toll of 73 deaths among sailors.

Added to this tragic total were the deaths of 31 hunters who perished in marshlands of the middle west and 53 other victims of snow and freezing weather—a total of 157 persons who died in regions raked Monday and Tuesday by the sudden wintry blast.

Before the violent Lake Michigan seas calmed, the coast guard wrote thrilling chapters to its record of heroic service. Outstanding was the hazardous rescue of 18 survivors from the stricken freighter Novadoc. They were taken off shortly before the big ship was pounded to pieces on a reef off Pentwater.

Cling 36 Hours to Wreck.

The survivors had clung for 36 hours to the drenched and broken hull of their vessel after two members of the crew were swept overboard and drowned by waves 25 feet high. For most of that time, coast guardsmen had tried to reach them, but were kept away by mountainous waves.

In the very midst of their victory, the coast guard almost lost the thrilling battle. As the men were being taken off, mighty seas smashed the rended hulk into the lake.

The Novadoc men were bruised and suffering from hunger and exposure, having been in distress since the Canadian pulpwood freighter's back was broken when it struck the reef on Monday. In telling of their jeopardy, the survivors said that for a time last night their lives hung on the whim of the wind.

"A sudden shift in the wind would have finished the boat for good," said First Mate Dick Simpell.

2 Boats Carry 57 to Death.

The greatest loss of life was in the sinking of the freighter Davock, a 7,200 ton vessel with a crew of 33, and the loss of the freighter Anna C. Minch, a 4,200 ton grain carrier with a crew of 24. Both ships were smashed to pieces and sunk off Pentwater, with all hands believed lost. Sixteen bodies bearing lifebelts from the two ships were found.

Four fishing tugs and a motor cruiser also were reported lost with all aboard. Five men were on the tug Indian and three on the tug Richard H., both out of South Haven, which disappeared off the southwestern coast of Michigan.

Three men were aboard the tug Irene and one on the Dornbos, both missing since Monday.

Two men were on the Nancy Jane, a 46 foot motor cruiser of De Pere, Wis., unreported since Sunday on a trip from Chicago to Manitowoc.

Storm Deaths by States.

Storm deaths by states, exclusive of sailors, were: Minnesota, 34; Illinois, 11; Wisconsin, 9; Iowa, 8; Indiana, 5; Michigan, 4; New York, 4; Colorado, 2; South Dakota, 2; Oklahoma, 1; Wyoming, 1; Kansas, 1, and Ontario, Canada, 2.

These figures included the following number of hunters: Minnesota, 13; Wisconsin, 6; Iowa, 4; Illinois, 3; New York, 3; Ontario, 2.

Among the tales of icy death and stark disaster was the story related in a Winona, Minn., hospital by Gerald Tarras, 17, the only surviving member of a stormbound hunting party.

Three Die One by One.

Young Tarras told how his father, Carl; his brother, Raymond, 16, and a friend, William Wernecke, succumbed to exposure along the Mississippi river Monday night and Tuesday.

"Bill kept falling asleep and we had to hit him to keep him awake," the youth related. "He died about 2 o'clock in the morning. At 11 a. m. my brother died and dad died about three hours later. I sat on a stump and held my dog until about 2:30, when I saw a boat coming to get me. I don't remember any more."

Many Minnesota towns remained isolated by snow. Train service was uncertain and automobile traffic virtually paralyzed.

Men Against Waves! A Lake Michigan Saga

BY THOMAS MORROW.

Fifty foot seas crashing over the top of the pilot house . . . a captain standing watch for 15 hours while a 75 mile gale whips his ship to near-destruction . . . ice locked clothing removed from weary seamen with a chisel.

These florid phrases are not from the pages of a sea thriller. They are tales told by the sailors who fought the storm of Armistice day on Lake Michigan.

You can hear them at Indiana Harbor, where Capt. Howard Kizer brought the Joseph Block of the Inland Steel company safely to anchor late Tuesday night and where the New Haven Socony, captained by Harley O. Norton, docked safely. Or at the Interlake Steel company slip at 112th street and the river, where the battered Henry Steinbrenner is anchored.

Quarters a Pile of Wreckage.

The pilot houses of the first two boats are caked with a two inch coating of ice. The captain's quarters on the Steinbrenner is a pile of wreckage, where tons of water crashed thru the door and reduced the furniture to kindling wood. The pilot house of the Socony was swept away while Capt. Norton was inside. He narrowly missed being washed overboard.

The Joseph Block, 570 feet long, left Port Inland, 25 miles east of Manistique on northern Lake Michigan Sunday night, bound for Indiana Harbor. It carried 10,000 tons of limestone. Because of the easterly winds Capt. Kizer took his vessel along the east shore of the lake.

"At 11:15 Monday morning," said Kizer, "the bottom suddenly dropped out of the glass [barometer]. She went from a normal of around 30 to 28.30 and we knew we were in for trouble.

Fight Gale for 15 Hours.

"The wind switched suddenly to the southwest and a gale of 70 miles an hour and heavy seas began to rip at the boat. We headed from a point off Ludington, Mich., for the Milwaukee shore.

"I couldn't have turned around and run before it, because we would have gone ashore. If I had headed her directly into the storm it would have knocked her to pieces. I figured four points to sea [a 45 degree angle off a direct course into the storm] the best headway."

Two windows in the pilot house were broken by the heavy seas and wind. Capt. Kizer, his first mate, Sherman Walsh, and his second mate, James Shoesmith, fought the storm in the pilot house for 15 hours while the wind and water tore at them thru the broken windows, ice caked on the wheel, the walls and the windows.

Capt. Laurence B. Smith and Third Mate Wilbur Cornwell of the Henry Steinbrenner told like stories of their battle with the storm. Both said they saw the William B. Davock, which sank off Pentwater, Mich., with a loss of at least 16 lives.

The Steinbrenner was carrying 7,100 tons of coal.

"We Went Thru Hell."

The New Haven Socony—a 251 foot oil tanker—left Indiana Harbor early Monday and proceeded to a point 25 miles south of Muskegon, Mich., when the gale hit her. After a time battling the storm she turned and made for home port.

"We went thru hell," said Boatswain Frank Myers. "We've been practically all over Lake Michigan. But we're here O. K. altho it was a 48 hour battle. All hands are safe, but hungry and bruised."

Capt. Norton said the ship, loaded with 600,000 gallons of gasoline, was so waterlogged when it reached port that it would have had trouble staying afloat for another hour.

1,000 WOMEN SEEK JOBS AS HOSTESSES IN 6TH CORPS AREA

More than 1,000 women have applied at 6th corps area headquarters in Chicago for jobs as hostesses in army camps, it was learned yesterday. None has been hired yet and it is not known yet how many will be required in the corps area.

On the basis of their applications many applicants appear to have all the qualifications for the job, it was said. A war department statement specified that hostesses should have "ability, intelligence, tact, physical stamina, and the highest type of character."

Senior hostesses will be between 30 and 50 years old and junior hostesses between 25 and 45. They will supervise the social and recreational activities of the army and make provisions for women and children who visit men in army camps.

Police to Shush Talking Jukes and All Others

Jukes—big ones, little ones, talking ones, and musical ones—in fact, all the coin operated devices that are a common sight in taverns and sundry other places, are on their way out, Police Commissioner Allman said yesterday.

Allman ordered their removal and, as his order filtered down thru the police system, the juke and tavern interests affected promised a legal battle to protect an investment in jukes estimated at more than 3 million dollars.

The tempest in a music box started over the recent entry of the automatic hostess type of juke into Chicago's 5 million a year music box industry.

Boxes Ruled Illegal.

Allman asked Corporation Counsel Barnet Hodes for an opinion on their legality. Hodes ruled the jukes illegal. He quoted section 104-22 of the municipal code, which prohibits any amusement device operated by a coin or token. This was passed in 1937 when the fight over slot machines was at its height.

There are approximately 10,000 juke boxes in the city, each valued at $300 to $400. The newest of the machines is the talking juke, produced by the Automatic Instrument company. Thru this device a patron may talk by telephone with a girl in a central studio in addition to playing a musical selection.

Fight on Ordinance Expected.

"I don't think any one expects the several hundred owners of the machines to put the 3 million dollar investment into cold storage without fighting the ordinance," said E. E. Rullman, president of Automatic Instrument company.

E. C. Steffins, president of the International Association of Automatic Electric Phonograph Owners, refused to become alarmed.

"I don't think the city can enforce the ordinance," he said.

Michael J. Boyle's union, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, local 134, has an estimated income of $3,600 a month from servicing the jukes—including collection of the nickels.

It was said the juke box owners count on the union as a powerful ally in the struggle. Boyle could not be reached for a statement.

BRITISH BOMBING ATTACK LEAVES HAVOC IN HARBOR

NAZIS MOBILIZE ARMY FOR 'FINAL BLOW' AT BRITAIN

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 13.—Mobilization of the German army is being increased to 55 or even 60 per cent, it is understood here, whereas in the decisive battle of France only some 30 to 35 per cent of the German forces were mobilized.

Without pause, Germany's gigantic force, comprising possibly hundreds of divisions, is being drilled daily and trained for the final blow against England. There is much speculation as to where this blow may fall.

The Germans boast that they have "only 10,000 men actually at grips with the enemy," referring to German air force and submarine crews. The remainder are garrisoned from Tromsoe, Norway, in the north, to the Pyrenees mountains in the south, and from the French Atlantic coast in the west to the Balkans in the east.

Tank Chief Heads Mobilization.

The mobilization of the German army at top speed was started in August under the command of the tank corps general, Heinz Guderian, who is said to be aided by 10,000 motor specialists and instructors. In addition, every soldier joining the motorized forces is given from 6 to 15 weeks of special training as a driver and mechanic. The number of "flying motor repair shops" which proved highly successful in the French campaign is being trebled.

In addition to the masses of tanks and scout cars being turned out by German industry, there is hardly a German unit which is not equipped with French, British, Polish, Norwegian, Dutch, or Belgian motorized equipment seized in the earlier campaigns.

The huge scale mobilization seems to indicate that part of the German army may soon be employed in the wide spaces outside Europe and Britain, possibly in Africa. Some Berlin circles believe German divisions may reënforce Marshal Rudolfo Graziani's Italian army in northern Africa. These circles hold that a strongly superior mechanized force, aided by dive bombers, could strike against the British across the 300 miles of desert from the Italian position east of Sidi Barrani to the Nile valley.

Pincer Movement Seen.

Other German circles visualize Turkey siding with England, against which union the axis might launch a pincer movement, whereby Graziani's forces operating from Libya would coöperate with German and Italian divisions attacking Egypt from the east, via Turkey, Syria, and the Suez canal.

Some observers see an even greater pincer movement with Spain entering the war and German divisions striking at Gibraltar. Others believe the Germans may decide to help Italy in Greece and turn the campaign there into a blitzkrieg.

Regardless of where the German army might strike next, Berlin circles believe it would face comparatively weak British naval opposition. The Nazis argue that a substantial part of the British navy must remain in the Mediterranean to defend Egypt and another must stay in the home waters to ward off a possible invasion, leaving only comparatively weak forces to protect the British sea communications. These sea lifelines of the empire, the Nazis point out, already are threatened by the German air force, the ever growing U-boat and speedboat flotillas, and naval raiders.

Dangers to Convoys Cited.

The Germans claim their sea raiders will make further inroads on Britain's seapower because a cruiser squadron must be detailed to hunt the German craft which are claimed to have been sinking many ships out of British convoys. These cruisers, the Germans argue, are badly needed for convoy duty.

The problem faced by the British escort vessels is greatly aggravated by the fact that merchantmen sailing in convoy must keep at least 500 yards apart, making it difficult for two or three warships to safely escort up to 70 or 80 merchantmen.

With the expansion of their submarine bases from the confined regions in which they operated during the world war to the wide expanse of the European coast from the North cape to the Pyrenees, the Germans have changed their U-boat assault tactics. Now they are making mass attacks on British convoys, rather than the usual lone raids.

3 Battleships and 2 Cruisers Hit at Taranto Base.

(Pictures on pages 5 and 6; pictures and maps on back page.)

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—The British announced today that in three swift blows their naval bombers and naval surface units had left half of Italy's six elusive battleships crippled, and other warships and supply ships sunk or damaged. The British claimed the strokes had altered decisively the balance of naval power in the Mediterranean. The blows were these:

1. Bombers of the fleet air arm struck at Premier Mussolini's main naval base of Taranto, in the instep of the Italian boot, where two battleships certainly, and probably a third, as well as two cruisers and other vessels were reported rendered ineffective.

2. The admiralty reported the sinking of an Italian supply ship, the firing of two others and the damaging of another supply ship and an Italian destroyer off Valona, Albania.

3. A British submarine attacked a convoy of two supply ships escorted by a destroyer bound for Libya, sinking one 3,000 ton vessel loaded with supplies and damaging the second which is believed to have sunk.

"An Effect Over the Globe."

The attacks on Taranto and ships off Valona took place the night of Nov. 11-12. The time of the attack on the Libya bound vessels was not disclosed.

"The glorious episode at Taranto," Prime Minister Churchill told an exultant house of commons, will leave its impression "on the naval situation in every quarter of the globe."

The admiralty said that photographic evidence of the attack at Taranto showed that two battleships were lying part way under water, one of them beached; that a third "probably" was severely damaged; that two cruisers were leaning tipsily in the inner harbor of Taranto, and that the sterns of two fleet auxiliary vessels were submerged.

London naval circles, doubting that British bombs alone could have wrought such damage against the battleships, because of their armor, suggested that torpedo planes took part in the attack.

Swoop Close to Water.

Torpedo planes swoop close to the water on a line toward their targets to drop their torpedoes. Once in the water these operate much like submarine torpedoes.

[An Italian high command communique reported that British planes had attacked naval bases at Brindisi, Bari, and Taranto, but mentioned that bombs were dropped only on Bari, Adriatic port, where three persons were reported wounded and slight damage caused.]

Telling of the action off Valona, a communique said the attack was delivered Monday night when a squadron on patrol along the main line of Italian communications with Albania, in the Strait of Otranto, intercepted the convoy.

Two Italian destroyers sought to shield the supply ships, but one supply ship was sunk outright and two others were "seriously" fired and "almost certainly sunk," while the fourth, tho damaged, escaped behind a smoke screen, according to the admiralty.

Both Italian destroyers escaped, but one was damaged. The British acknowledged no casualties or damage.

One of Newest Battleships.

The biggest and newest of the battleships reported crippled in the bombardment at Taranto, the admiralty said, was one of the 35,000 ton Littorio class. She "is badly down by the bows, her forecastle is under water, and she had a heavy list at starboard," the communique related.

Italy has two newly commissioned ships of this class, the Littorio and Vittorio Veneto, and they are among the most powerful "battle wagons" in the world.

Each carries a normal complement of 1,600 officers and men. They are armed with nine 15 inch guns, twelve 6 inch guns, twelve 3 inch guns, 40 antiaircraft and machine guns and carry three planes each. They were launched in 1937 and were among the most modern of battleships.

The Italians had two other battleships of this class, the Impero and Roma, under construction when the war broke out, but it has not been disclosed if they have been launched.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

MOVE TO ADJOURN CONGRESS DENIED BY WHITE HOUSE

But Roosevelt Says He Has No Work for It.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—While insisting that congress should make its own decision on adjourning the present session until next year, President Roosevelt today bolstered the plans of the Democratic leaders for adjournment. He announced he has no new legislation to present at this time and is not interested in immediate passage of any pending measures.

Mr. Roosevelt's assertion, thru his secretary, Stephen T. Early, of his lack of interest in pending measures means that the legislative slate will probably be cleared of six important measures. They include the Logan-Walter bill, Wagner labor act amendments, the antilynching bill, the Ramspeck civil service measure, the Tydings resolution for investigating the fiscal setup of the government, and the King proposal for extension of credits to Great Britain.

Denies Newspaper Story.

In telling reporters that the President is willing for congress to continue in session if it chooses, Secretary Early took occasion to deny a Chicago Tribune story printed under the name of this writer in last Sunday's issue which quoted Mr. Roosevelt as telling his leaders to "get congress out of town."

"The President has made no such statement at any time to any of the so-called legislative leaders or to others," said Early.

[The information that President Roosevelt was insistent upon congressional adjournment and had so informed his leaders was obtained by the writer from congressional sources which have hitherto been reliable.]

Secretary Early has, in many instances, been chosen by the President to deny newspaper stories which have subsequently been supported by the facts. He characterized as unpatriotic and false a Tribune scoop on the impending surrender of France.

Word Given to Rayburn.

"The President believes," said Early, "that congress should make its own decisions. However, he did tell Mr. Rayburn [speaker of the house] today that insofar as he was concerned he did not have any new legislation of such importance as to justify its being sent to the present congress and neither was he particularly interested in any legislation already introduced or pending before the present congress, certain newspaper stories to the contrary notwithstanding."

Early then said that The Tribune story about the President's desires for the adjournment of congress had been particularly referred to him by the President for denial.

Speaker Rayburn said that a vote would be taken next Tuesday on adjournment. Democratic leaders already have sent word to their members in both the senate and house to be present on that day. Republicans will fight adjournment on the ground that the international situation demands continuous session.

W-G-N Guest Star

MIRIAM HOPKINS.

Miriam Hopkins, motion picture and stage star, will appear as guest star on W-G-N-Mutual's program, In Chicago Tonight, which will feature the radio première of "Lady with Red Hair," new Warner Brothers picture, based on the life of Mrs. Leslie Carter, the noted actress. William A. Bacher will produce the show which will be aired from 7:30 to 8 o'clock tonight. Miss Hopkins is, of course, the star of the picture.

Miss Hopkins, who has been featured in such other recent successes as "The Old Maid," and "Virginia City," has been in New York the last week looking over stories for her next vehicle.

She had an opportunity a few years ago to become acquainted with Mrs. Carter. Mrs. Carter played a bit part in the technicolor production of "Becky Sharpe" in which Miss Hopkins was the star.

At 80, She Boards Clipper to Hawaii, Her First Flight

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 13 (AP).—Life is still an adventure for 80 year old Mrs. Mary Van Inwegen of Oregon, Ill., who boarded the Philippine Clipper today for her first airplane ride—a long hop to Honolulu—and then had her trip delayed. Mrs. Van Inwegen, who admits she is "a kid in spirit," planned the trip because a daughter in Honolulu dared her to do it. The Clipper, after flying west an hour and a half, returned to its base to fix a faulty fuel line, and postponed its takeoff again until tomorrow.

AMERICA MUST AVOID WAR, SAYS DEAN AT LOYOLA

Dr. Paul Kiniery, professor of history and assistant dean of the Loyola university graduate school, declared last night in a speech before the Loyola guild at 185 North Wabash avenue that America can and should stay out of foreign wars. He warned his hearers to be wary of interventionist propaganda.

Dr. Paul Kiniery.

"I have not been able to find any reputable historian," he said, "who supports the claim that American freedom depends on the British navy. Hitler hasn't even been able to cross the English channel."

Opera Gives the Tired Business Men a Break—and Also a Surprise!

A Song Dividend.

OPERA finally gave the tired business man a break last night. Not only was he encouraged to come to the Chicago Opera company's brilliant production of "Aïda" in his comfortable business suit, minus the traditional iron shirt, but he found that Chicago's new opera is far from stuffy and is full of surprises.

At the conclusion of "Aida," Henry Weber, musical director of the opera company, stepped before the footlights. The house was crowded for the first of the business men's night performances announced for each Wednesday evening, and there was an increase in attendance of 25 per cent over last Wednesday.

Steps Out of Character.

"I have a surprise for you," Weber said. "It is offered as a sample that the management of the opera company has new ideas and that there is nothing musty or stuffy in this new, revitalized opera in Chicago. How would you like to see John Charles Thomas step out of character from his rôle as the King of Ethiopia and sing 'Home on the Range?'"

The burst of applause that greeted this proposal showed that the audience would like it a great deal. So Thomas was led from the wings by Zinka Milanov and Frederick Jagel, other leads of "Aïda," and he, too, made a curtain speech.

"I feel that there is no place where good music is better appreciated than in Chicago," he said. "It is a city of innovation, and the young management of the Chicago Opera company is in tune with this spirit."

Receives Long Ovation.

Thomas then lifted his superb voice in "Home on the Range," the song with which he pulled 80,000 spectators to their feet in the recent Chicagoland Music Festival in Soldiers' field. He received a prolonged ovation for his contribution to this most homelike of all Chicago operatic evenings.

It was, in fact, no night for stuffed shirts. A few conservatives wore evening clothes, but it was apparent that the invitation of the opera company to "come in whatever you're wearing" had brought hundreds of business men whose faces rarely had been seen in the opera house.

J. C. Thompson, business manager of the opera company, said that if the rule of informality on Business Men's night won sustained approval the opera management in the future may actually bar formal dress at the Wednesday night performances.

Meet the Stars on Radio

W-G-N and the Chicago Opera company launched last night a series of broadcasts in which radio listeners of Chicagoland will become better acquainted with the stars of the opera.

Annette Burford.

One of the stars will be heard each evening in a brief interview, after which he or she will sing one of the great arias of opera. The programs will be presented at 8:15 p. m.

Rose Bampton, noted mezzo-soprano, will be heard tonight. Operagoers—the people in all walks of life who love opera because it combines music, drama, song, and story—likewise are to have a part in the programs. They will be interviewed along with the stars.

Miss Burford on First Program.

Annette Burford, an operatic soprano, was presented last night in the first of the new broadcasts. Tall, trim, and 21, Miss Burford is a dark-eyed brunette with a rich, warm voice. She came to Chicago last summer from Oklahoma City, Okla., to win the opera audition in which more than 600 young singers competed. On that occasion Miss Burford sang the Polonaise from "Mignon." Last night she sang the same aria over W-G-N.

She brought to the microphone the easy informality that is a real part of opera. As Announcer Pierre Andre commented in their interview, there's no need to dress formally for the opera unless one so desires.

In Opera Heights 10 Years.

Miss Bampton, who will be heard tonight, has been traveling the operatic heights for nearly 10 years, tho she's still a young woman. She made her Metropolitan Opera debut in 1932 as Laura in "La Gioconda."

Since then her concert, opera, and radio activities have been enough to tax the resources and musicianship of the most seasoned artist, but she has met every test. She is scheduled for her next appearance with the Chicago Opera company Saturday afternoon in "Don Giovanni."

Miss Mary Afflick is in charge of production on the new W-G-N opera series.

Dances by Ballet theater, choreography by Antony Tudor. Soloist, Karen Conrad. Conductor, Paul Breisach [debut].

BY EDWARD BARRY.

THIS performance of "Aïda," the second of the season, served to introduce to Chicago's opera going public last night Conductor Paul Breisach and Mezzo-Soprano Elsa Zebranska.

Mr. Breisach, former conductor of the Berlin State opera and one of the most distinguished of the German artists who have sought asylum in this country during the last few years, directed in a manner which stamped him immediately as a painstaking and profoundly analytical musician.

Performance a Bit Slow.

There is no doubt but that the performance was slowed up occasionally by the conductor's desire to extract from the music everything which the composer had put into it. Another difficulty was the fact that the huge forces he was directing were not always aware of his intentions—as if rehearsal time had been limited.

Mme. Zebranska, a Latvian mezzo-soprano with a wide European and—more recently—American background, was magnificently stage-wise in her enactment of the part of the royal Amneris. Her every maneuver was marked by poise and dignity. The voice was not very big nor very easily produced, but it was often nicely colored and was used quite expressively.

Other Outstanding Rôles.

The performance also boasted Zinka Milanov's vehement "Aïda," John Charles Thomas' exquisitely smooth Amonasro, Frederick Jagel's noble and well thought out Rhadames, and William Wymetal's idea filled stage direction.

We still cannot figure out why Amneris' couch [Act 2, Scene 1] has been pushed almost into the wings, but the triumphal scene seemed even more stunning last evening than it was on opening night.

Evening clothes were not necessary at the Chicago Civic Opera house last night and most of the opera goers dressed in ordinary garb such as this couple wore to the opera house. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

A state highway truck with a motorcycle escort rushed an iron lung 22 miles yesterday from Aurora to St. Joseph's hospital in Elgin. There Donald Wilson, 4 years old, who is critically ill of infantile paralysis, was placed in the respirator. Physicians said he was slightly improved last night. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred D. Wilson of 421 Dole avenue, Crystal Lake.

DIES TO LAUNCH QUIZ NEXT WEEK ON CONSULATES

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.], announced today after an exchange of messages with the state department that his house investigating committee would start hearings here next week on the activities of German and Italian consular and other agents in the United States.

Advised by Secretary of State Cordell Hull to use his own judgment on starting public hearings, Dies said he was unable yet to say whether they would be open to the public. After receiving Hull's telegram, Dies said at Lake Charles, La., that the hearings would start in the capital next Monday or Tuesday.

The committee's records, he said, contain more evidence against Italian diplomatic agents than against German agents in this country.

BRITAIN'S FLEET SPURS HUNT FOR GERMAN RAIDER

Benefits by Ships Freed from Mediterranean.

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—The successful attack on the Italian fleet at Taranto reported by the admiralty today will release powerful units of the British Mediterranean armada to join in a world-wide hunt for the German surface raider which attacked a convoy in mid-Atlantic on Nov. 5, neutral naval sources said.

Scores of British men of war were reported already searching the seas for the raider, which may be the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer or its sister ship, the Luetzow.

Only three ships in the huge British navy are judged by experts to be equal to the task of singlehandedly catching and then destroying one of these 10,000 ton pocket battleships. They are the 42,100 ton battle cruiser Hood and the 32,000 ton battle cruisers Renown and Repulse.

Spee Trapped by Three Cruisers.

However, three small cruisers managed to concentrate last December on the Admiral Graf Spee, third of the pocket battleship class, and drive her into Montevideo harbor, where she later was scuttled.

Should the present German raider be sighted by one of Britain's lone smaller ships, British tactics probably would be to "shadow" it until heavier British forces could be brought up, neutral sources said.

The nation just had been told of the valiant death fight of the armed merchant cruiser Jervis Bay which, in mid-Atlantic, saved 30 ships from the guns of the Nazi raider on Nov. 5.

Six More Ships Reach Port.

Six more of the ships which were attacked reached port today. These, added to the 24 which had reached British or Canadian ports up to yesterday, brought to a total of 30 the number of ships saved out of the convoy of 38. Eight are still missing [previously it had been stated nine were missing]. The Germans had claimed that all ships of the convoy had been sunk.

The 65 members of the crew of the Jervis Bay, landed yesterday at an eastern Canadian port, probably are all that survived the destruction of their ship, the admiralty announced.

Canadian naval service headquarters announced that 13 seamen of the royal Canadian navy were among those who went down with the Jervis Bay.

Mass Warships in Atlantic.

ROME, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Fascist press reported today that German and Italian naval forces, intent on tightening the counterblockade of the British Isles, were concentrating in the North Atlantic shipping lanes to smash at British supply ships.

Both Il Giornale d'Italia, whose editor, Virginio Gayda, frequently voices Premier Mussolini's ideas, and the Duce's own paper, Il Popolo d'Italia, mentioned the new axis plan.

Il Popolo d'Italia said dozens of Italian submarines now were operating in the Atlantic, and Gayda noted that these submarines, hitherto busy in the central lanes, have moved farther north.

British Patrol Off Chile.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 13 (AP).—Four British warships were reported patroling the Pacific off the South American coast today in search of German surface raiders. The Canadian auxiliary cruiser Prince Robert arrived at the port of Talcahuano to take on stores.

Submarine in South Pacific?

SHANGHAI, Nov. 13.—The possibility that the City of Rayville, an American ship, was sunk by mines laid by a German submarine arose today when it was learned here that a German raider has been active in the South seas between Singapore, the Dutch East Indies, and Australia.

2 BRITISH SHIPS SUNK IN NEW AIR AND SEA ATTACKS

Freighter Victim of Bombs West of Ireland.

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—Reports of two British vessels sunk by new air and sea attacks were received here today.

The 4,900 ton freighter Empire Wind was reported bombed and sunk in the Atlantic 375 miles west of Foynes, Ireland. British sources reported all crew members were saved.

The New York Maritime Register reported that the 4,952 ton British freighter Dallas City, which traded with the United States and the far east before the war, had been sunk by "enemy action" off the English coast.

Victim in North Sea.

The Register, quoting English sources, also said that the 1,595 ton British freighter Hauxley was sunk three weeks ago in a German torpedo boat attack on a North sea convoy. Twenty men were said to be missing.

The sinking of the Empire Wind was disclosed by a radio message picked up by the Mackay Radio here. The Empire Wind gave its position and said it was bombed soon after daylight. A second distress signal, received a few minutes later, said the ship was sinking and asked immediate assistance.

This was the second British ship attacked by war planes in that vicinity within 48 hours. Early on Monday the freighter Balmore with 17 men aboard sent a distress signal saying it was sinking and that its lifeboats had been smashed.

Survivors of 4 Ships.

ST. JOHN'S, Newfoundland, Nov. 13 (AP).—Ninety survivors of four ships sunk by a Nazi raider were brought to a Newfoundland port today abroad a vessel which rescued them after 36 hours in tossing lifeboats. Only one man required hospitalization; he had a broken leg.

The survivors said their ships were attacked by a large ship with "deadly accurate" guns. The raider's method, they said, was to disable steering gear and then finish off her prey at close range. Neither the sunken ships nor the rescue vessel were identified.

GANDHI'S PARTY WILL ORDER 1,500 TO SEEK ARREST

BOMBAY, India, Nov. 13 (AP).—The working committee of the All-India Congress [Nationalist party] has decided to order nearly 1,500 members to invite arrest in the party's civil disobedience campaign against British war measures, it was revealed today.

It was not disclosed whether Mohandas K. Gandhi, leader of the party, would invite arrest himself, but his participation was not expected.

Gandhi is understood to have drafted a list of members of the working committee, the All-India Congress committee, and members of the central provincial legislatures, who are expected to commit civil disobedience acts this week-end or early next week. Three Gandhi followers have been sentenced to prison for such acts.

Nazi Radio Denies Bremen Was Sunk Off Denmark

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—The German radio today said it was officially denied that the German liner Bremen had been sunk off the Danish coast.

3 BRITISH NAVAL VICTORIES OVER ITALIAN FLEET!

Taranto Base and Vessels in Convoys Attacked.

[23,622-ton] class has been beached and, from her stern up to and including the after turret, is under water," the admiralty went on. "The ship is listing heavily to starboard.

"It appears probable that a second battleship of the Cavour class also has been severely damaged."

Italy has four of this class of battleships—the Conte di Cavour, Giulio Cesare, Caio Duilio and Andrea Doria—with main armament of ten 12.6 inch guns each.

These are the ships which the British warships have reported spotting only at a great distance, and then always heading at forced draft for the protection of their shores and coastal guns.

But the bombers hunted them out at fortified and guarded Taranto, the admiralty asserted, "snuggling behind their shore defenses."

Cruisers Built in 1911.

The Conte di Cavour and the Giulio Cesare were built in 1911 and were reconstructed between 1933 and 1937. The Caio Duilio and the Andrea Doria were commissioned in 1913 and reconstructed from 1937-1939.

The crippling of half of Il Duce's capital ships strength—altho Italy's greatest naval strength has been in smaller vessels—may bear greatly on both the Italian offensive in Egypt and the already troubled Greek campaign.

Since the Greek adventure began on Oct. 28, British bombers have been pounding almost daily at southern Italy's naval ports. They have flown from aircraft carriers, from Malta and from the new British base on the Greek island of Crete.

Three Battleships Active.

"As a result of this determined and highly successful attack at Taranto, probably only three Italian battleships now remain effective," the sea lords' communique concluded.

Prime Minister Churchill was more forthright.

"Only three," he said, "of the Italian battleships now remain effective."

The Italians have admitted serious damage to only one warship, and claimed they shot down six of the British bombers. But the admiralty, in addition to listing many more Italian casualties, said only two of its air raiders failed to come back.

The admiralty also reported new bambardments of the Italian base in Sidi Barrani, Egypt, and of Italian communications in Libya.

SAYS 762 ALLIED, NEUTRAL SHIPS LOST IN A YEAR

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander said in the house of commons today that the number of merchant ships, including fishing vessels, lost by enemy action during the first 12 months of the war was as follows:

British, 406 ships of 1,611,842 tons.
Allied, 103 of 474,816 tons.
Neutral, 253 of 769,212 tons.
Total, 762 of 2,855,870 tons.

Crew members and passengers lost totaled 3,327. The total saved was 15,635; total taken prisoner, 1,100. He said enemy losses in the same period totaled 261 ships of about 1,269,000 tons.

Italian Ships Wrecked by British

The British announced yesterday that naval bombing planes had seriously damaged one Italian battleship of each class in a raid on Taranto, Italian sea base. It was added that "it appears probable" that a second ship of the Cavour class was "severely damaged." [Associated Press Wirephotos.]

AXIS CAPITAL SHIP RATIO IS REDUCED BY BRITISH BLOW

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

If British naval bombers have put three of Italy's six battleships out of action, as the London admiralty reported yesterday, the axis' capital ship ratio is reduced from 12 to Britain's 14 to nine to 14.

Britain, having lost the battleship Royal Oak early in the war, now has 14 battleships and battle cruisers, and in addition has five new 35,000 ton battleships under construction, some of which may be near completion.

Germany presumably has six left—four battleships and two pocket battleships. Besides the three effective battleships which the British say Italy has left, there are two more 35,000 ton battleships building, possibly near completion. Moreover, Italy's greatest naval strength has been in smaller vessels, submarines, destroyers, and exceedingly fast light cruisers, rather than her capital ship flotilla.

War's Blackout Finally Hits Tiny Liechtenstein

VADUZ, Liechtenstein, Nov. 13 (AP). The last 65 square miles of light in central Europe is going out tonight. Liechtenstein, little principality between Switzerland and Germany, ordered a blackout at last.

KING'S PARISH HOUSE DAMAGED BY GERMAN RAID

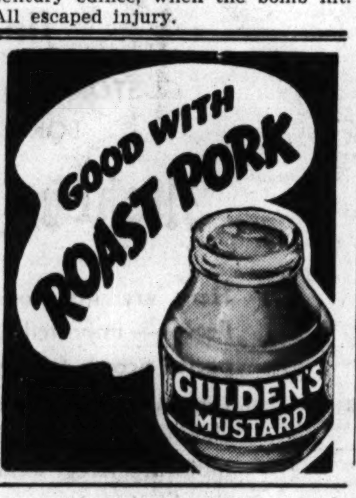
LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—The British government today permitted publication of the fact that additional landmarks have been damaged by German air raiders, including St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, the king's parish house in Trafalgar square, where all royal births are registered.

Six hundred persons singing "Annie Laurie" were huddled in the crypt of St. Martin's-in-the-Field, an 18th century edifice, when the bomb hit. All escaped injury.



BRITISH RAIDERS AND GUNS BLAST 'INVASION PORTS'

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—British bombers were reported to have hurled a surprise daylight attack on Germany's "invasion ports" on the French coast today while long range English seacoast guns pumped shells across the channel.

Altho axis raiders by the hundreds swept over England, they succeeded in reaching London's defenses only in the last three tries, then returned to keep their nightly rendezvous. Four attacking bombers were destroyed, the government announced.

Report Heavy Raids on London.

BERLIN, Nov. 14, Thursday (AP).—DNB, the official German news agency, today reported German bombers had attacked London and south England in heavy raids yesterday. The agency said "bombs of all calibers" were hurled on industrial plants and rail lines along Britain's entire coastal region.

Nazi Crashes in Switzerland.

BERNE, Switzerland, Nov. 14, Thursday (AP).—A German bombing plane which flew over eastern Switzerland crashed today near the village of Willerzell in Schwyz canton.

Two Alarms in Paris Region.

PARIS, Nov. 12, via Berlin (AP).—[Delayed.]—Two air raid alarms were sounded in the Paris region Sunday night and Monday morning when British planes attempted to penetrate the defenses of the suburbs and several bombs were dropped near Villacoublay airport. Officials said damage was slight. There was no report of any bombs falling in Paris.

TARANTO A KEY BASE IN ITALIAN WAR STRATEGY

Both Large and Small Ships Stationed There.

When warplanes of the British Mediterranean fleet carried out their devastating attack against Italian fleet units stationed at Taranto, they struck at a point long vital to Italian war strategy.

Not only is it the principal base for Premier Mussolini's sea might but it also is the site of one of the most important arsenals in Italy.

British dispatches recounting the attack, in which six and probably seven warships were reported to have been damaged beyond immediate hope of use, spoke of the Italian ships as "snuggling" in their Taranto base. The expression seems peculiarly appropriate to the geographical character of the base.

Natural Defense Position.

Any warships stationed there first would have the protection afforded by the deep shelter of the heel of the Italian boot. Then providing even additional natural defense is the projection of land which juts into the Gulf of Taranto south of the town itself. But this is not all. As tho nature were herself interested in the safekeeping of Italian men o' war, behind the town there is an extension of water known as the Little gulf which is connected to the main Gulf of Taranto by a man made navigable channel.

This presents an array of natural defense positions, which would have made it dangerous for British battleships to enter the waters of the Gulf of Taranto and attempt to shell the Italian ships.

Anchorage for Warships.

The British, to circumvent this hazard, used planes, which probably operated from an aircraft carrier or the islands of Crete and Malta.

The Little gulf long has been used as an anchorage for smaller naval ships, and it has dimensions which would permit its use by battleships. Its depth, 36 feet, is sufficient to accommodate dreadnaughts of the Littorio class, one of which, the British say, were badly damaged by their planes.

Warships of this class have a mean draught of 28 feet and a maximum draught of 30½ feet. The Italians, under the urgency of war, may have deepened the Little gulf even beyond its announced depth of 36 feet. The Little gulf has an area of 6,325 acres.

The commercial port of the city is on the Grand gulf, and is of no great importance. It is only 550 yards at its widest point.

City Located on Island.

The city proper, with a population of 55,292, is situated on a rocky island 56 feet above sea level. In ancient times the present island formed the tip of a peninsula, but this was cut thru by Ferdinand I. of Aragon. It is this island which separates the Grand and Little gulfs.

War is not new to the city, for as far back as 927 the Saracens pounded at its gates, broke them down, and destroyed the town.

Napoleon recognized the strategic importance of the location in his war against the English and the rest of Europe. Acquiring it under a secret agreement in 1801, Napoleon immediately began fortifying the town with the hope, the Italian encyclopedia declares, of making it into "another Gibraltar."

In the present war it is the nearest fully fortified naval base to the part of the Mediterranean across which vital communications with Italian forces in Libya must be maintained.

SUICIDE VERDICT RETURNED.

A verdict of suicide while despondent was returned by a coroner's jury yesterday in the death of Dr. Robert E. Forster, 40 years old, an X-ray specialist. Testimony was that he had taken a quantity of morphine in his rooms at 500 Fullerton avenue Oct. 30.

Credit Air Torpedoes with Victory

Air torpedoes such as this one being trundled out of British munitions plant at the Thorney Island base in England were credited yesterday with having aided in the attack on Italian warships. Torpedoes are dropped into water from planes. [Associated Press Photo.]

U. S. RELATIONS 'CONSOLIDATED' BY MARTINIQUE

Washington Releases Credits for Colony.

FORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, Nov. 13 (AP).—The government of this French island colony in the Caribbean sea tonight announced "consolidation of good relations" with the United States thru a recent visit by Rear Admiral John W. Greenslade of the United States, senior member of the board surveying sites leased from Britain for air and naval bases. The admiral conferred with Admiral Georges Robert, high commissioner of the French Antilles.

[The United States has released French dollar credits to enable Martinique to buy needed supplies in this country, it was stated authoritatively last night in Washington. The amount was not disclosed.]

French Tell of Results.

A French communique, issued after Admiral Greenslade's visit, said:

"The object of the visit was for the consolidation of good relations between American authorities and the high commissioner. The happy outcome of the discussions should end the tendentious alarmist rumors which have circulated in recent weeks.

"The conversations dealt with solution of common problems, the first effect of which should be easing the problem of supplies for the Antilles.

"No doubt the American acquisition of naval and air bases in the British Antilles and the preparation of these bases will lead to greater activity of American air and naval forces in the neighborhood of Martinique and Guadeloupe without it becoming necessary to conduct direct surveillance of these islands."

AMERICAN PUT IN CHAINS AT TRIAL IN ITALY

ROME, Nov. 13 (AP).—Chained to other prisoners, George Ehret of New York was led back to a prison cell tonight to await continuance tomorrow of his trial on a charge of violating Italy's foreign exchange laws.

Ehret, an American citizen, went on trial today with Miss Grace Gunther, also an American, who has lived in Florence 20 years, and three Italians.

At the opening of the trial before a special tribunal, the prosecuting advocate sought to show that large sums in dollars had been collected from Americans here and sold for Italian lire at a rate much higher than the official exchange figure.

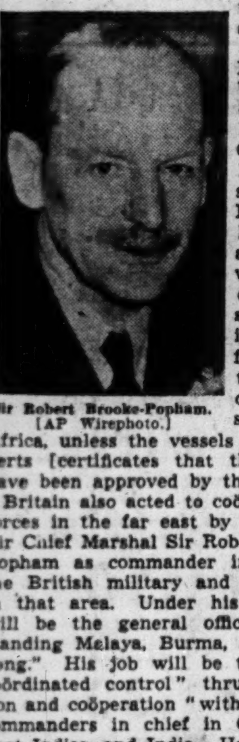
BRITAIN EXTENDS ITS BLOCKADE TO AFRICAN COASTS

Includes Syria, French, Portuguese Lands.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Britain today struck at its enemies by widening the blockade to include Syria, French West Africa, Liberia, Portuguese Guinea, Madagascar, and Reunion Island. Blockade vessels were ordered to halt ships sailing to and from these territories, on three sides of Africa, unless the vessels have navicerts [certificates that the cargoes have been approved by the British.]



Sir Robert Brooke-Popham. [AP Wirephoto.]

Britain also acted to coördinate its forces in the far east by appointing Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham as commander in chief of the British military and air forces in that area. Under his command will be the general officers "commanding Malaya, Burma, and Hongkong." His job will be to "insure coördinated control" thru consultation and coöperation "with the naval commanders in chief in China, the East Indies, and India. He also will maintain close contact with Australia and New Zealand from his Singapore headquarters.

Irish Bases May Be Sought.

Members of parliament today discussed the "grave menace" which confronts the British Isle, despite recent British victories, and the need for British bases in Ireland. Geoffrey Mander, Liberal, introduced a question which will be asked of Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

It demands that he consider inviting the leaders of Ireland and Northern Ireland to a conference on what steps can be taken to promote the unity of Ireland and the defense of Britain and Ireland. This means the arrangement of terms acceptable to Prime Minister Eamon de Valera of Ireland, whereby Ireland would turn over naval bases to Britain. Churchill recently said the lack of Irish bases imposed a "grievous burden" upon British shipping.

Warning on Tangier.

Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs R. A. Butler assured the house that Britain already had protested against the Spanish seizure of the internationalized zone of Tangier and made clear to Spain the importance of Tangier remaining neutral and unfortified. Butler asserted Britain is prepared to act to keep unfortified the zone which lies across a strait from Britain's bastion of Gibraltar.

BRITON URGES WORLD POLICE AFTER WAR ENDS

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—Lord Cranbourne, Britain's dominions secretary, said tonight that the post-war world must be based upon a peace system having its own police force.

This first more or less specific statement by a member of the British government as to what should be the shape of things to come was made by the viscount to Oxford university Conservatives.

"The nations in the organization," he declared, "must agree to some limitation of their sovereignty. This is an essential of the continuation of peace."

The viscount explained that he did not mean an international force "in generally accepted terms," adding:

"I mean a force contributed by the nations who subscribe to the principles which inspired the organization to which they belong. This police force must have adequate machinery for removal of the causes of war."

Wrinkleproof claims for neckwear are a dime a dozen. It's either a trick lining, bias cutting, or some such stuff. So when they trotted in these ties, I was leery. BRITISH BOMBERS HIT AT BASES IN ITALY, ALBANIA

Greeks Claim Capture of More Strategic Hills.

ATHENS, Greece, Nov. 13 (AP).—British bombers have made damaging attacks on the Italian ports of Durazzo and Valona in Albania, a British air communique issued from Greek headquarters said tonight.

At Valona ammunition dumps were hit with bombs, the British reported, and at Durazzo explosives were seen to burst over quays and warehouses. The attacks were carried out last night. The British said they also had sent their long range bombers against Bari, Italian base across the Adriatic and west of Durazzo. In this raid oil refineries were said to have been hit.

The Greek high command at the same time declared that in "successful attacks" in the Pindus mountain region its troops had occupied a new series of hill tops on Albanian territory.

Repulse Greek Attack.

ROME, Nov. 13 (AP).—Italian troops in Greece repulsed a Greek attack on outposts in the Epirus region near the Albanian frontier, the high command communique said today. It also reported that a heavy artillery duel and considerable patrol activity had taken place in a sector between Koritza, Albania, and Florina, Greece.

Dispatches to Rome reported heavy air raids by large squadrons of Italians planes, particularly in the Lake Presba region near the frontiers of Greece, Albania, and Jugo-Slavia.

The communique said Italian bombers had scored hits on "military installations of the Suez canal," flying fields at Cairo, Egypt, and elsewhere in North Africa.

Report 372 Italians Killed.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Rome radio, in a broadcast heard here today, asserted that Italian casualties in the Greek campaign thus far were 372 dead, not more than 1,000 wounded, and 620 missing. The broadcast said this statement was issued to combat "Greek and British propaganda about enormous losses in the Greek campaign."

Tell of Battle for Gallabat.

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP).—British Indian and white troops captured, lost, and recaptured Gallabat, in the Anglo-Egyptian-Sudan near the Ethiopian border, in a four day action which involved five battalions of Italian and Askari [native] troops, military circles reported today.

[British and Italian sources repeatedly have contradicted each other's claims to possession of Gallabat in the past few days.]

British artillery was reported by these military sources to be shelling now the Italian fortified camp at Metemma, near Gallabat, and they said shell dumps and gasoline depots there were in flames.

FRESH QUAKES ROCK BUILDINGS IN BUCHAREST

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 13 (AP).—A new series of earth shocks of minor intensity shook Bucharest tonight, widening cracks left in buildings and streets in Sunday's earthquake.

With the country's efforts concentrated on rehabilitation, the army deferred until March 10 the call for tens of thousands of 21 year old men previously scheduled to report for service Nov. 20.

Engineers decided it would be futile to try to tunnel to victims trapped by the collapse of the Carlton apartment building.

Only 80 bodies of the 225 tenants have been recovered. Five members of firms which built the apartment are under arrest.

Bucharest's death toll from the quake mounted to more than 300, and the known nationwide toll approached 1,000.

France Removes Mayor for Criticizing Government

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 13.—Maurice Mievre, mayor of Lovagny, a town in the upper Savoy region, was removed from his functions today because he publicly criticized the Vichy government.

Route Changed

Dotted line shows route of naval training ships from Lake Michigan to the Atlantic that was abandoned because of lake storm. The ships will take the route indicated by the solid line, instead.

Damage to some of the training ships of the 9th naval reserve district during the heavy lake storms Monday and Tuesday forced the recharting yesterday of the course for sailing these ships from Lake Michigan to the Atlantic ocean. Capt. Edward A. Evers, commanding the Illinois area of the naval reserve, received orders to this effect from Rear Admiral John Downes, commandant of the 9th district.

Fourteen of the small craft—five subchasers and nine yard patrol boats—were to have been sailed thru the lakes, down the New York barge canal to the Hudson river and then into the Atlantic. Since repairs will not be completed in time to permit passage thru the barge canal, the plan is to route them via the Illinois waterway and the Mississippi river into the Gulf of Mexico and thus to the Atlantic.

Three larger vessels, however, will take the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence river route. The gunboats Paducah and Sacramento left yesterday and the gunboat Dubuque is scheduled to leave today for the Brooklyn navy yard.

HEAVY BOMBERS MOST VALUABLE, MAJ. ELIOT SAYS

Maj. George Fielding Eliot, writer and radio commentator and a former reserve officer in the United States military intelligence, yesterday termed the long range heavy duty bomber one of America's most valuable weapons. He spoke at a luncheon meeting of the Chicago Association of Commerce in the La Salle hotel.

Maj. George F. Eliot.

Maj. Eliot urged the acquisition of a large number of the bombers and the rapid completion of a two ocean navy. He said naval bases should be strongly fortified and garrisoned by army troops, so the navy can occupy itself with offensive action without fear of losing its bases.

The standing army should be large enough to protect our neighbors in this hemisphere and establish new bases, Maj. Eliot said. Stating that the Panama canal is held as securely as any military objective can be, he urged the immediate construction of another canal across Nicaragua at any cost.

TWO PERILED BY GAS FUMES.

George Snyder, 50 years old, 190 South Craig place, Lombard, and Elmer Johnson, 49, of 4944 North Lowell avenue, were partially overcome yesterday by gas formed from charcoal burning in a salamander to defrost refrigeration coils in the shipping room of Robbins, Inc., wholesale fish dealers at 362 Kinzie street.

SALONIKA FIGHTS TO SAVE HEALTH AND FOOD SUPPLY

Doctors Are Ordered to Return to City.

BY SAM BREWER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SALONIKA, Greece, Nov. 12 [Delayed].—With a day free of air alarms, military authorities here concentrated today on strict measures to keep up health services and prevent food hoarding and profiteering.

Gen. Ilias Politis, commandant of the area, issued an order to all doctors who fled the cities in fear of air raids, to return to work immediately or face severe penalties under martial law. Only those who are mobilized are exempt. Neither loss of the doctors' cars nor bomb damage to their offices will be accepted as an excuse.

John D. Johnson, American consul, who took to the country after the air raids started, also returned to town for a visit today.

Requisition Food Supplies.

To prevent a food shortage or hoarding, Col. A. Paparghyris, commanding the police, ordered all householders to turn over all stocks of nonperishable foodstuffs beyond one week's normal supply.

Shopkeepers must turn in daily inventories of their stocks of such foods, including sugar, coffee, cereals, canned goods, cheese, and oil.

Transfer of foodstuffs without permits is forbidden. The only shortage to date is matches.

Many Buildings Scarred.

There is no sign of damage to any military objective here, but the best hotel has been forced to close because of bomb damage, and half the buildings in town seem to be bomb scarred.

The population has become accustomed to the alarms with great rapidity. Shelters already have been established all over town, with a soldier to keep order and see that there is no crowding around the entrance.

FRANCE TAKES OVER FIVE MORE BIG INDUSTRIES

Government Moves for Full Reorganization.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, Nov. 13.—Complete reorganization of French industry and general economy along corporative and state controled lines reached its initial phase today. It was announced that committees of organization appointed by the government had taken over the management of five more key French industries.

The new committees, named by a decree law published today, will reorganize and manage foundries, the chemical industry, thermal hydraulic and pneumatic machinery, the paint, varnish and ink industry and, finally, the production of electrical energy. Commercial enterprises subsidiary to these industries will also be subject to the committees' management.

Trust Busting Under Way.

The steel industry and the coal trust were placed under committees yesterday, when the general confederation of workers, the Confederation of Christian Workers, and the Confederation of Professional Syndicates were dissolved.

Marshal Henri Petain's minister of industrial production, Rene Belin, had begun his campaign of trust busting four months after the organization of the Petain government. Reorganization of industry and of labor and employers' organizations on national lines was envisaged in a decree law issued in August. In some respects the French are following the lines that industrial reorganization and reform took in Fascist Italy.

Seek to Create Jobs.

The theory here is that reorganization along state controled and corporative principles will enable French industry to recover more quickly from the war collapse and adapt itself to what is believed will be the general European system of corporative economy should Germany and Italy win the war. The first idea of the French leaders, however, is to recover productive energy to cope with the unemployment problem.

Nicaraguan War Chief Fired After Theft of Arms

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Nov. 13 (AP).—J. R. Reyes, minister of war and chief of staff of the army, resigned today at the request of President Anastasio Somoza after arms and ammunition which had been ordered sent to the general arsenal were found in his possession.

New Commander

Brig. Gen. Clyde R. Abraham and his wife as they arrived in Chicago.

Brig. Gen. Clyde R. Abraham, the new commander at Fort Sheridan, arrived at the post yesterday morning and took up his duties at once. He was met at the station by units of the 2d infantry and was given an 11 gun salute by the 50th field artillery. The former commander, Maj. Gen. Lloyd R. Fredendall, left for another assignment on Oct. 16 and in the interim Col. John L. Homer has been acting commander.

Gen. Abraham recalled that he had served at Fort Sheridan before and liked the post. He said a "winter filled with hard work" was ahead.

The new commander is 57 years old. He was graduated from West Point in 1906. He received his first promotion, to a first lieutenancy, while he was stationed at Fort Sheridan in 1911. In the world war he served in France as assistant inspector general of the 2d army. He was made a brigadier in 1935. For the last 16 months he has been inspector general of the Puerto Rican department. He was accompanied to Fort Sheridan by Mrs. Abraham.

POLICEMEN KNIT BROWS OVER NEW KIND OF MYSTERY

Hyde Park police last night were puzzled by an avowed bandit who telephoned a plea that they come to arrest him in a drugstore at 61st street and Cottage Grove avenue. Altho skeptical, Desk Sergeant James Burke sent Detective James Eager with a squad. A young man sitting at the soda fountain greeted them and surrendered.

He identified himself as Paul Williams, 21 years old, living in the 5500 block of Kenwood avenue, and set about convincing the police that he had committed 15 robberies by pretending he had a gun in his pocket within the last month.

To allay their doubts he told them he had held up a cigar store at 5500 Lake Park avenue on Nov. 4 and that the clerk had asked him how much money he had taken. Williams said he told the clerk he had no time to count his loot, but would telephone. Ten minutes later he telephoned that it was $17. The police looked in their records and found that this had happened.

BERLIN BOMBED AFTER HITLER AND MOLOTOV CONFER

British Fail to Reach Inner City, Say Nazis.

BERLIN, Nov. 14, Thursday (AP).—British bombers struck at Berlin late last night soon after Adolf Hitler and Russia's premier and foreign commissar, Vyacheslav Molotov, had completed a four hour conference.

A communique said the raiders rained bombs "aimlessly" on the suburbs and hit residential sections, but failed to reach the inner city because of antiaircraft defenses. Some roof-top fires were said to have been started.

Nazi informants said Molotov's reception, given last night in return for the German banquet tendered in his honor, was held as scheduled. There had been reports Molotov would wind up his Berlin stay today, but these sources said it had not been determined when he would leave.

Reach "Decision" Stage.

Hitler and Molotov, informed sources said, devoted their discussion chiefly to "negotiations." The use of that term suggested they had reached the stage of decisions.

Molotov conferred yesterday with Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering and Rudolf Hess, deputy leader of the Nazi party.

Goering, as the man directing the aerial battle for Britain, was presumed to have given his views of the state of German military and economic affairs. He is director of the German four year plan, too.

It was reported that the Turkish ambassador had called at the German foreign office, but authorized persons would not comment on this.

Jap Envoy Goes to Berlin.

MOSCOW, Nov. 13 (AP).—The counselor of the Japanese embassy to Moscow, Haruhiko Nishi, has gone to Berlin. He has the status of an envoy at large with special functions.

4 Nazi Ships in Tampico Harbor Take on Stores

TAMPICO, Mexico, Nov. 13 (AP).—Four German ships which tied up in Tampico harbor shortly after the outbreak of the war were loading stores, including live hogs, today, apparently in readiness for a dash to sea, perhaps to supply German raiders. The ships are the 9,660 ton passenger and cargo ship Orinoco; and three freighters, Rhein, 6,031 tons; Indarwald, 5,033 tons, and Brygia, 4,137 tons.

REPORTS $450 BURGLARY.

Miss Mary Armstrong, 143 East Ontario street, an artist, reported to the police yesterday that burglars had broken into her flat and stolen two fur coats and six dresses valued at $450.

ITALY CHARGES MOSCOW PLOTS BY U. S. ENVOY

ROME, Nov. 13 (AP).—Premier Benito Mussolini's newspaper, Il Popolo d'Italia, today accused Laurence A. Steinhardt, United States ambassador to Moscow, of trying unsuccessfully to aid Great Britain by "intrigues" at the soviet capital.

Laurence A. Steinhardt.

Mario Appellius, military commentator for the newspaper, said that Soviet Premier Molotov's visit to Berlin "shows that the intrigues by which British plutocracy sought at the last moment to cancel out 100 years of England's anti-Russian policy failed, as was logical.

"The efforts made at Moscow by the ambassador of the North American plutocracy to aid the ambassador of English plutocracy wore themselves out. The diplomatic successes of his excellency Steinhardt have been equal to those of Sir Stafford Cripps [British ambassador to Moscow]."

The nature of Steinhardt's alleged intrigues was not disclosed.

Provisional Luxemburg Regime Set Up in Canada

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 13 (AP).—President Pierre Dupong of Luxemburg declared last night a provisional government for the grand duchy, now taken over by Germany, has been set up in Montreal with the permission of Canada. Cabinet members who fled from the little country overrun by German soldiers last May 10 will confer here with the reigning monarch, Grand Duchess Charlotte, Dupong said.

TRAIN U. S. ARMY FLYERS AT RATE OF 3,000 A YEAR

Plan Program to Step Up Quota to 12,000.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—The war department is perfecting a comprehensive program for training pilots under which it hopes to turn out 12,000 army flyers a year.

The present program calls for training 7,000 pilots a year, but at the present schedule it is turning out only about 3,000 student pilots.

The present pilot training program was inaugurated last June. The schedule called for the enrollment of 605 pilots in June, 900 in August, 1,100 in September, 1,234 in October, and 1,292 in November and thereafter.

Details of Plan Withheld.

The army high command believed this enrollment would turn out 7,000 pilots a year, estimating that about 50 per cent of the enrollees would pass the 35 weeks' course and receive reserve commissions.

Details of the plan for training 12,000 pilots a year have not been made public. It is expected it will follow the general outlines of the program under way, with necessary expansion of facilities.

Primary training is conducted at civilian flying schools. Basic, advanced, and specialized training is given at three air corps centers, Randolph field, Tex.; Maxwell field, Montgomery, Ala., and Moffett field, Cal. It is expected that the number of training fields will be increased.

Four Phases in Training.

Air corps pilot training is accomplished in four phases — 10 weeks' primary training at civilian flying schools, 10 weeks' basic training, 10 weeks' advanced training, and 5 weeks' specialized training in combat types.

Under the current program the army is also training 3,600 bombardiers and navigators. On the adoption of the 12,000 pilots a year plan, it is expected that the quota of bombardiers and navigators will be stepped up to about 6,000 a year.

GOODRICH GETS BULLET PROOF TANK CONTRACT

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—Large scale production of a new type of fuel tank for combat planes has been started at some plants of the B. F. Goodrich company, it was reported here today. The tanks are to be made of special compounds of semiviscous rubber and holes caused by machinegun fire will be selfsealing.

The company announced that it had received orders within the last 60 days for more than two million dollars' worth of the new tanks.

Altho Germany and Great Britain use these selfsealing tanks, it was said the designs were evolved in a two year development program in the company's laboratories in Akron.

MRS. GLADYS JONES.

"Wine movies" broke up the home of Mrs. Gladys Jones and her husband, Paul, she told Judge Joseph Sabath yesterday.

"He would buy two quarts of wine," Mrs. Jones testified under questioning of her attorney, Norman Becker. "Then we would go to a movie and he would drink the wine, finishing it all during the double feature."

The judge indicated he would give her a divorce on the charge of drunkenness. Mrs. Jones is 23 years old and lives at 5931 Huron street. Her husband is 26 and a radio technician.

FIND 2 IDENTICAL BIDS FOR HOUSING AT FT. SHERIDAN

When bids for the construction of 170 new buildings at Fort Sheridan were opened yesterday in the office of the constructing quartermaster, Lieut. Col. Samuel I. Zeidner, it was found that two firms had made identical quotations of $1,210,000. The firms are A. Smith & Co., 134 North La Salle street, and the Gerhardt F. Meyne Construction company, 7 South Dearborn street.

Lieut. Col. Zeidner said that the bids would be referred to Maj. Gen. E. R. Gregory, in charge of army construction, for final decision. There were seven bidders and the high bid was $1,383,831. Under the terms outlined the buildings, to be used in housing Michigan and Kentucky National Guardsmen, must be completed 90 days after the contract is awarded.

Work is being pushed on 29 other buildings which are to be used in the reception of conscripted men. These structures are all to be completed by Nov. 29. The draftees are to be passed on rapidly and it is expected there will never be more than 1,000 at Fort Sheridan at one time.

Report Chile Will Place Submarine Orders in U. S.

SANTIAGO, Chile, Nov. 13.—Chile intends to place orders in the United States for the construction of a number of submarines, well informed circles said today. The new submarines would be replacements for existing units brought from England many years ago. It was said that the national program calls for the gradual purchase of cruisers, destroyers, and submarines to modernize the navy and submarines are believed to be the most urgent need.

GUARDSMEN BUY OIL HEATERS TO WARD OFF COLD

Tent Life in Louisiana Is Shivery Business.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

Camp Beauregard, La., Nov. 13.—Eleven thousand 32d division National Guardsmen from Wisconsin and Michigan shivered this morning in a temperature 35 degrees above zero. Yesterday it was 38. Before morning it is expected to drop to 26 or lower. They wouldn't mind such readings back home, but life for them here in Camp Beauregard is different.

They're living in tents—7,500 tents, brown, pyramidal and pretty; but not warm in near winter weather. A survey in camp revealed considerable discomfort not only among enlisted men but among field and company officers who also are quartered in tents.

Buy Oil Heaters.

Each tent is heated by a Sibley conical stove burning wood or coal. The wood burns too fast and the coal is gaseous. Hundreds of the men are digging into their pockets to buy oil heaters. They cost $8.50 each, burn 12 hours with one filling, and heat a tent comfortably. One mail order house in Alexandria has orders for 1,500.

However, the men aren't grumbling altho some of them—the number was not given out—are without heavy overcoats, and thus are more affected by the cold than others.

The 32d division arrived in camp on Oct. 15. Its present strength is 10,000 enlisted men and 720 officers. Draftees are to increase the division to 18,000. Maj. Gen. Irving A. Fish, of Milwaukee, Wis., is commander. Fully 50 per cent of the personnel is new.

On the parade grounds today troops without overcoats were marching among men with overcoats, and others with caps were marching among men with campaign hats.

Weapons Are Scarce.

There is admittedly a shortage of weapons, but officers said this is not serious inasmuch as hundreds of the men are not ready to train with them. One machine gun company has no machine guns. They are expected soon.

Probably the Cinderella of the division is the 107th observation squadron from Detroit, commanded by Maj. Frederick R. Anderson. This squadron of 12 planes left its mile square airport near Detroit to train here. For the first two weeks little or no gasoline was available for flights.

When they arrived the 29 officers and 146 men found only one narrow, dirt runway, about 3,500 feet long. When it rained, and there has been six inches of rain in two weeks, the runway became mud and landings have been made on the grassy shoulders of the runway, a perilous method.

Three new concrete runways, 4,500 feet long, one 150 feet wide, are planned. To date no concrete is on hand and only a little dirt has been moved. It's a WPA job, and at noon today five WPAers were seen leaning against their shovels.

Quarters Windy and Wet.

The aero squadron officers were assigned to abandoned CCC buildings thru which the rain leaks and the wind howls. Oil heaters were bought hastily to keep warm. In this respect, the men of the squadron, who are quartered in tents, are infinitely better off. Maj. Anderson refused to discuss the inconveniences of the airport, but another officer in an infantry regiment, commented, "it was most inappropriate to send the aero squadron to such a place."

Minor nuisances in camp are fleas, red ants and chiggers, and an occasional razor back hog racing thru tented streets in the early morning.

However, the health and morale of the men are excellent. Only 176 officers and men are in hospital.

YOUNG MOTHER CONFESSES SHE DROWNED BABY

Decatur, Ill., Nov. 13 (AP).—Charged with drowning her 8 month old son in a bucket of water, Mrs. Esther Bethard, 20 years old, was held tonight in the Macon county jail pending examination by a state psychiatrist.

State's Attorney Ivan J. Hutchens said Mrs. Bethard confessed she placed the baby head first in a bucket of water for five minutes Tuesday "because she worried over the responsibility of rearing him."

Mrs. Bethard was charged with murder. Hutchens said Dr. Benjamin Boshes, psychiatrist of Chicago, was expected to come here tomorrow to examine the young woman.

UNITY HIS GOAL, PRESIDENT SAYS; THANKS BACKERS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—President Roosevelt today pledged himself to work for national unity in his third term. The pledge was given in a formal White House statement acknowledging thousands of congratulatory telegrams and letters which he has received since the election.

"To all who have sent their greetings I give this assurance of gratitude and heartfelt appreciation," the President said. "In acknowledging these pledges of loyal support and full coöperation in forwarding the interests of the nation, I pledge anew my determination to work shoulder to shoulder with all who place true Americanism above all other considerations."

At 5 o'clock this afternoon Mr. Roosevelt boarded the Presidential yacht Potomac in the Washington navy yard for a post election rest cruise in Chesapeake bay. He will not return to the White House until late Sunday night or Monday morning.

He had aboard as his guests Postmaster General Frank Walker and Mrs. Walker, Attorney General Robert Jackson, former Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, and Miss Marguerite Le Hand, personal secretary to the President.

WELLES DENIES U. S. EYES BASES IN SO. AMERICA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles today declared the United States has not and does not intend to acquire any naval or air bases from any of its 20 Latin-American neighbors. He added that this country would give favorable consideration to inviations from western hemisphere republics to share what bases they might build.

Welles disclosed the state department's stand on acquisition of bases from other American nations for the first time in the present critical world situation. Welles spiked all reports of such negotiations in denying that conversations looking toward the acquisition of air and naval bases in Uruguay are in progress.

The United States has not occupied any of the bases it acquired from Great Britain in the deal by which 50 American destroyers were sent to the British fleet. When sites have been selected marines will be landed.

POLICE OPPOSE ANY EFFORT TO ALTER PENSIONS

One thousand members of the Illinois Police association, at their 40th annual convention yesterday in the Midwest Athletic club, adopted resolutions protesting against any law that would abrogate present police pension arrangements and bring the beneficiaries under federal social security regulations.

The delegates approved a suggestion that Illinois pass a law permitting small towns and the state itself to inaugurate police pension systems and "tenure of office" regulations. Lieut. William Koerber of Oak Park is president of the association, and Policeman Charles B. Rudderham of Berwyn is secretary and treasurer.

Senator Nye Recovering from Influenza Attack

Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], was recovering rapidly yesterday from an attack of influenza which has confined him to his rooms in the Bismarck hotel since last Saturday. His physician, Dr. M. W. Samuels, said the senator probably would be able to get outside today.

NUDE PHOTO, NICE OR NAUGHTY? IT'S UP TO UNCLE SAM

Postoffice Tries to Tell How It's Decided.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—When is a nude photograph naughty in the eyes of Uncle Sam and when is it "art?"

This question was addressed to postoffice department officials today after attention had been directed to several magazines which specialize in the printing of photographs of the undraped female figure and enjoy the freedom of the United States mails.

A Loud Groan Is Response.

The criminal code states that "every obscene, lewd, lascivious, and every filthy . . . picture . . . or other publication of an indecent character . . . is hereby declared to be nonmailable matter and shall not be conveyed in the mails or delivered from any postoffice or by any letter carrier." The maximum penalty provided for senders of such matter is a fine of $5,000, imprisonment for not more than five years, or both.

A loud groan was the invariable response of postoffice department officials when asked how determination is made between art and immorality in permitting photographs to go thru the mails. They emphasized the difficulties encountered by the courts in deciding the question. However, this impression, while not the official stand of the department, was gained by the inquirer:

That nude pictures and photographs are more likely to be frowned upon when carried to large circulations in periodicals of the 5 and 10 cent variety.

But when photographs of the same type are dispatched to limited circulations of persons who put up a quarter, half a dollar, or more per copy, they become artistic studies which do not qualify as obscene.

Official Attitude Explained.

As outlined by one responsible official, the attitude of the postoffice department is this:

Certain magazines are assembled on a highly artistic basis. The subscribers, who are comparatively limited, purchase these magazines for their artistic values. The nude studies in them are published for artistic purposes and not for arousing the baser emotions.

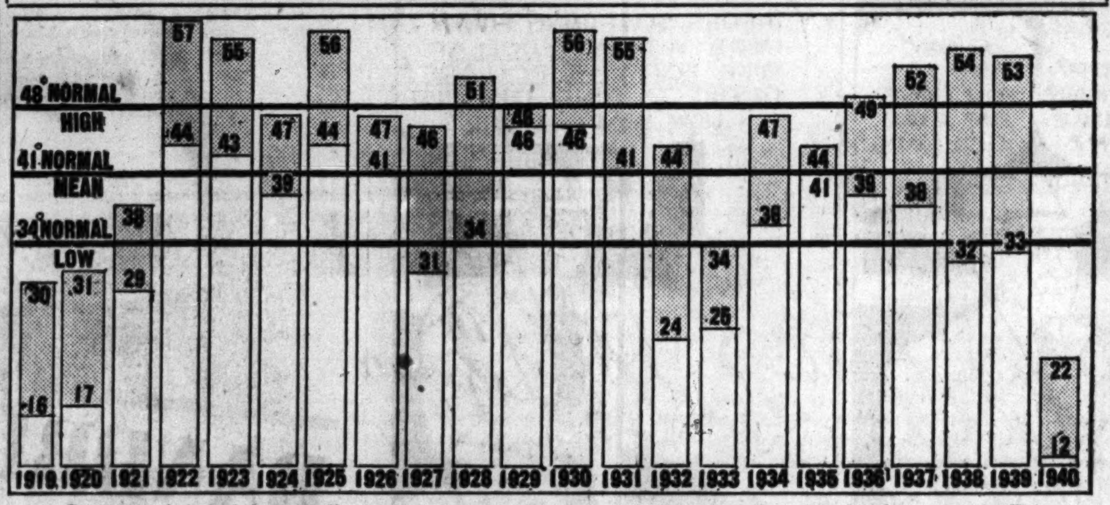
The individual reaction of the reader must be taken into consideration. Some persons see the undraped figure from the point of sex, others study it from an artistic point of view.

The photographs themselves often determine whether they have been made for sex purposes. Some obviously have such an objective. The postoffice problem is to try to administer the law according to the intent of congress as construed by the courts.

Parolee Who Made Good Saved from Extradition

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 13 (AP).—Lieut. Gov. W. E. Johnson, in the absence of Gov. R. L. Cochran, today denied the request of Missouri authorities for extradition of C. F. Hendricks to complete a three year sentence imposed 12 years ago for chicken theft. Hendricks, under the name of Fred Henderson, has been a successful Nemaha county farmer for almost 12 years. Testimony at the hearing showed Hendricks served about three months in Missouri and then was released on the authority of a prison farm official, but without the formality of action by Missouri's pardon board.

Temperature Ranges on Nov. 13 Since 1919



Gray portions of bars indicate the temperature ranges on Nov. 13 of each year since 1919 in Chicago.

No Letup Expected

No letup in the early cold wave is in prospect for today and tomorrow, the Chicago weather bureau forecast last night. The highest temperature today is expected to be about 22 degrees, after an early morning low of about 10 degrees.

Yesterday the temperature dropped to 12 degrees during the morning hours, equaling Chicago's all-time early cold record, set on Nov. 13, 1911.

The fourth fatality of Monday's windstorm was recorded yesterday when Mrs. Rae Frank, 60 years old, 1902 Lincoln avenue, died in Augustana hospital. She suffered a skull fracture when a gate was blown from its hinges as she walked at 1757 North Park avenue.

Arthur E. Gorman, city engineer of water purification, reported yesterday that during the storm Monday the Calumet river reversed its flow for 13 hours, moving toward the lake until 10 p. m., when it returned to normal. A shift in the wind to the southwest prevented a threatened drift of polluted waters from the Calumet district toward city water intakes.

The heavy wind had tended to pile up water on the Michigan shore and depress the lake on the western shore. The range of rise and fall in the lake surface during the storm was 4.3 feet.

Negress Confesses Fatal Stabbing of Railroad Man

Detective John Kustusch of the Woodlawn police announced last night that Dorothy Williams, colored, had confessed the fatal stabbing of Frank Hetrick, 55 years old, a railroad maintenance worker from Oak Harbor, O. Hetrick was found dead Sunday night in the 6200 block of Wabash avenue. Miss Williams, who is 28, lives at 5138 Michigan avenue. Kustusch said she told him she killed Hetrick during a quarrel on the street. street.

C., Nov. 13 [Special].—Regularly organized United States military units will continue to have military bands and 21 special bands will be organized to cheer life in the replacement centers thruout the United States as soon as they are opened, the war department announced today. Each band will consist of 28 unrated selective service trainees as playing members, and four regular bandsmen—instructors, one technical sergeant, one sergeant, and two corporals.

NEW TESTS FOR PROMOTIONS OF POLICE SLATED

The city civil service commission yesterday canceled the police captains' examination list which had been posted since May 4, 1938, and announced that new examinations will be held both for captaincies and lieutenancies. Sergeants and lieutenants seeking promotion will be required to register for the tests within the next two weeks, James S. Osborne, secretary of the commission, announced.

Of the 112 lieutenants who passed the examinations two years ago, 46 have been promoted to captains, 13 have retired or died, and 53 remain on the list. The first 10 of those remaining and their grades are:

Thomas Geary	80.70	T. J. O'Donnell	79.90
Chas. E. Egan	80.45	W. L. McGloom	79.80
Otto Erlanson	80.40	Jos. McNamara	78.90
Bart. Moran	80.30	A. McDonough	78.80
G. J. Gormley	80.30	Wm. McCarthy	78.50

The members of the civil service commission are Joseph P. Geary, president, and John E. Brennan and Wendell E. Green.

"The list has to remain in force for at least two years," Green said, "but after that can be canceled by the commission. We believe the morale of the department is increased by holding examinations as frequently as possible."

SPRAGUE QUITS ILLINOIS STATE LIQUOR BOARD

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special].—Arthur S. Smith, chairman of the Illinois Liquor Control commission, today announced the resignation of A. A. Sprague, a member of the commission since 1934. The commission chairman said he received a copy of a letter sent by Sprague to Gov. John Stelle. The letter did not state any reason for the resignation. Sprague is a resident of Chicago. He was appointed by the late Gov. Henry Horner. Gov. Stelle said he had not received Sprague's letter.

"ALL SHOULD RESIGN."

Reached at his home last night, A. A. Sprague said, "I believe the members of all commissions should resign. Governor Elect Dwight Green should have a free hand when he takes office." Sprague denied that his resignation resulted from the succession of Gov. Stelle after the death of Gov. Horner.

SIDETRACK LEWIS FOR LABOR PEACE, GREEN SUGGESTS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—A renewed request by President Roosevelt that the Congress of Industrial organizations and the American Federation of Labor patch up their differences in the interest of a united labor front was predicted today by William Green, A. F. of L. president, after a White House conference.

Talking with reporters, Green also said that labor peace would be "greatly facilitated" if John L. Lewis would "get out of a commanding position" in the C. I. O.

Lewis promised during the recent Presidential campaign to resign as C. I. O. head if President Roosevelt were reëlected.

Mr. Roosevelt, Green asserted, would send a message to the A. F. of L. annual convention in New Orleans next week.

Green said he and Mr. Roosevelt had discussed peace prospects and that he had given assurance that the A. F. of L. committee would be glad to resume negotiations with the C. I. O.

All Right—why DO we buy Automobiles?

Buick Special Sedan, $1052. White sidewall tires extra★

This is just between you and us and this newspaper, so we can be both frank and honest.

Don't you really buy a car for what it can do?

Doesn't the big kick come from getting off the mark at the first tweet of the cop's whistle—winging up hills as though they weren't there—going through tough going with a "so-what" indifference?

There's only one place in the world you can get such things—from a power plant that's up to its job.

But here's the interesting thing the new Buick proves: With enough power, you can have that flashing action—and economy too!

Our Fireball design and Compound Carburetion let us use a standard high gear that has the same economical result as so-called gas-saving devices.

They step up mileage as much as 10% or 15%, wing you down the road at 50 on a 30-mile fuel diet.

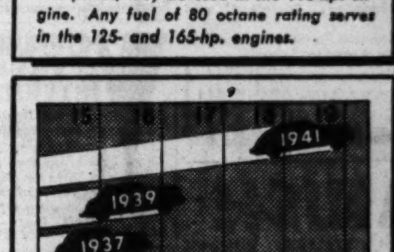
They even make driving easier, since they give so much reserve power that you'll have less need for shifting gears, whether it's to top a hill or pick up quickly in slow-moving traffic.

We're not saying style and comfort and size don't count. We wouldn't have worked out "mass-stream" styling, BuiCoil Springing and Buick's new roominess if they didn't.

But when you can get these and pace-setter performance too—hadn't you better at least drive a Buick to find out about it?

THE FIREBALL DOES IT!

Modern gasolines have high octane ratings to permit higher compressions without "ping." Note how this piston, which can be used only in valve-in-head engines, rolls the fuel charge into the shape of a flattened ball that centers around the new, smaller, racing-car type spark plug. Fired at its very heart, this more highly compressed fuel lets go with such full-forced, "ping-free" wallop that any gasoline of 75 octane rating (now available at standard-fuel prices) may be used in the 115-hp. engine. Any fuel of 80 octane rating serves in the 125- and 165-hp. engines.



HERE'S MODERN ECONOMY—

You can see how Compound Carburetion steps up miles-per-gallon in this chart. It shows the mileage at 50 miles an hour for our 1937 Special, our 1939 Special and the 1941 Special with Compound Carburetion.

BUICK PRICES BEGIN AT $935 for the Business Coupe

ARMY WILL GIVE DRAFTEES THORO PHYSICAL EXAM

7 Specialists to Rule on Each Man's Fitness.

BY HAROLD HUTCHINGS.

A thoro physical examination designed to reveal any defect which ought to keep a man out of the army awaits every young man called up for a year's military service under the draft, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the 6th corps area, said yesterday.

Gen. Bonesteel emphasized this in a discussion of how the army will induct men into the service. Induction begins next Monday, and at that time the army will have its first official contact with draft registrants.

The physical examination will be the first order of business when the first registrants in the 6th corps area report at 7:30 a. m. Monday in the Chicago induction station, the 122d field artillery armory, 234 East Chicago avenue. This will be the second examination for each man, since the physician of his local board examines him before he is selected as a fit subject for training.

Boards Rush Exams.

Physicians for local draft boards hastened yesterday to complete their examinations of men to be produced Monday. Special arrangements were made with the Chicago board of health to make the blood tests for syphilis which are required.

Gen. Bonesteel said the army examination will be given a board of seven physicians, each a specialist. Hospital facilities will be utilized for tests in doubtful cases, he said.

The Chicago induction station will be the only one in operation in the 6th corps area Monday. Michigan and Wisconsin stations do not begin to function until Nov. 22. Induction station personnel from both states will observe operations at the Chicago station, where the entire Illinois induction personnel of about 50 men including 14 physicians will be in action.

Then Takes the Oath.

After a man is declared physically acceptable, he is given the oath, and then he's in the army. The examination and oath taking are expected to take only a day, after which the draftees will be taken to the Fort Sheridan reception center.

The table below gives dates and places of induction for the first quota thruout Illinois. The Chicago induction center will take men from Cook county, and also the nearby counties of Bureau, De Kalb, Du Page, Grundy, Iroquois, Jo Daviess, Kane, Kankakee, Lake, La Salle, Lee, McHenry, Ogle, Stephenson, Whiteside, Will, Winnebago, Boone, Carroll. Here is the table:

Date.	Place.	Quota.
Nov. 18	Chicago	100
Nov. 19	Chicago	100
Nov. 23	Peoria	117
Nov. 25	Chicago	48
Nov. 26	East St. Louis	80
Nov. 27	Chicago	64
Nov. 28	East St. Louis	60
Nov. 29	Chicago	77
Nov. 30	Chicago	182
Total		828

Only one of the 79 local draft boards of Cook county scheduled to provide men for the initial induction into the army under the draft act will lack volunteers to fill its quota. That board is Cook county No. 5, with headquarters at 2400 North Harlem avenue, Elmwood Park. It has two volunteers, but its quota is three men.

American Cut Diamonds Are Exhibited at Show

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—American cut and styled diamond jewelry is having a formal showing at the Ritz-Carlton hotel here. The gems are especially designed to embellish the made-in-America fashions which have replaced Paris creations. Because of the interruption to diamond cutting in Holland and Belgium as a result of the war, New York City now is recognized as the diamond cutting center of the world.

Queen Elizabeth Ignores Raid to Visit Injured Men

Ronnie Doherty skating on Edgewater Beach hotel rink yesterday.

Chicago's ice skating season got off to an early start yesterday with Old Man Winter, who arrived unexpectedly this week, settling down to what looks like a long visit. One of the first rinks to open was that of the Edgewater Beach hotel. The tennis courts were flooded on Tuesday night and ready for skaters early yesterday morning. More than 30 persons took advantage of the hotel's rental ice skates and were seen gliding over the ice before noon. Among them were John McCormack, Inez Fox, Ronnie Doherty, Elaine Pederson, Fern Gunton, Daisy Thrall, and Fred Burlingham.

STATE TO BLOCK NITTI'S DEAL ON BAR UNION HEAD

Wilbert F. Crowley, first assistant state's attorney, said "no" last night to the plan for reorganizing the bartenders' union under the sponsorship of Gang Chief Frank Nitti. The prosecutor warned that State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney will brook no deals and no gangster domination in the forthcoming union election.

The reorganization plan blessed by Nitti was proposed on Tuesday to Judge Robert Jerome Dunne, under whom the union has been placed in receivership to protect its treasury. The scheme was for a harmony slate by which James Crowley, secretary-treasurer, would supplant Louis Romano as president of the organization, local 278, of the Bartenders' and Beverage Dispensers' union.

Deal Agreed to by McLane.

George B. McLane, veteran business agent who obtained the receivership on charges that Romano had been placed in power by Nitti, was to be reëlected business agent under the plan. Harold Levy, attorney for Romano, told the judge the warring factions had come to an agreement, and McLane's attorney, A. C. Lewis, agreed. It was understood that there would be no opposition to the election of Crowley, who is no kinsman of the prosecutor.

Judge Dunne was asked by both factions to dissolve the receivership and place the union's affairs again in the hands of its 4,000 members.

But a hitch developed when it was learned that Nitti was still doing business at the same old stand, attempting to direct the union from behind the scenes.

Prosecutor Crowley recalled that McLane had termed Secretary Crowley a Nitti agent, and the prosecutor intimated that Courtney would not permit the secretary to become president.

Holds McLane Must Testify.

"McLane will have to go thru with us in the prosecution of Nitti and Romano," the prosecutor said. [Nitti and Romano have been indicted on a criminal conspiracy charge as a result of the union investigation.] "No agreement McLane may make with the Nitti faction will have any effect on the criminal trial, and he will be expected to repeat to a trial jury the testimony he gave the grand jury."

Several opposition tickets, the prosecutor said, are already in the field for the election.

HEARTS OF OAK AGAIN.

While nothing can detract from the magnificent defense of Britain by the outnumbered royal air force, it is the empire's senior service, the royal navy, that has most frequently given the people of the beleaguered island the moral lift of brilliant victories and courageous self-sacrifice.

To Dunkirk, the River Plate, the Altmark capture, and the Mediterranean victories that drove the Italian fleet to cover the British navy has added two more exploits — the sacrifice of the auxiliary cruiser Jervis Bay, which saved the major portion of an Atlantic convoy, and the crushing air attack on the Italian fleet in its Taranto base.

Capt. Fegen, who went down with his ship, and his crew on the Jervis Bay deserve to be listed with the greatest of British naval heroes. As was the case a year ago with another converted merchantman, the Rawalpindi, which went down in a similar one sided conflict with a pocket battleship, the men on the Jervis Bay knew they had no chance when they entered the fight. They took their unarmored ship into a hopeless battle to gain a few precious minutes for the escape of the merchantmen they were escorting. Most of them paid for the venture with their lives, but they saved three-quarters of the convoy.

The attack on Taranto may also properly be listed as a naval exploit, since it was carried out under fleet direction and apparently from a carrier. The victory will have important strategic effects if the damage done to the Italian ships is as great as is now reported.

The British air attack on a strongly guarded base cannot but diminish further the sinking martial prestige of the Italians. Their fleet, since the Mediterranean operations started, has chiefly distinguished itself by the celerity with which it retires to port at first sight of British opponents. Their army has been marked as pretty poor stuff by the bungled attack on Greece. It has been assumed that the Italian air force was the best of its armed forces, but if that force cannot protect as important a naval base as Taranto, the Italians, indeed, have reason to be sick of their war.

PIONEERING NEW AIR ROUTES.

As this is being written two American air line companies are pioneering a new commercial route between Chicago and Central American countries all the way south to Panama. The route is south to New Orleans, thence across the Gulf of Mexico to Belize in British Honduras, Puerto Barrios in Guatemala, whence a final jump is made without stop to Cristobal at the Atlantic entrance of the Panama canal.

Ten such survey trips are to be made before the Civil Aeronautics bureau will be asked to approve regular passenger service.

The flight to New Orleans will be made in regular Douglas air liners. At that point passengers will transfer to flying boats. The first trips will be made in a twin-motored commercial version of the navy's long-range Consolidated PBY flying boats. It is contemplated that, when regular passenger and mail service is installed, faster four-motored Sikorsky Clipper type boats will be used. These ships will cruise at 200 miles an hour with 16 to 25 passengers and three tons of additional cargo.

Instead of a three-day trip via Brownsville, Tex., and Mexico, which is now available, the shorter route will bring Chicago within 15 hours' flying time of virtually any point between here and the Canal Zone. A network of commercial air lines is already in operation out of Belize, Puerto Barrios, and Guatemala City to points in Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Costa Rica, and Panama, so that travelers may go swiftly anywhere they desire in Central America.

The importance of this new venture cannot be overestimated. Because an expanding state of war has enveloped Europe, Africa, and Asia, our foreign commerce is focusing its attention upon our southern neighbors, with whom we have never had the closest contact, and whose culture and economic affairs we seem never to have clearly understood.

Foreign commerce, like many other things, always follows the lines of least resistance. Rapid and economic transportation is always the first consideration involved. The new route and the travel it will develop should furnish the means of a better understanding between the 21 states of the Mississippi valley and the Central American countries.

Western hemisphere defense is chiefly a matter of aviation. The seaports and weather and radio stations which are already being constructed by the American companies involved in this new venture will be available for army and navy air fleets operating in Latin America.

The Chicago and Southern Airlines and American Export Airlines should be commended for their pioneering efforts and our government should be quick to realize the commercial and military importance of the new trade route they are attempting to open.

HOW ODD THE DEMOCRACY.

Hugues Legallais, newly appointed minister of Luxemburg, recently presented his letters of credence to the President from her royal highness the grand duchess and in his little speech remarked upon the great honor given him by his gracious sovereign and observed that Mr. Roosevelt's declaration that the United States would never recognize territorial acquisition by violence inspired Mr. Legallais' fellow countrymen while they await a happier future.

Mr. Roosevelt, in his formal reply, according to the mode established for such ceremonies, responded that it was a pleasure to receive the letters of her royal highness the grand duchess and assured her minister that the people of the United States desired nothing more than to see them happy once more in full independence under their gracious sovereign.

The family of the duchess of Luxemburg, being among the victims of the war against democracy in Europe, is domiciled in this country awaiting the happier day when that war will fail. The other day Mr. Roosevelt, having laid the corner stone of the new naval medical center in Maryland, motored to the new home of Crown Princess Martha of Norway and had tea with her and her entourage. Princess Martha also has been made an exile by the war against democracy. Some of the Hapsburgs are here because of this war. In didn't upset their throne. That was upset in the other war to make the world safe for democracy, but the second one made Europe a temporarily unsafe place and the old Austrian royalty took refuge here.

Princess Juliana and her children, having escaped from the Netherlands to England with the queen, her mother, were removed to Canada for the greater safety of the princess and the heirs. Carol of Rumania, torn from his subjects, but not as yet from Magda, has not been as fortunate as some of his royal cousins. He has been detained in Spain, with a large amount of currency laid by for the rainy day which came. His passport visé may be a very costly one, and if he aims to say hello to the Statue of Liberty he may find that that lady, according to her inflexible custom, will send Magda to Ellis Island as one too much consorting and too little a consort.

We seem to be curiously involved in a perplexity of words and meanings in this war in which democracy is supposed to be standing at bay in a struggle to determine its future. Dynasties, to preserve their line, have removed to North America, where the succession will be safe to return if the fight is won. It is only by way of a marginal note to be remarked that France is now being urged to go back to the Bourbons. It would seem that we haven't found the best way of defining what is going on in Europe.

The old American idea did not so closely associate democracy with the monarchical institution. As a way of government for other peoples we have ceased to make it any of our business, altho in the earlier days any country which wanted to overthrow a king had our best wishes and our blessing. Now we express the hope that the gracious sovereigns who have found refuge here will soon be permitted to return to their people. Democracy may be in need of, among other things, a slight change in vernacular.

MORE SURPRISES SOON.

Repeated huge deficits have dulled the capacity of people to appreciate the significance of Secretary Morgenthau's statement last week that the government would need to borrow 15 or 20 billion dollars more between now and June 30, 1942.

The interval covered is only 19 months. We had heretofore regarded the scale of spending during President Roosevelt's first two terms as the extreme in profligacy. But the President had been in office 75 months before he had added 20 billions to the national debt. The next 20 is to be piled on in 19 months. Spending in the third term is apparently to be four times as fast as in the first two terms.

There is only one experience to compare with the present one. That was the world war. From our declaration of war in April, 1917, to the armistice in November, 1918, was an interval also of 19 months. In that period the government debt was increased by 17¾ billion dollars. But 8 billion 172 million dollars of the 17¾ billions constituted credits to France, Great Britain, Italy, and other countries making common cause with us.

The government plans to spend money in the next 19 months twice as fast as we spent it when we were actively engaged in fighting Germany and financing financially weak allies.

Prime Minister Churchill recently announced that the British plan was to launch an offensive in 1943. By the time that critical point has been reached in the war the credit of the United States will be at the breaking point. If we should then declare war on Germany what would our effectiveness be, if in the meantime we shared our armament production equally with Britain? And even if we were then militarily able to wage a war would we be financially able to do all that was required, with inflation imminent if not already realized?

DOWNFALL OF THE STRAW POLLS.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

Whatever else the election returns signify, they spell twilight for the straw polls. The final summaries were cagy enough so that today the poll sponsors can give the critics an answer, but the fact remains that none of the advance estimates came even near the actual results. Those widely ballyhooed surveys that went overboard for Willkie are the saddest victims of the avalanche. But even the best regarded of the polls fell far short of registering the full sweep of the Roosevelt vote.

To be sure, this is by no means so crushing an upset as the Literary Digest suffered in 1936. Nevertheless, "scientific sampling" can no longer command the awe with which it was once surrounded. In fact, its sponsors seemingly saw the handwriting on the wall; they quietly ceased some weeks ago representing their findings as forecasts, and informed the public that these were merely "surveys." They argue now that they were close to accuracy on party percentages, but they failed to determine the distribution of those percentages, which is all important in a national election.

The development is all for the best. It would be devastating to democratic morale if the result of an election could be cocksurely announced in advance in every detail. The independent voter, quietly making up his mind and keeping his decision to himself, is still master of the situation. The demon dopester, with his columns of figures and his complicated calculation of trends, has become merely a campaign sideshow.

We're still waiting impatiently to hear how Roger Babson came out.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

IN PRAISE OF CAPS.

There is a perishing need in this land for a strong voice in defense of the wearing of caps, especially in Chicago where the Big Winds roar and the conventional male head covering goes flying in every direction. In such emergencies the Linemaster, if warned by flags on coast guard stations signalizing the need for caps, breaks out his good old blizzard buster and defies the elements, in spite of inevitable mockery from fashion's slaves.

This cap, famous to us but infamous to others, is of the design that came to America with the golf mania, 40 years ago or more, after which the national cap inventing genius gave up the ghost. It looks like a beret with the goiter to which a visor has been attached, and contains almost enough woolen goods to make a suit of clothes for a midget. The rugged mind of Scotland evolved it, probably in the era when Dictator Macbeth was teaching his subjects the hard way of life.

Nevertheless, we are fond of this cap. It is lined with chamois to withstand arctic temperatures, and it has an inner flap that can be pulled down over the ears to prevent their conversion into frozen cartilage. We remember the first day the Linemaster ever put it on. 'Twas on a winter's twilight in the loop, that day the city's ears were dropping off. Suffering severely, we mushed thru the storm to four haberdasheries, in vain. A salesman in one of them had the nerve to offer us a Tiny Tim cap or beanie, worn by little boys. But at long last we got our heart's desire, and since then have been comfortable, tho ridiculed.

The best type of cap design has been taken over by uniform wearers, from chauffeurs to army generals. But since compulsory military service seems to be a growing fashion in the world, perhaps the civilian population may come to adopt it. The Linemaster needs a cap for formal wear to supplement his blizzard buster, and is thinking of having one made to order, patterned after the regulation headgear of a French field marshal, with oodles of gold braid in poison ivy pattern.

Brief History of New York City.

New York City never was an American community. For $24 in trade goods the Indians sold Manhattan Island to the Dutch and escaped to the forests with their ill-gotten gains. That was in 1600 and something. The Dutch tried to unload it on other foreigners and squatters. Title was later hijacked by renegade Indians of the Tammany tribe, who claimed it by right of conquest. Nobody cares; it never was more than a trading post. True title, if any, belongs to a remote tribe of Indians in Oklahoma. They can have it back for $24, and we'll throw in Hyde Park and Father Divine's Krum Elbow Heaven. De Bunker Hill.

On a Certain Tuesday Night.

I just wanted to tell you about the people that were over at my house one Tuesday evening. They acted so peculiar. To begin with, they came in, looked vaguely around my living room and said, "Things look bad." Then they sat down on the floor in front of the radio, and when I offered to get them chairs they said, "O, shut up. How can we hear with you talking?" They spent an hour trying to convince me that all was lost, and as soon as I agreed they said, "What are you quitting for? He hasn't given up yet and we won't until he does." Suddenly, while they were sitting around the table not eating the lovely food, a man with haggard eyes burst out, "Dear friends, I've had a lovely day. Ah, yes. My Day," and burst into tears. Isn't that a funny way to act?

Loyal Opposition.

NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN.

[1869-1940.]

And so you reach the end of your life's thread
In time of war. "Peace in our time," you said,
"At any cost." Fate did not let you live
To look on Peace again. Tho all men give Full credit to your faith and honesty,
None guessed just what the cost of peace might be.
And now, in midst of war, in battle's view,
The peace you sought, at last, has come for you.

Uncle Louie.

War Paints Its Own Portrait.

I am war. I am a skein of scarlet thread over the eyes of men. I am a macabre melody played on the edge of a bright sword by the bony fingers of death. I am a hunter from hell, and I slaughter the doves of peace. I am a crystal flag embroidered with blood. I am the blue smoke curling sluggishly upward from a black cannon draped with a molding corpse. I am the smell of red wet blood, and of acrid gunpowder, of bleak forests haunted with the walls of the dead and the dying. I am a mighty thing of fury, of steel, of iron, a thing born of the trumpets' shrill cry; a thing born of the flame, a thing born of the tom-tom beat, of the witch doctor's voodoo rattle, of the red flare of yon sky.

I blow my hot smoke into the eyes of hate charged men, and men trek across deserts and seas to do my bidding. I am a bright sun floundering in a sea of blood. Peace is a white rose bleeding in a garden of nettles and I a thorn.

Cutting Down the Ancestor Quota.

Your problem regarding the number of one's ancestors [Nov. 8] is intriguing. In 1140 it closely approached the present population of the earth. Now wrestle with this: In what year does the number begin to diminish, eventually to reduce itself to two, namely Adam and Eve?

One good thing about the Big Wind: After it had subsided the air smelled clean, crisp, and dry, as if it had come from all our favorite places in the Rocky mountains. CHARLES COLLINS.

POISONING FROM FIRE EXTINGUISHER FUMES.

If your automobile catches fire, and if you carry a portable extinguisher—use it, but be careful to keep the vapor away from your nose and mouth.

Carbon tetrachloride—which is employed also in dry cleaning and in the manufacture of paint—is an effective flame destroying liquid. It keeps with but little deterioration and it can be inclosed within a cylinder ready for emergencies. But we need to be reminded that when the fumes are inhaled—poisoning may ensue.

In acute cases—where the substance has been inspired freely—dizziness, headache, even unconsciousness may come within 15 to 20 minutes. The victim must be removed to the open air as promptly as possible, or away from the presence of the drug. It is important also that after exposure, the patient should go to bed, take huge volumes of liquids, and remain there for at least 48 hours or until all toxic signs have disappeared.

Rest must be continued for a week or more if headache persists, or if nausea, vomiting, or diarrhea come on. There is always a possibility that the liver or the kidneys have been injured.

In a recent report, W. S. Hagen and others call attention to the case of a salesman who complained of exhaustion, nausea, vomiting, numbness of the extremities, etc. A few days earlier he had used an extinguisher on his flaming automobile and had breathed in a fair quantity of smoke and vapor. He seemed to suffer no immediate reaction, other than a burning sensation in the nose and throat with some smarting of the eyes.

The following morning he awakened with a severe headache and felt, as he expressed it, "all in." After a light breakfast he experienced abdominal pains, became nauseated, and vomited several times. Along toward evening several watery stools were passed. The second night he slept poorly, the headache, diarrhea, and nausea continuing. By morning his feet and legs felt numb. There was also a cough and considerable expectoration.

On the fourth day he called a physician, who sensed immediately that he was quite ill and required hospital care. An examination revealed pronounced bronzing of the skin, congestion of the mucous membranes of the mouth, and a swollen and tender liver. Most alarming of all was the fact that there was almost a complete suppression of the urine. The small amount obtained showed the presence of albumin.

Fluids were given generously, both by mouth and by injection into a vein. The chief remedy supplied was glucose, as this is known to have a sparing effect upon the liver cells. Despite increased quantities of liquids, the kidneys failed to respond for several days. Heat [diathermy] was then applied over the midarea of the back [the renal region] and, on the ninth day, the output returned to normal. As soon as the function of these structures was resumed, marked improvement in the general condition was observed. Jaundice—which had developed in the meantime—receded. It was not until the 13th day after his admission to the hospital that he was able to retain food and liquids. Final recovery was uneventful.

All the symptoms were clearly traceable to carbon tetrachloride, with its pernicious influence on the liver and the urinary tract. The escape in this instance was due to good nursing and skilled management.

A NEW FITTING.

A. P. B. writes: I have been wearing false teeth for over a year but cannot hold them in place because the gums still pain me. What is the reason for this condition?

REPLY.

They don't fit. A skilled dentist can mold the plates accurately to your jaws. There should be no pain whatsoever.

COLTLIKE.

Mrs. R. S. writes: What is the medical explanation of the "awkward age"?

REPLY.

Rapid growth and hence imperfect control over the muscles. This must be the reason why the government is sending glamorous dancing teachers to training camps. It is up to them to glide the awkward squads into shape.

AUSTRALIA TO THE MIDWEST.

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 21.—I have read with interest your article entitled "By Air to Australia."

It is indeed encouraging to note that your paper is alive to the mutual interests of Australia and the United States. It was with a desire to further my knowledge of your vast middle west that I subscribed to your paper. It is the sincere desire of most thinking Australians to understand the point of view of the dwellers of central United States.

Your paper caters to people who possess similar views to ourselves and who realize more and more that the destiny of our two peoples lies in the Pacific, far removed from the turbulent power politics of Europe.

It is to be regretted that most of our American news is taken from the newspapers of your eastern seaboard which, unfortunately, have a European complex.

Permit me to congratulate you on your vision in fostering an interest among your readers in the antipodes.

CAN IT BE THE "LAST" LETTER?

Lansing, Ill., Nov. 11.—This is a letter to end all political letters.

Three cheers for Evanston for organizing a Willkie for President in 1944 club. With his courage, capability, and decorous, indomitable fighting spirit, Willkie will certainly never be "the forgotten man." After 12 years of dictatorship it's a safe bet that even the Democrats will be yelling for help by 1944.

After the third term we'll all be older by at least 25 years. Maysie T. Klein.

TAXES EAT UP HIS LOT.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Your editorial on the local tax situation is interesting, but it does not tell the whole story. There are thousands of cases like this:

During the "goofy era," intending to build a home, we bought a lot near the northwest edge of the city, for which we paid $1,800. Paving and other improvements were put in, contractors and politicians of those golden days working hand in hand. At present the paving has a crack right in the middle at least six inches wide.

The crash came; we did not build. We let the assessments slide, but year after year we paid about $22 in annual tax until last spring's instalment. During the summer we offered one of our friends our equity in this lot for $250—payable as he could. His broker made an investigation and found that there are $1,195 in assessments outstanding against this parcel. At best it could be sold for about $800 on the open market. There are thousands of similar cases in and about Chicago and something should be done about it. Meanwhile we pay no more taxes on this lot. Why should we?

Defaulting Taxpayer.

ROTTEN TRANSPORTATION.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Why does Ald. Keenan confine himself to roasting the bus company in the article appearing in today's Tribune?

The elevated is notorious for its rotten service at 10 cents. If the elevated company finds that every one gets a seat on a four car train they cut it down to three. The list of objections listed by this alderman against the bus company applies to both elevated and surface lines with few exceptions.

To my knowledge for the last 40 years the people have been suffering from rotten transportation. Mayor Kelly is sinking thousands in a sewer right now and pats himself on the back that he is giving us a subway. This pocket edition of a subway is a joke.

Never in this world will we see good transportation in Chicago so long as the politicians have anything to do with it.

J. G. Stoddard.

WHY SNOWSHOE TROOPS?

Chicago, Nov. 12.—I read that "indications are that the United States army will be training ski and snowshoe troops." One company has an order for 6,800 pairs of snowshoes at prices from $5.93 to $6.23 a pair. Another company has been given an order for 2,300 pairs of skis and still another for a duplicate order.

Now I want to know if our boys are to go into barracks in Alaska in order to train in the use of skis and [more important] where is this knowledge to be applied? In northern Europe? In Russia?

Is there to be no economy whatsoever manifested by a government on a long suffering, overtaxed public?

When inadequate conditions for housing and caring for our boys exist right here in Illinois, why, O why, train for skiing, and for what? Mabel B.

KENNEDY'S PROPAGANDA.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—All of Ambassador Joseph B. Kennedy's fluffing and puffing about England's near collapse is simply a new propaganda to destroy the Johnson act. Regardless of all its new dresses, it is still propaganda. A. M. S.

STOP FLIRTING WITH RUSSIA!

Chicago, Nov. 12.—Stalin's flunky, Comrade Molotov, is at present in Berlin, fêted and bribed by Adolph, the great distributor of free "Lebensraum."

Red Russia will be induced to sell the Turks down the Dardanelles and to sign a nonaggression pact with "peace loving" Japan. This means the "Go Ahead" signal for Nippon, which is already massing troops and ships to grab the Dutch East Indies, and this will keep our fleet busy in the Pacific.

It's time that our administration in Washington gives up the wishful idea of appeasing Stalin. This policy cannot work because it is not the habit of free democracies to give away other people's money and territory.

An embargo against Russia is even more justified than an embargo against Japan. Both are aggressor nations. We cannot afford to equip the Red "humanitarians" with vital raw materials and to make fools of ourselves. The Russian hammer and sickle are not the tools of peaceful work, but the symbols of death.

A ZOOLOGICAL FIND.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Within rifle shot of the Tribune Tower is Lincoln park. The Hall of Science is on the Clark street side of the park and the east is South pond. "And thereby hangs a tale." On Monday, Nov. 4, a Chicago park district employé made an important zoölogical discovery in that small but beautiful body of water. He called a park officer to the scene. Experts from the Hall of Science were summoned. With a dip net they removed a great gelatinous mass and conveyed it to headquarters for examination. The verdict rendered was: Invertebrates of the order bryozoa. Technical name, pectinatella magnifique. A form of life lower than the mollusca.

Charles Darwin cruised for several years in the waters near Australia to find primordial marine animals. Chicagoans can see strange forms of aquatic life in Lincoln park, close to the loop!

W. Megginson.

THE FIGHT ONLY BEGUN.

Chicago, Nov. 11.—Regarding unity which is now the watchword: Of course we will unite behind the President in defending our country from foreign aggression, but the main issue of the campaign is still unsettled; the crusade for our democratic form of government must go on. We have only begun to fight.

I would ask that immediate steps be taken for a constitutional amendment limiting any President's term of office to six years, or at most two terms of four years each.

Further, and what I consider equally important, some method must be found to safeguard our Supreme court. With a complacent congress, a dictatorial President can destroy the last bulwark of our safety against civil and political injustice.

J. B. DeLee.

THANKS FROM THE WOMEN.

Chicago, Nov. 12.—This is just to say a most grateful thank you to the boys who during yesterday's gale helped me and other women across Fullerton at Clark street.

I know I should have been blown into the path of vehicles had it not been for the kindly assistance of these thoughtful young men. R. N.

ESTATE ADMINISTRATION.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Being named as executor to my mother's estate:

1. Am I required to list a joint bank account from which I was privileged to draw funds as needed?

2. Must I secure sanction of the court to open a safety deposit box also held jointly and containing her will, burial fund, deed to house, and insurance papers?

3. The whole estate amounts to less than $4,000, and I feel that it would not be a necessary expense to employ an attorney. H. S.

1. Not if the account was technically joint as distinguished from being common.

2. No, but there must be an inheritance tax examination. Take this up with the safety deposit officials.

3. The necessity for probate depends on the nature of assets the attitude of the parties in possession, and other facts that are not before us. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SUPERHIGHWAYS VITAL, CONTENDS AAA COMMITTEE

Essential to U.S. Defense, Report Points Out.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 [Special].—The construction of superhighways within and between metropolitan areas is advocated in a report to the annual convention of the American Automobile association, which opened here today and will continue thru Friday. The report was prepared by a committee of 17, headed by Col. Sidney D. Waldon of Detroit and including J. J. Cavanagh of the Chicago Motor club.

J. J. Cavanaugh.

The committee contends that safe express routes are essential to national defense as well as for peace time motor transportation without the present economic losses and the present losses of lives and limbs in congestion on outmoded streets and highways. The report, however, warns against war hysteria in road building and urges that the construction follow careful planning for civil and military purposes.

Unprepared on 3 Fronts.

Col. Waldon, as chairman, wrote that the United States is unprepared on three fronts: [1] in military equipment; [2] in the condition of its federal aid and trunk line highway system; and [3] in having no provision for the special type of express highways necessary to the rapid transportation of modern war equipment in and thru heavy industrial and other vulnerable regions.

"The failure of our existing trunk line highways to meet defense needs," reads the report, "is directly chargeable to the chaos that has for some time existed in the highway finances of the country and still continues to exist. If the hundreds of millions of dollars that have gone with the wind—that have been diverted to nonhighway purposes, that have been dispersed by local governments with no accounting or reporting to the states, and that have been otherwise wasted—if these millions had instead been spent on necessary highway projects, we would not be in our present plight."

Bridge Needs Listed.

In addition to the lack of superhighways within and between metropolitan areas, the report listed the following as deficiencies of the federal highway system to meet military requirements: 1,800 bridges are too weak; 150 bridges lack horizontal clearance; 1,700 bridges are too narrow; 5,500 miles of pavement is too narrow; 14,000 miles of roadway needs to be strengthened.

The committee recommended rapid construction of a highway to Alaska and of one to Panama for American defense as well as for commercial and recreational advantages.

PERSONALTY TAX ASSESSMENT IS UP IN LAKE VIEW

The 1940 personal property tax assessment in Lake View township is $42,634,798, an increase of 6.5 per cent over the 1939 assessment of $40,001,669, County Assessor John S. Clark announced yesterday. Clark said that boosts in property values chiefly of corporations and unincorporated businesses accounted for the overall increase. Small increases in assessments were reported previously for North and Rogers Park townships.

Difference of Opinion makes horseraces . . . AND newspapers!

Human nature being what it is, there will always be difference of opinion. On politics, religion, art, literature, science and philosophy some minds work one way and others another.

The sexes don't agree either. Men and women have different likes and dislikes. So it is hardly surprising that some newspapers have been more successful in pleasing men than women and vice versa.

But The News appeals equally to both. Five surveys by L. M. Clark show that the average copy of The News is read by a total of three readers per copy, about equally divided between men and women.

* * *

Because pictures have a universal appeal, The News spares no effort to get the best—and our masthead reads "The News, New York's Picture Newspaper." In a typical issue the general news picture pages attracted 81% to 96% of the men, and 93% to 96% of the women.

The main news pages of The News are so edited as to appeal to both men and women. These pages in a typical issue drew as high as 85% of the men and 90% of the women readers.

For fun, romance, and adventure, readers turn to News features. Column fans have the choice of three Broadway and Hollywood columnists. Men are partial to News sports columns, fishing and hunting news, and the financial page. Finance bores most women, but they love News fiction. Comic strips touch a universal chord in the hearts of all men, women, and children—so The News has spared no expense in securing comics which are among the most famous in the world.

News editorials are unique. They are written for the millions, on topics which vitally affect everybody, in the language of the average man. They have a higher reading than any editorials in any other newspapers analyzed by a well-known research organization. L. M. Clark studies indicate that News editorials have greater reader-interest than 7 out of 10 comic strips. Such popularity is phenomenal!

By pleasing more people, The News has become the most popular paper in the world. It gathers in one publication the largest audience for all types of advertised products. It sells more merchandise to men, and more merchandise to women. It covers more families, is read by more people of all classes and all ages, with all types of interests and all sizes of pocketbooks. In the aggregate The News millions comprise the greatest family market in the world. To sell more merchandise, make The News your first medium!

ILLINOIS WOMEN G.O.P. WORKERS GIRDING FOR 1942

Pleased with Gains, but Will Gun for More.

BY MARCIA WINN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special]. —Four hundred Republican women leaders from Illinois agreed today that their course is to be one of work, not of pleasure.

The women, meeting here at the behest of Mrs. W. G. Suthers, president of the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican Clubs, easily could have sat back and gloated today. They could have said to one another: "Wheeee, we did it; we're in at last in Illinois; let's relax," and have eaten merrily of their lamb chops.

They didn't. They sat down in serious mood to plan how not only to retain their gains in Illinois, but also how to increase them in 1942. They plan to do this thru a concerted, unified program of study.

A Federation for Work.

"We are not a federation for pleasure," Mrs. Elmer Jones of Western Springs, chairman of the new study program, said in a fiery speech. "We are a federation for work. We want to be known as women who, if we talk, want to know what we talk about.

"We believe in teaching good citizenship, but a good citizen is partisan. We would not believe in this country of ours without a two party system. If we who belong to that part of the people who own our homes, own insurance policies, and have savings in the banks don't hang together now we may never have another chance.

"We want you to work and to study and to spread that thru the state of Illinois."

Fifty Counties Represented.

Only 150 women, officers of the 117 affiliated Illinois clubs, had been expected at the one day meeting, called to capture and hold the enthusiasm of the recent election before it dwindled into monthly teas. Yet 412 turned up. They came from all corners of the state and from 50 counties.

As the roll of counties progressed, each woman told a startling, glowing tale of victory. They went like this: "Jasper county—Republican for the first time in 107 years." "Kankakee county—We have a courthouse now with nothing but Republicans in it." "Morgan county—It's a Democratic stronghold, but we put all our Republicans in office." And so on.

Mrs. Ernest B. Griffin, analyzing the state victory in which a Republican governor and legislature were elected, said the women's voice had been a potent factor in it.

Mrs. Bertha Baur, national committeewoman for Illinois, introduced a resolution commending Wendell L. Willkie for his campaign, spirit and beliefs and pledging the federation to adopt the program he outlined Monday for a minority party. This was adopted with enthusiasm.

Burglar Critically Wounded in Gun Battle with Police

Thomas Downs, 63 years old, was shot and wounded critically last night by Policeman Edward Woodrich in a gun battle while fleeing after burglarizing the home of Arthur Ranstead, an attorney, at 327 North Menard avenue. Downs fired four shots, one of which ripped thru the front of the policeman's coat. The Ransteads were away and neighbors saw Downs enter the house and called Austin police. Downs, who said he is an ex-convict and gave 31 South Aberdeen street as his address, was taken to Bridewell hospital.

Miss Ann Montgomery in the Safety court yesterday.

Judge Frank M. Padden, in Safety court yesterday, granted a continuance to Nov. 20 to Dr. John J. Collins, 40 years old, of 428 St. James place, on the latter's plea that he wanted to retain counsel. Dr. Collins was arrested Tuesday night after his car snapped off a lamp post at Michigan avenue and Ohio street, and charged with reckless driving. A woman companion, who gave her name as Miss Ann Montgomery, was charged with disorderly conduct. Her case also was continued to Nov. 20.

At the time of his arrest Dr. Collins said he was employed by the city health department. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, president of the board of health, said later that Dr. Collins is not connected with the department.

Kenneth Huggins, 21 years old, of 3351 Ogden avenue, was sentenced to five days in the county jail for reckless driving by Judge Padden. Huggins' car struck and injured a man at 63d street and Western avenue on Oct. 6. Judge Padden reduced the sentence from 15 days after learning that Huggins already had spent 10 days in jail, unable to make bond.

Frank Early, 38, of 123 Locust street, was fined $100 for driving while intoxicated.

LANGLIE ON TOP IN WASHINGTON GOVERNOR RACE

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 13 (AP).—Mayor Arthur Langlie of Seattle, Republican, captured the absentee ballot count tonight in the Pierce county stronghold of former United States Senator C. C. Dill, and the Post Intelligencer said Langlie had been elected governor. Langlie's lead increased hourly as the counting continued. He had a lead of 3,400 over his Democratic opponent with more than half of the state's absentee ballots counted.

Kansas Race Undecided.

Topeka, Kas., Nov. 13 (AP).—Kansans must wait a little longer before learning whether their next governor will be the Republican incumbent, Payne H. Ratner, or W. H. Burke, Democrat.

The answer rests in the 7,100 outstate absentee ballots waiting in the secretary of state's office. In-state absentee votes, counted yesterday and today in the counties, favored Ratner so heavily that Burke's earlier commanding lead was trimmed to 1,924 votes. Latest totals were: Burke, 422,938; Ratner, 421,014.

Counting of the outstate ballots probably will be started tomorrow.

AUTO HITS BUS AND LAMP POST; DRIVER INJURED

Menenio Stacchini, 47 years old, of 4322 Sheridan road, was injured yesterday when his automobile collided with a Chicago Motor Coach company bus at Sheffield avenue and Diversey parkway, swerved out of control and struck a lamp post. He was taken to Illinois Masonic hospital. Police said the traffic light at the intersection was changing when the accident occurred.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 758 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 553 were killed in Chicago, where 20,590 were injured in traffic accidents in the same period.

Brig Gen. J. F. Curry Gets Northwest Air Post

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The assignment of Brig. Gen. John F. Curry, recently nominated for promotion to major general, to command the northwest air district, with headquarters at Spokane, Wash., was announced today by the war department. Curry has been commander of the 10th pursuit wing at Hamilton Field, Cal.

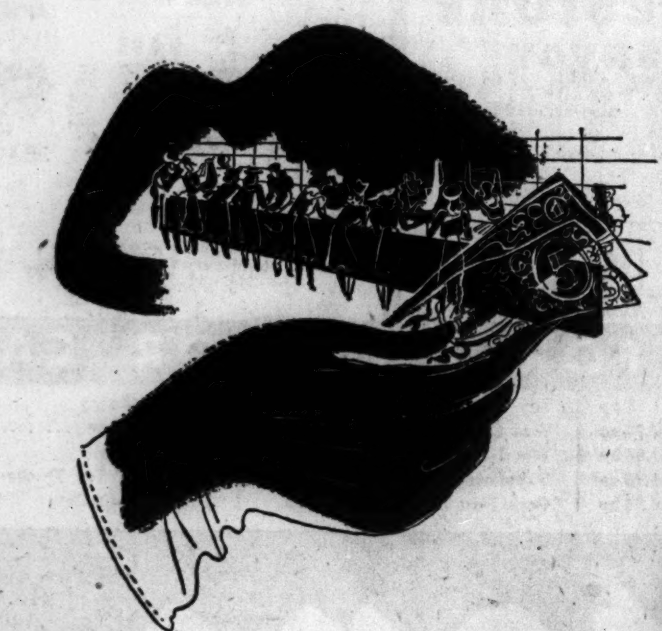
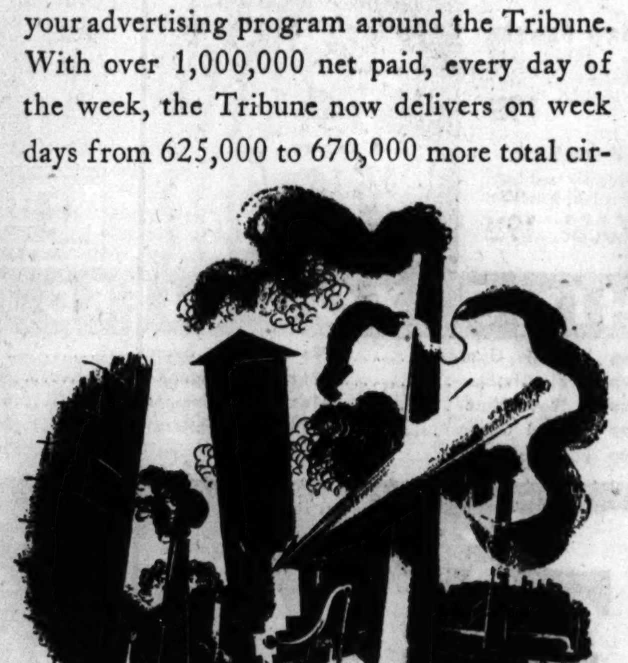
Is your advertising geared to Chicago's expanding sales opportunities?





ARE YOU getting your full share of Chicago's greater buying? Industrial activity is rapidly broadening consumer spending. Sales opportunities require . . . and reward . . . intensified selling effort.

You can best take advantage of today's brighter sales outlook in Chicago by building your advertising program around the Tribune. With over 1,000,000 net paid, every day of the week, the Tribune now delivers on week days from 625,000 to 670,000 more total circulation than other Chicago daily newspapers. And on Sundays from 240,000 to 790,000 more than other Chicago Sunday newspapers deliver. Right in Chicago and suburbs the Tribune delivers 475,000 more net paid circulation on week days than any other Chicago daily newspaper, and from 370,000 to 460,000 more on Sundays than other Chicago Sunday newspapers. It is the only newspaper with the equivalent of majority coverage of all families in metropolitan Chicago.

As the principal source of buying ideas for Chicago's largest constant audience, the Tribune is the basic advertising medium for Chicago retailers, who place more of their advertising expenditures in the Tribune than in any other medium.

When you can have more, why take less? Your advertising in the Tribune means that you take maximum advantage of today's buying volume, putting behind your salesmen and dealer organization the power which will enable them to book more business at less advertising cost per unit sold. Per 100,000 circulation, Tribune rates are among the lowest in America.

For more information on how you can increase your sales and standing in the great Chicago market and do so at lower advertising cost by building your advertising plan around the Tribune, ask a Tribune representative or consult your advertising agency.

OFFICIAL COUNT SHOWS G.O.P. GAIN IN STRAIGHT VOTE

Democrats Get 43 Pct. of Total in Chicago.

Continued whittling of the proportion of Democratic straight ballots was disclosed yesterday when the official vote canvass for Chicago of the Nov. 5 election was proclaimed by the board of election commissioners.

Straight Democratic ballots totaled 768,787, or 43 per cent of total votes cast. The Republicans cast 526,207 straight ballots or 29.43 per cent. The change from recent elections is shown by the following figures on straight ballots cast for both parties:

	Democratic Pct.	Republican Pct.	Total Pct.
1936	46.79	22.76	69.55
1938	44.94	26.96	71.90
1940	43.00	29.43	72.43

All previous records were broken in the official count of 1,787,801 ballots, which exceeded the 1936 vote by 81,167. However, the percentage of registered voters who went to the polls was below the 1936 figure. Of the 1,914,036 registered, only 93.41 per cent voted. In 1936, when 1,769,656 were registered, 96.44 per cent of them went to the polls.

Slattery Gains 226 Votes.

In the close contest for United States senator between James M. Slattery and Wayland Brooks the official count gave Slattery—loser in the statewide election—972,150 in Chicago and Brooks 754,871. Slattery gained only 226 votes over the unofficial returns. Brooks' plurality downstate brought his margin of victory for the state as a whole to 20,377.

The three top Democratic vote getters in Chicago were State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, with 1,045,813; President Roosevelt with 1,029,538, and Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, the only winner on his party's state ticket, with 994,084.

Republican high-ranking vote getters were Governor-Elect Dwight H. Green, with 853,337; Hugh W. Cross, elected lieutenant-governor, with 777,788; George F. Barrett, winner for attorney general, with 773,013, and four candidates for the Municipal court. The latter, all former judges, are Edward B. Casey, 822,417; Samuel Heller, 808,658; William E. Helander, 771,924, and Edgar A. Jonas, 771,179.

Minority Parties Fare Badly.

Minority parties not covered in the unofficial returns fared badly. Top man was Norman Thomas, Socialist candidate for President, who received 3,945 votes. Roger W. Babson, the Prohibition party nominee for the same office, got 1,680 votes. Together they polled less than one-third of 1 per cent of total votes cast for President in Chicago.

Wendell L. Willkie, Republican nominee for President, had 731,716 votes, placing him far down on his ticket in the official canvass.

The canvass did not change the standing of candidates shown by the police returns. It omitted figures on candidates in congressional and senatorial districts which are partly outside of Chicago. These will be completed when County Clerk Michael J. Flynn proclaims the vote for the country towns outside of the election board's jurisdiction.

GOVERNOR ELECT OF INDIANA BANS 2 PER CENT CLUB

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special].—The Two Per cent club, organized in 1933 by the Indiana Democratic machine soon after the advent of Gov. Paul V. McNutt's administration, was ordered dissolved today by Henry F. Schricker, present lieutenant governor and governor elect, who will take office in January.

Henry F. Schricker.

The club levied on salaries of state employés and on contractors and license recipients. It played a major rôle in electing Sherman Minton, McNutt aid, to the United States senate in 1934. It also was used in 1936 to further McNutt's Presidential aspirations and to elect M. Clifford Townsend, McNutt's lieutenant governor, to the governorship.

Altho Schricker was elected lieutenant governor in 1936 with Townsend and received support of the McNutt machine in his campaign for the governorship, he had pledged he would abolish the Two Per Cent club if elected. His action today was interpreted by some observers as a move to assume control of the Indiana Democratic organization. He was the only Democrat elected to a major state office in Indiana last week.

U. S. JURY PROBE OF VOTE FRAUDS TO OPEN TODAY

2 Defeated in Court Race Demand Recount.

Plans for a federal grand jury investigation of vote frauds in the Nov. 5 election were launched yesterday and machinery was set in motion for two contests of the vote recorded in the municipal judgeship races. The developments:

1. United States Attorney J. Albert Woll said witnesses will be called before the grand jury today for questioning about vote thievery. Woll, who said he had received numerous election complaints, said he planned vigorous prosecution of any persons guilty of fraud for either party or any candidate.

2. Edward B. Casey and Samuel Heller, former municipal judges who ran on the Republican ticket and were defeated by Democrats, gave notice they would file petitions for recounts. The Democratic slate of 12 candidates was elected. Casey, who led the G. O. P. ticket, polled 822,417 votes. Judge Leroy Hackett, who ran last on the Democratic ticket, received 831,003 votes. Former Judge Heller polled 806,658 votes.

Woll Reticent on Probe.

Woll was reticent on the direction the vote fraud investigation would take or the reasons that brought about his decision to undertake it. He issued the following statement:

"The conduct of a national election is of vital interest to the federal government. Such an election must always remain the free expression of the people's will, and it is the duty of the federal government to protect that right of expression from all unlawful interference and influence.

"I have received complaints from numerous persons concerning certain events occurring prior to the election and on election day. As a result of these complaints, information has been obtained indicating that federal laws enacted to insure elections free from improper interference and influence may have been violated."

Vote Officials Quizzed.

Woll's announcement followed a preliminary investigation in which his assistants interviewed County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke of the board of election commissioners, and others.

Senator James M. [Strong-Box] Slattery, who was defeated in the election by Wayland Brooks, Republican, asked Woll to conduct an investigation. Slattery's request was made the day after election, when he saw an early lead dwindle and his rival outdistance him.

Since then Woll and his assistants have been interviewing representatives of the Vote Fraud Fighters' alliance, the Joint Civic committee, and other groups established to guard against vote cheating.

Ald. McDermott Questioned.

Among others questioned was Ald. James J. McDermott [14th], who as Democratic ward committeeman said he had told his precinct captains to smash the cameras of any civic watchers who tried to photograph voters in his ward.

Woll's assistants also interviewed Robert Carpenter, manager of the Field building. Master lists of registered voters were taken from the election commissioners' offices to quarters rented in the Field building and were examined there for names of voters whose eligibility to vote was questioned.

"The lists were examined by canvassers working under the election commission," Judge Jarecki said last night, "and were brought back to the commission office after the examination had been completed. The canvassers took the lists there because there wasn't sufficient space in the election board's office to accommodate the work. An election board representative was present during the canvass, so the books never were out of our custody."

REVISED REGISTRATION FIGURES SHOW GAIN OF 8.1% OVER 1936 MARK

A revised registration list issued yesterday by the board of election commissioners showed a total of 1,914,036 voters registered in Chicago, an increase of 89,681 over the figures made public by the board on Oct. 31. The new total represents an 8.1 per cent increase over the 1936 Presidential year registration of 1,769,656.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki said the error in the previous figures was made by a clerk who subtracted the number of suspect notices from the Oct. 8 registration total without ascertaining how many names had been restored to good standing.

The registration by wards, compared with the 1936 Presidential election, follows:

Ward—	1940.	1936.	Ward—	1940.	1936.

Dining Room Is Reflection of Hospitality of Hostess

No room in the house so reflects a hostess' hospitality as her dining room. It doesn't matter so much whether it has the elegance of a formal room or the coziness of a breakfast nook. It is instinctive in a charming hostess to set a table with her best linens and china and to serve food graciously.

The period of the table doesn't matter so much as its suitability to the rest of the house. If an 18th century table is chosen, the chairs and china cabinets should harmonize with the design.

Both Hepplewhite and Sheraton, leading English designers of the 18th century, concentrated on dining room furniture and gave us the buffet as we know it today. Altho there were cupboards in Elizabethan days, the sideboard proper developed from the side tables made by Chippendale for dining room use. Shearer, Hepplewhite, and Sheraton added the cupboards to these tables.

Today's 18th century furniture pieces are reproductions of these old masterpieces, and even better in some respects, for at a slight additional charge you can have them made heatproof, alcohol and stainproof. Patented features are added which in no way affect the beauty of the design, but provide more space for comfortable dining.

Early American furniture, too, makes for a charming dining room. The soft glow from tall candles over the mellow finish of early American, accented by colorful china displayed in a hutch cupboard or china-top buffet, will invoke warm admiration from even the most sophisticated guest. Of course, if you have any Spode, or old blue and white ware, so much the better. The refectory extension table and the butterfly extension with its spool turnings and softened edges were among the more popular types of tables in this style.

New Window Treatment

In a newly furnished Regency room fine mesh lace net glass curtains are used to enhance the beauty of the floral chintz draperies.

Synthetic Fabrics Enhance the Beauty of New Draperies

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

Are you dressing your windows with new draperies this winter?

If you are, you'll want to enhance their beauty with sheer lace net or celanese rayon curtains, for these diaphanous materials add much in any treatment.

A few years ago many women hesitated to indulge in the fine, silky synthetic fabrics for glass curtains, fearing they would not launder well. And they didn't want to go to the constant expense of having them dry cleaned. But now the picture is changed. Celanese rayon curtains are so manufactured that they're sold to the customer with the definite suggestion that they be laundered. After repeated washings they still look like new and their shrinkage is low.

The good looking tailored, ready-made curtains in this material are available in four lengths, and so almost every window can be fitted. The widths are 34 and 44 inches, and the wider widths are made as long as three yards.

The popular colors are rose-beige, champagne, antique ivory, and white. Any of these delicate tones will harmonize with your new overdraperies. Or, if you're using curtains alone, they'll be suitable for living room as well as dining room.

Bedroom curtains in ruffled grenadine and marquisette are news this season, for they have a double life. They are not only reversible; they may also be hung from either end. What more could you ask of any curtain? They're made with two and three inch ruffles running around all four sides, which give them a charming effect. They come only in white, but you may choose from six different sizes in a wonderfully low price range.

There is an interesting cotton marquisette ready-made curtain that comes in a permanent finish, which responds to laundering like a duck to water. No starch is needed either. In two colors, white and champagne, it's made in four lengths, the most expensive being under $5 a pair.

Still another variety of sheer curtain is the washable rayon marquisette, which is selling in the greatest volume of all mentioned. Its popularity is due to its excellent wearing qualities and to the fact that it really washes as easily as a handkerchief. In white or eggshell you can get it in four lengths: 1¾ yards, 2 yards, 21-6 yards, and 2½ yards.

Remember that every window should have a pair of curtains, not just a single panel. In treating a bank of windows as lovely effect is had by hanging long, floor length draperies at either end [the 50 inch width is needed] and covering the intervening space with the widest widths of sheer curtains, also floor length. Have them pinch pleated at the top to match the pinch pleats of the draperies.

To do this, simply get the longest ready-made curtains [you'll probably need the three yard length] and cut them off at the top, then put in the pleats. This is less expensive than purchasing the material by the yard and having the pinch pleat curtains made, and it's much easier, too.

In lace net curtains two new patterns are a wheat design and one showing lilies of the valley. Perhaps you prefer the always good square mesh net, or the loose weaves that look like lacy cobwebs. Even the most fragile of these curtains wears excellently.

China Should Be Match for Dining Room

The next time you go shopping for china consider the type of dining room in which it is to be used. Is your room a cheery, informal one with maple furniture? Then select tableware of the same character: Quimper, or Spode's rose and white patterns, or the simplest of Lenox designs, Willoware, or Syracuse pieces, or any of the lovely California pottery in pastel colors. You'll find that by so choosing you create a feeling of unity between your furniture and your china.

If you have a dining room in Sheraton or Hepplewhite or Duncan Phyfe mahogany then, by all means, use one of the fine chinas that reproduce designs of old English types. Any of the Wedgwood dinner services would be ideal, as would Spode or Worcester or Cauldon.

For the modern interior furnished in light woods there are the excellent Swedish modern tablewares, a number of our own Lenox services, one or two modern designs in Wedgwood, and an endless variety of American-made inexpensive china.

There is nothing more appropriate for the Victorian dining room than the charming, flowered Dresden pieces. Less expensive are services of Rosenthal china which have patterns much like old Dresden or Meissen ware.

The Housewife

Thanksgiving tables will make beautiful pictures this year, if some charming displays we saw just now have influence. Because women find it difficult to "mate" china and glassware, an expert has arranged a wide variety of setups that show how the two can be made completely harmonious. For every service of china, domestic or imported, accompanying goblets for water and wine as well as finger bowls have been carefully selected. We liked especially Spode's aster design in pinks on white china and the lovely Hungarian glassware shown with it. Another interesting grouping was a raspberry red and white scenic china, English scenery by Wood & Sons, which included a large, round soup toureen with china ladle.

Film of Paste Wax Urged as Linoleum Aid

Today many bright, attractive, light colored patterns in linoleum are used on modern sink and table tops. Due to the unusual conditions to which the linoleum is subjected it is desirable to provide a protective coating which should be washed with a neutral soap cleaner. Never use strongly alkaline abrasive cleansers.

The best method of maintenance is to keep a film of paste wax on the surface. This should be applied to the linoleum when dry by means of a soft cloth. To avoid streaks the wax should be buffed lightly a few minutes after application with a dry soft cloth. Hard, vigorous buffing after the film is dry will give added service and luster.

It must be remembered that a film of wax is temporary and must be renewed from time to time. The splashing and wiping of the surface with dishwashing soaps, or the use of abrasives will tend to destroy the wax film and should be avoided as much as possible. Placing a cake of wet soap on the surface will have the same effect. When the wax film has been worn away or destroyed on all or any portion of the surface that area should be promptly cleaned and the wax film renewed as soon as the linoleum is clean and dry.

When spots appear on the surface of the linoleum they can be removed by rubbing with 00 steel wool wetted with a linoleum cleaner. The cleaner must be well rinsed from the face and allowed to dry. Paste wax should then be rubbed into these spots before waxing the entire surface.

While the paste wax method of maintenance described is the most satisfactory if a more permanent and glossy finish is desired a coat of a good grade of spar varnish [bakelite type] may be applied. Varnish must never be applied to waxed linoleum. If wax is present it must be completely removed by the use of a good cleaner and 00 steel wool. The linoleum must be thoroly rinsed and dried before the varnish is applied. [Alkaline abrasive cleaners are effective wax removers, but must be used carefully for this purpose, and never used for regular maintenance.]

Paste wax applied on the surface of the dry varnish film will give added protection to the linoleum.

Can't Overdo Simplicity in Home Decorations

When in doubt, decide always in favor of simplicity in home decoration. Color, scale, design and texture must be in harmony thruout the room where rug or carpet, furniture, folks and many things must live together in harmony. Simplicity can seldom be overdone.

Here's the Way to Preserve Your China's Sparkle

Following are helpful "do's" on the care of china:

1. Wash or rinse china directly after the meal. This will do much to preserve the luster of its decoration.
2. Wash china in warm water.
3. Use only the purest soap, flakes, or powder.
4. Wash raised decorations—enamel, gold, silver, or embossing—with soft brush.
5. Put felt pads between dishes to protect the glaze from scratching.
6. Use cellophane covers over china so that it will not get dusty and always wil be ready to use.

These tips are given by one of the most extensive dealers in china in the country.

Don't Overlook Light Factor in Color Schemes

When you are choosing color schemes don't forget to consider the light factor. In a sunless room you can make colors so vibrant that you create an atmosphere of sparkling warmth, and in a sunny room you can tone down overbright rays with a cool, aqueous color.

In general, the warmest colors are red and orange, which become less heated as they run into the yellows and definitely cooler when they become yellow-greens. Green is cool, blue-green cooler, and some blues practically shivery.

Add purple to blue and you have a warmer touch; red-purple brings you back to a warm red again. And so the cycle is completed.

In most cases you will want to use the warm colors in northern and eastern rooms and cool colors in southern and western rooms. But consider, too, the effect you want to create in the more subtle tones which colors can give a room. Red is exciting, yellow is cheerful, blue is restful, and the in-between shades vary from one emotion to the next, just as they vary in catching and holding light.

Glass Curtains Hang High.

Glass curtains are usually made to hang level with the window sill. Draperies come to within an inch of the floor. When the woodwork is light, however, curtains may extend to the floor, too.

Thanksgiving, Family Dinners Now Take Stage

BY JUDITH CASS.

PROBABLY one of the largest family dinners on Thanksgiving will be one the Frank Hibbards are giving at the Shoreacres club. They have sent out invitations to more than 50 relatives and connections to dine with them next Thursday. The invitations were cleverly rhymed and, thoughtfully, the hostess included return postal cards, so replying will be little effort for the invited guests.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard are members of large families, for she was a Robbins and has three sisters living in Chicago or Lake Forest, Mrs. James M. Hopkins, Mrs. Robbins Isaacs, and Mrs. William R. Odell Jr. Mr. Hibbard is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Gold Hibbard, who moved to Chicago in 1855. Mrs. Robert B. Gregory, Mrs. John Buckingham, and Mrs. William E. Casselberry are sisters. Mr. Hibbard's only daughter, Mrs. John Edmund Holland Jr., Mr. Holland and their daughter, Alicia, are coming from their home in New York for the family party.

Mrs. Hibbard Hostess at Rummage Shop Party.

Yesterday Mrs. Frank Hibbard was one of many hostesses at a party at the Esquire theater, given by the committee that runs the Rummage Shop, for the friends who keep the shop supplied with stock. The price of admission was a "white elephant" and so marvelous were the contributions that were displayed on tables in the lobby that dozens of persons wanted to purchase them right then. The articles will not be on sale, however, until the shop has its Christmas sale later in the season. Among the most notable "white elephants" was a box of finished and unfinished pieces of needlepoint given by Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm.

Numerous luncheon parties were given before the movie party, most of them at the Casino. Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine, a hostess there, is planning to spend Thanksgiving in Lake Forest with her sons, Philip D. Armour III. and Lester Armour, and their families. Pat Valentine, a grandson, will pass thru Chicago Saturday on his way from his home in Connecticut to Phoenix, Ariz., where he will be joined for Christmas by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine Jr., and his brother, Andy.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Munson will not be here in time to have Thanksgiving dinner with Mrs. D. Mark Cummings and the Misses Frances and Marion Munson, as they do not arrive until Nov. 27. The Munsons are to have Mrs. Cummings' town apartment and she is to remain in Lake Forest this winter.

Hugh L. McWilliams Jr. to Wed St. Louis Girl.

Mrs. Robert Adreon of St. Louis today is announcing the engagement of her daughter, Margaret, to Hugh Lafayette McWilliams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. McWilliams of Chicago. Miss Adreon, who made her debut in St. Louis in 1938, attended the Mary institute in St. Louis and Miss Katherine Child's Graduate school in Florence, Italy. She now is a member of the faculty of the Child school which has been in Boston since the beginning of the war. Her fiancé was graduated from Andover academy and from Princeton university. He is engaged in business in Boston. Miss Adreon and Mr. McWilliams will probably spend part of the Christmas holidays with the latter's parents. The wedding is planned for January.

Dr. and Mrs. Serge Koussevitsky have cards out for a reception and high tea in the exhibition room of Symphony hall, in Boston, on Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24, for Chicago's Dr. Frederick Stock. The party will follow the golden jubilee concert of the Chicago Symphony orchestra in Boston. The concert is of double significance for it also marks the first appearance of the Chicago orchestra in Boston in nearly two decades. It is to benefit the British War Relief society.

Members of the Chicago orchestra will be especial guests, also, and so will members of the Boston concert committee.

Promoters of Benefit Also Urge Early Yule Shopping.

Start your Christmas shopping now, the merchants advise, so those who are managing today's and tomorrow's Christmas Windows and three charity sales next Tuesday are hoping that every one is following that particular bit of advice. To Fletcher Durbin has fallen the lot of headwaiter and turkey carving supervisor at the turkey dinner which the women of St. Chrysostom's church are having tonight in connection with their two day Christmas Windows. Miss Marjorie Kimball, Mrs. Frank Woods Jr., Mrs. Richard Lamport, Miss Helen Traylor, and Mrs. John H. Houser will be among the waitresses. Mrs. Dudley Stark, wife of the rector, and Mrs. James O. Wood have been in charge of arrangements for the dinner.

Miss Sally Perry, Mrs. John J. Borland, and Mrs. Wyndham Hasler will be in charge of the ball game, a feature of both days, and Mrs. Barrett Wendell will manage the candy and cake booth.

The Women's exchange will hold its annual Christmas sale in the grand ballroom of the Drake next Tuesday from 10 until 5 o'clock. Among the novelties on sale will be gay milk mugs which play a tune the moment they are lifted from the table; saucy rag dolls with long Dream World Ruffian.

A teacher in a south side school requested her fourth grade pupils in English composition to write a letter to a mythical aunt, thanking her for a birthday gift recently received. The following letter was turned in by the quietest, meekest appearing boy in the class:

No one in the block has a tire or a window eather. So the police are after me. I enjoy shooting bird houses out of trees to. I shot a farmers horses and a cow to. GHOST WRITER'S LAMENT.

I can never boast
That I'm the toast
Of this terrific nation;
Thru life I'll coast,
A ghost at most,
That's my predestination!

Unconcerned.

Elsa Maxwell was telling some friends in the apartment of Vincent Sheean, author and war correspondent, at the Palmer House how she felt about the isolationist attitude.

" know," sympathized Sheean. "It's just like that of the man on a sinking ocean liner that struck a mine. 'I should worry,' he said. 'It's not my boat'."

Conductor's Pun.

Paul Breisach, the Hungarian conductor who made his American operatic debut last night in Aida, was watching a Carmen rehearsal Tuesday. It had been necessary to call the police department for horses, and eight of them were on the opera stage.

"How was that for a rehearsal?" said some one at the close.

"I'd say it was a re-horsal," punned Conductor Breisach.

Absent-Minded Reply.

An artist in an advertising agency high up in a Michigan avenue skyscraper had been working all morning on window displays when the telephone rang and a voice asked for another employé of the firm.

"He just stepped out the window," said the artist, his mind still on his work.

American Art Show Opens at Institute Today

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

The 51st annual exhibition of American paintings and sculpture opens this afternoon in the east wing galleries of the Art institute with a formal reception. Tomorrow the galleries will be open to the public and will continue to welcome visitors until Jan. 5, 1941.

The exhibition is a great success. The pictures give an impression of the best that is being done in contemporary painting and there has been a deliberate emphasis placed on sculpture.

For the first time in this show an entire gallery has been devoted to sculpture and in addition various attractive pieces in marble, bronze, wood, or stone are scattered thru the east wing.

No one this year can leave the institute with a dim appreciation of the chisel's art; the sculpture as a group is far too fine for anything dim. It is a gorgeous and interesting spectacle.

There are many beautiful paintings on the walls and these run from the choice little still life by Paul E. Beem, "The Cardinal, Church, and Angel," seen first at the Hoosier salon two or three years ago, the dramatic "Night Fire," by Clay Bartlett, and the romantic girl adrift, by John Carroll ["For Ships at Sea"], thru the gruesome surrealism of the hand in Federico Castellon's "The Invitation," to the calm beauty of Abram Poole's "Dancer in Pink."

One notices in the catalog the words "lent by" which is a great help in looking at the exhibit; it has always been a matter of interest as to which were the 100 pictures invited and which were the juried works. A hundred paintings and a small group of sculpture are present each year thru invitation.

The prize awards will be announced today at the reception. The Ada S. Garrett prize of $750 [a new prize] was awarded to "Razing Old Post Office, New York," by Ernest Fiene. The Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Logan Art institute medal and $500 went to a sculpture in alabaster by Hannah Small of Woodstock, "Curled Figure."

The Norman Wait Harris silver medal and $500 went to "Evicted," by Ann Brockman; the Norman Wait Harris bronze medal and $300 to "Bus Passengers," by Raphael Soyer. "Union Square, New York," by Sam Ostrowsky won the Bertha Aberle Florsheim memorial prize of $100.

"Main Street in Illinois," by Hermann Dyer, was given the M. V. Kohnstamm prize of $250. The delightful little Mexican street scene, "Sunday," by Ralph von Lehmden, a Chicago painter and a member of THE TRIBUNE art staff, was awarded the Martin B. Cahn prize of $100. "Mother and Child," by Edwin Boyd Johnson, won the William M. R. French memorial gold medal. Among those receiving honorable mention are Jerry Farnsworth, Maurice Ritman, and Samuel Cashwan.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

These are the melancholy days for women who treasure the whiteness and smoothness of their hands. The best weapon against the ravages of cold weather is a rich massage cream, used daily, supplemented by frequent applications of a good hand lotion.

All the women who dread cold weather because it disfigures their hands could do themselves a lot of good by starting on their winter hand care program right this minute. In this, as in all problems, prevention is a thousand times simpler than cure.

Hands that are prone to subsurface redness are a great trial. The cause is usually poor circulation, which isn't overcome in a day. General toning exercises are the best help, but local exercises for the hands aren't to be overlooked. Such simple little toners as shaking the hands, flexing the fingers vigorously and massaging the knuckles deeply are surprisingly effective. Pretending to play the piano hard and fast is another simple trick that improves the circulation and in addition helps keep the hands youthfully flexible.

Surface redness is something else again. It's a signal that the hand skin needs oiling and lots of it. Housewives should be particularly careful in cold weather to protect their hands as much as possible, to use bland soaps, and above all to dry their hands carefully after each washing. Stepping out on the porch a dozen times a day, with the hands wet, is a bad little bit of business that busy housewives indulge in too often.

Use a hand lotion during the day, by all means. But at night, if the skin is very tender and inclined to roughness, give your hands a more leisurely beauty treatment. Use the richest cream you can find, massage it in well and leave it on as long as you conveniently can. If you can wear mittens while you sleep, so much the better; if it gives you the fidgets to have your hands bound, wipe most of the cream off.

On the House

The plain, garden variety of wooden lattice, the sort you usually see used outside of a house, is now finding its way into homes which are informal—and homes where there's an unsightly view to hide. . . . This lattice, as a window screen, can be painted or lacquered to match the room color. . . . You cover up the window in a rather novel, attractive way by this treatment.

Children Beat Their Elders in Opening Clinic

Officially the new clinic of the Children's Memorial hospital opens tomorrow. Directors, trustees, physicians, the benevolent auxiliaries—1,400 guests in all—have been invited to come at 3 o'clock to inspect the five story brick building erected at the cost of $750,000 at 2342 Orchard street as a memorial to the late chairman of the hospital's board of directors, Thomas D. Jones, a Chicago attorney.

But the young patients have stolen a march on their elders. The children took over their new station two days ago when workers were still installing equipment, and Mrs. Babette Jennings, the clinic and social service department director, was getting her staff settled in the new quarters. Already almost every unit has been initiated into service; the clinic is well launched on its sizable job of alleviating aches and pains.

A model of scientific planning, the Jones building houses 80 examining rooms, X-ray laboratories, a pharmacy, a dental unit, a lecture auditorium that will seat 85 medical students, the hospital's record room, social service offices, and master file room, an orthopedic department, one of the three bronchoscopic departments in the city, and commodious waiting rooms. There also are rooms for minor surgery.

Walls inside the building are of cream colored, pebble glazed tile which reduces glare to a minimum, and also simplifies the cleaning problem. Woodwork thruout is in the soft, golden tone of natural birch.

With 240 patients a day to serve, and every child coming attended by one or two adults, traffic movement was given careful consideration in the building plan. Entrances and exits have been placed far apart to avoid bottle necks. Clinic patients will not come in contact with those from the hospital proper.

Founded in 1884 by Mrs. Julia F. Porter, the Children's Memorial hospital was known for many years as the Maurice Porter Memorial Hospital for Children, in memory of Mrs. Porter's son. In 1903, several gifts of land and money for new units having been received, the institution was reorganized and the name changed, with Mrs. Porter's consent. Some 88 per cent of the hospital's service is charity work.

Miss Mabel W. Binner is superintendent. John P. Wilson now serves as president of the hospital and Stanley Field, Albert Wetten, and A. A. Sprague are its vice presidents.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 13.—Hollywood, which has long been stewing over the radio attacks on the industry and its big shots by one G. Allison Phelps, is now boiling. Phelps has issued a pamphlet called "An American's History of Hollywood" which is comparable in a way to Henry Ford's ill famed old Dearborn Independent. . . . Gene Tierney, one of the loveliest youngsters to reach here from the Broadway stage, will play Ellie May, the girl with the hare lip, in 20th-Fox's screen version of "Tobacco Road." . . . In that studio's "Western Union" is a crowd scene showing some extras watching the posting of a billboard stating that Mrs. Leslie Carter and her husband, Louis Payne, will appear in Omaha in "Du Barry." One of the onlookers in the scene was Louis Payne himself.

Humphrey Bogart and his wife, Mayo Methot, were dining at Chasen's the other maid's night out and some one knocked a cigaret off their table onto the leather seat cushion beside Miss Methot. In the excitement of spotting a burn on the lady's dress nobody paid any attention to the cigaret.

A few moments later Mayo still smelled smoke. She called over the proprietor, suggesting that maybe a fire had been started inside the cushion. Dave laughed at her fears and the Bogarts went on home. But they still were worried and Humphrey called the restaurant from home. "I think that cushion is still on fire," he said.

"You think!" yelled Chasen. "We know. Harry Green just came in and sat down on it and we have to buy him a new set of pants!"

C. Chaplin is back in town with P. Goddard and friends say there is no trouble. . . . Anatole Litvak has been in Santa Monica hospital with flu. . . . Howard Hughes will make "The Outlaw" at the Goldwyn studios, with Goldwyn's pet cameraman, Gregg Toland, doing the filming. . . . Having decided that a special train is too slow, Columbia has chartered special planes to take junketeers to Tucson tomorrow for the opening of "Arizona." . . . Local previewers are enthusiastic over Claude Rains' performance as David Belasco in "The Lady with Red Hair." . . . There are 47 fight scenes in "The Sea Wolf." In the second, Alexander Knox blackened the eye of Barry Fitzgerald. In the third Knox sprained his ankle. After the fourth, on account of continuing on the ankle, he fainted.

The Warners' "Santa Fe Trail," due for a late December showing, will feature an improvement in sound projection which is declared to be remarkable in view of its small added cost. Permanent equipment for Walt Disney's Fantasound would run over $40,000 per theater.

Star of Opera Wins to Fame Denied Mother

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

Margit Bokor.

Years ago in a village near Budapest there lived a young woman with the glorious voice of Hungarian legend. That was the thought of all who heard her and thrilled to her songs. Vienna should hear her, they said, and London, and Rome, and Paris. And she dreamed of a great name in music, of fortune and fame.

But her father, a man of substance and solid ideas, said nonsense, he would have no daughter of his acting on a public stage, making a spectacle of herself. A woman's place, he scolded, was in the home. So the young woman married a well-to-do young man and settled down in the approved manner of family tradition. She reared six sons and one dark-eyed daughter.

The daughter, growing tall, lithe, and lovely, had her mother's extraordinary gift. But as adamant as her grandfather's had been was her father's opposition to a professional career. Every cultivated young lady, however, must know how to play the piano. So Margit Bokor studied the piano.

Finally her mother won permission for her to attend the Budapest academy. Denying his pretty daughter what she most wanted had been wearing poor Papa Bokor down. The academy was the wedge that proved his undoing. Singing lessons followed as a matter of course.

Fritz Busch, the distinguished conductor, heard the young soprano and engaged her to sing at the Royal opera in Dresden. Then came the world première of Richard Strauss' opera "Arabella," with the little Hungarian singing the double Zdenka-Zdenko rôle. Then, at the invitation of Clemnes Krauss, an engagement at the Vienna opera, and from Vienna to the Grand opera house in Paris.

And to highlight this happy career there were the Salzburg festivals.

Miss Bokor was singing in Rio de Janerio in Brazil when war broke in Europe. Instead of returning to France as she had intended, she accepted an invitation to sing in the United States. Chicago will hear her for the first time as Zerlina in "Don Giovanni." She will appear at the Civic Opera house Saturday afternoon with a cast that will include Ezio Pinza, Rose Bampton, Tito Schipa, Virgilio Lazzari and Kathryn Witwer.

INSTALMENT LII.

MURDERER.

"I see it perfectly," nodded the Inspector. "The vicar both here and at the pub had shown too dubious a concern over his brother's effects. You smelled a rat, Mr. Smedley, but saw the utter preposterousness of bringing a charge in the right quarter?"

"And continued to see it," said Stephen. "The corpse turned up, and this for a time muddied the issues. If Yalilee were judged guilty my idea would go down the drain. The poor blighter was cleared, so I was spared having to tell my most apocryphal tale with the certainty of no tangible results. On the face of it, what exactly was my theory worth? You're accepting it now only because the proof in black and white lies before you. Minus these letters and the fresh corpse you've collected you'd think now what you'd have thought yesterday—that I, the actual guilty party, was suffering a fit of conscience over allowing an innocent man to pay the penalty for my crime."

"That's so," agreed Sergeant Budworth warmly. "The whole show sounds a pipe dream to me. Take your part of it alone—walking back to this house and never knowing you'd done it!"

"Nonsense!" rapped Dr. Roach. "It's happened hundreds of times. Unconscious cerebration, or so we used to call it. Don't know the new jargon since the psychoanalysts took over. Dabney, didn't you——?"

Sergeant Dabney grinned. "Right, doctor, that night I got sloshed in Market Lane. Staggered along home to my lodgings, used my latch key, went to bed. If my landlady hadn't rowed me about having my boots on—well, even then it got a different interpretation."

Stephen resumed: "Miss Wilde will give you an account of an adventure she had the night she found the corpse in the cupboard. All I'll say is that when an individual sneaked into the house, typed instructions and threats on her typewriter and then slid them one by one under her locked door——"

"What!" shouted the Inspector. "You can't stop at that."

"Well, it proved, didn't it, that something incriminating did exist, and that this something was believed to be in her keeping? Very cleverly she stalled. Instead of handing out the goods and being strangled for her pains she shinned thru her window and sought protection with me. As she thought—only I happened to be conspicuously absent. See what that tended to suggest?"

Sergeant Dabney was eagerly whispering. The Inspector cut him short.

"That'll do, Dabney, I know. Miss Wilde never actually saw this person?"

"Never. And that circumstance had meaning. What if she had managed to raise an alarm? He might make off, but she'd have seen who he was. So the choice of criminals was again narrowed down to a very limited number of persons—at the utmost four, one being myself, two of them men I had good reason to rule out, while as matters stood Number Four would be the hardest of the lot to get anything against. In fact, I considered it to be absolutely impossible."

"You're telling me!" muttered young Budworth fervently. "And what gave you the luck to pick him at all?"

Stephen did not immediately answer. Perhaps, thought Rowan, he himself was up a tree. After all, wasn't it she and not he who had laid stress on the vicar's odd conduct? Stephen had scarcely commented on it, altho certain omissions at the inquest had seemed to interest him, while it was true he had emphasized the supreme difficulty of apprehending the right person. She had supposed him blinded by the vicar's gesture in thrusting Bertram Bogge out of his home. Obviously the Reverend Cyprian had been obliged to say he hadn't lent himself to some defrauding scheme, possibly in ignorance of its real heinousness. Finding himself caught up in dangerous toils he had put an end to his brother as the sole means of escape.

Shudders seized her as she felt again the stifling muffler plumped over eyes that might have seen too much. She grew faint anew from the brutal blow aimed to silence her till the assassin could take time to end her altogether.

"Why?" Stephen got out his pocket of Players. "Nine-tenths hunch, shall we say? Based on conversations with the victim, private hearsay which might prove unreliable, and just simple putting together of two and two. One-tenth a thing I happened to spot last Sunday morning, just after church service; but let that wait."

He puffed guardedly, leaving his audience in mid air.

"I knew Yallilee would get off," he said. "As a matter of fact, I ran into Constable Potter last night, and he told me about the eyewitnesses. Well! I made an early start, drove straight to London and when there put a few cogent questions in quarters I'd prefer not to specify. I got the answers—significant ones. Better still, I turned up back issues of the Times and by the best of luck lighted on this, in a November copy. It's badly reproduced, but the two figures in the foreground——"

"Stop!" The Inspector was on his feet, switching off the lamp. "Be quiet," he warned. "Don't stir!"

The fire flames danced on the ring of flabbergasted faces. Rowan on her sofa shook like a leaf.

From somewhere in the outer darkness there sounded a shuffling tread and a barely audible stumble. Feet were crossing the crazy flags, stealing round the near angle of the wall. Like a great obese tomcat Inspector Headcorn crept from the room and out the front door.

The cat pounced. A faint snarl, a struggle, and the Inspector reappeared, grimly thrusting in front of him some one who cringed, dodging eyes. Some one thickset, in sober suiting of iron gray, bicycle clips round neat, stout ankles.

"Oh!" Rowan sank back, her world spinning a reel.

"Sit down, Mr. Bogge," the Inspector ordered dryly. "What you are looking for is here. The man who beat you to it is now dead."

"Forbes?" The vicar licked his lips. "I—I've heard. But I—I understand he had been unsuccessful, and that this explained his——"

"The secretary! I was not referring to him. No, the individual we have just dragged out of the well is a bigger catch altogether."

The vicar went ashen. His stubbed hands warded off a blow.

"Not—you can't possibly mean——"

"Henry Bickers. Lord Romrytch of Struve, especial adviser to the ministries of finance and arms."

No one noticed the queer gurgle coming from the sofa against the wall. If Stephen were aware of Rowan's scarlet cheeks and dazed eyes he exhibited no sign.

The lamp was on again. It revealed Cyprian Bogge, shrunk together on the Cheraton chair, face hidden by working fingers. The Inspector ignored him, turning to the young man who seemed to dominate the scene.

"Photograph, eh? Let's have a look." He held the clipping to the light. "Humph . . . That will be his lordship, on the right of the chairman. Yes, and the guest at his elbow is his subsequent victim, Mr. Bertram Bogge. Where was this dinner staged? Kiev! Ukraine, that is."

Lovely Figure Demands Flat and Slim Abdominal Line

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Stand aside a bit at the next party you attend where guests stand around and see for yourself how many, many girls and women stand with their abdomens protruding more than a bit, anyway, not flattened as an abdomen should be.

Look over a teen age group, early teen age, and again see how many of the young women stand the same way, with curves where curves shouldn't be. Half the time, when youngsters are told to straighten up, mother's attention is called to the faulty posture by that protruding abdomen.

So, let's concentrate on that part of the anatomy with resolve to flatten the silhouette line in front. We know no better way of arriving at the truth of the abdominal status than viewing one's silhouette in profile. That makes you pull in if anything will. You see women on the avenue just after a glance in the store window, straightening up and giving themselves a better posture.

Make up your mind that if your tummy protrudes, it's because your abdominal muscles are relaxed, as they should NOT be. A girdle may help temporarily, for its first few wearings, say, but eventually the relaxed muscles spoil the garment line. An exercise suggestion is advanced for this figure fault by one of Hollywood's best instructors. It's to count 1, 2, 3, 4, as you walk to work, to market, around the house or anywhere, any time, and on count one pull the abdomen in until it hurts. Hold it in until the count of four. Then start again on count one, going on indefinitely.

—but why give-in to "REGULAR" PAIN?

"Don't you know about MIDOL?"

It's old-fashioned—giving up activities you enjoy and giving-in to the functional pain of menstruation. Midol has proved it to millions of women, and can probably prove it to you.

Midol is a new formula, made for its special purpose. It contains no opiates. One effective ingredient is prescribed frequently by many doctors. Another ingredient, exclusively in Midol, increases the comforting effect by reducing spasmodic pain peculiar to the menstrual period.

Unless they have some organic disorder needing medical or surgical care, most women who try Midol enjoy welcome relief. Why don't you try it? If "regular" pain isn't eased, consult your doctor. Get Midol at any drugstore. Five tablets, more than enough for a convincing trial, only 20¢; 12 tablets, 40¢.

1940 Woollies Thin as Gauze but So Warm

BY REA SEEGER.

Come the first serious blast of winter weather and every one hustles into the soft, warm comfort of wool and cotton flannel. This means nightgowns, pajamas, and snug winter lingerie formerly classified as "red and pink woollies." No longer a subject for jest, these woollies are included in the smartest winter wardrobes.

Football enthusiasts tried these briefly cut featherweight woolen underlayers and survived the coldest day, warm as toast. After that any sales resistance melted away to nothing. Nowadays, every one wears such comfortables and thanks the gods of fashion that such heating units are not the old fashioned kind—thick, scratchy, and bulky. Nineteen-forty models are thin as gauze.

And, lest you decide that just the feminine half of the populace have gone woolen, we hasten to proclaim that such wild red woolen finds are plentiful in the men's shops and stores. We're all either developing a sissy soft streak or else we're parking a lot of biased opinions of just how much exposure we can take without shivering every minute we're out of doors.

Woolly nightgowns come in the fleecy soft cotton flannels with either short or long sleeves. Priced around $2, they are slick buys for the money. White, flesh, pink, peach, or pastel blue, they're cut with bias skirts that achieve a princess silhouette, tailored bodice tops, and scalloped trim.

For a slightly larger sum you can have the newest, thinnest, and warmest of challis nightgowns [also short or long sleeves], with either lace trim or braid trim. Cotton flannel sleeping pajamas come in candy striped pink and blue with white, with a few checks also available. Sleeves are long. In some the backs of the tops are cut like a man's sport jacket with a sewed-on tie belt. These, too, have the $2 price ticket.

It's November, yes, and winter is approaching, but there are almost as many fresh vegetables in the markets as there were at midsummer. Most of them are fall vegetables, the squashes, the "Jerusalem" or American artichokes, the rutabagas and turnips. But many of summer's favorite vegetables are there, too, green beans, peas, eggplant and spinach, to name a few.

As an aid to November menu planning, here is a partial list of the vegetables now available, with suggestions about how to serve them. More complete information will be found in "Ways with Vegetables," a mimeographed booklet which sells for 7 cents in stamps, by mail.

NOVEMBER'S VEGETABLES.

ARTICHOKES: These fall vegetables aren't related to the green French artichokes of spring. They are tubers and look something like potatoes. Slice them raw into salads, boil and butter them, or serve them creamed.

BEANS: Green and yellow beans both are available. Cook them whole or cut and add seasonings, lemon juice and butter. Or cream them. Marinate cooked beans in French dressing and add grated onion and crisp celery, for salad.

BEETS: Boil them until tender, slice, and add "Harvard" sauce or orange juice. Or serve them buttered, with a dash of lemon juice or vinegar.

BROCCOLI: Avoid overcooking it. Best with Hollandaise sauce, but excellent also creamed or buttered.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS: Avoid overcooking these little green cabbages. Serve them in cheese sauce.

CAULIFLOWER: Cook the head whole and add egg sauce, cheese sauce or tomato sauce. Or serve it buttered, creamed or French fried. Good also raw, in salads.

CABBAGE, RED OR GREEN: Serve hot and buttered. Add a little lemon juice or vinegar to the cooking water for red cabbage. Serve cabbage salads often.

CELERY CABBAGE: Good as a salad vegetable, also creamed.

CHICORY: Make salads of it often, but don't forget how good it is cooked as greens.

EGGPLANT: Stuff and bake it, or slice and broil or deep fat fry it.

LEEKS: They're good buttered, but delicious creamed or in soup.

MUSHROOMS: Broil or cream them.

PARSNIPS: [illegible] them and then brown in butter.

PEAS: If they're young and tender, butter them, if older, cream them or make soups.

RUTABAGAS, TURNIPS: Scallop them with buttered crumbs, or mash or butter them. Don't overcook.

SPINACH: Try making a spinach ring to fill with a creamed vegetable.

SQUASH: Bake or steam the hard shelled ones and serve with butter and seasonings, or mashed. There are still patty pans available for boiling and serving with butter, salt and pepper.

Architect Can Build Aids to Sleep in Home

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

If you, or any of your family, find it hard to get to sleep at night it may be that some simple home recipes for better sleep will turn the trick.

Architects, interior decorators, furniture designers, and manufacturers know a great deal on this subject of home design and equipment for sounder rest, but often the restless toss and tumble and take to store-bought slumber aids just because they haven't thought to seek the advice of experts.

They haven't inquired on modern ways to make a house quieter or a bedroom more sleep inducing, investigated mattresses and springs, checked on proper size of sheets and weight of blankets. So many different factors play a deciding part when it comes to getting maximum sleep potentialities underneath our rooftops.

You may not be so sensitive to noise that you need a specially constructed soundproof sleeping room, [and it's lucky for most of us we haven't reached that stage] but if you are buying a site for a new home it's common sense to choose a location that is fairly quiet. Heavy traffic won't woo sleep. If you are near a fire station or a school or a night club you may rest soundly in spite of it, but not because of it.

If any of your family has trouble getting to sleep he will thank your architect or builder for a solidly constructed house: for stairs that don't squeak, floors that don't creak and windows and shutters that don't rattle and bang.

If you are building or remodeling you can consult with your architect on the more silent modern plumbing, on sound deadening of pipes, on insulation to keep out noises and window placement in bedrooms to attract the coolest breezes in summer. All these are slumber aids and better for you than the sort you buy across a counter.

In working toward the achievement of more sound resistant homes, architects strive to keep sounds from entering a house, and also prevent sounds from traveling blithely from room to room.

Many of the new homes show layouts designed especially to segregate noisy zones from quiet ones, and recreation centers from sleeping quarters.

Where early morning sounds from the outside disturb a family member, there are window ventilators to help deflect the sounds. If noises from hallway and other rooms seep into a bedroom the doors can be weatherstripped to make the room a little quieter. If the east sun proves too much of an awakener Venetian blinds will help, and if a shiny glass window ventilator reflects the morning glare it can be painted to make the glass opaque.

Experts tell us that horizontal stripes in wall paper are more sleep inviting than vertical ones and wider pictures to be preferred to those that are high. Wall colors which are off the bright shades are restful, and green and blue are supposed to be sleep enticing.

A good innerspring mattress which rests on the right sort of a spring has been known to put to flight for all time acute insomnia in some family member. Sheets that are a little too large instead of a little too small and blankets that are warm and light instead of warm and heavy are likewise sleep inducers.

If a bedroom must be used for visiting and study, radio and smoking, it is a good plan to call a halt to all activities an hour before bedtime. In this way the room can be ventilated and a more peaceful atmosphere created.

Proper lighting plays its part, too, when it comes to getting maximum sleep out of the night hours.

One Physical Defect Often Hinders Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.
[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

How is school going? No so well?

So far we've said: Look around you at home for the reason; scrutinize the state of affairs at school; and consider your child's physical condition, since nothing goes really well if a child isn't fit.

But in this last connection there's one kind of thing I didn't mention. That is, that there may be something wrong with those organs that a child uses directly in his school work. His speech, his hearing, or his sight.

Of these three, sight is vital. If a child doesn't see well, or if seeing involves constant strain, how can we expect him to do his school work adequately?

But instead of discussing this with you as myself, I want to quote from statements made under the auspices of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness. Some of these give facts not familiar to the average mother or father, and even the average teacher.

"When a baby is born all he can see is light. After a few weeks he begins to try to look at things. At first his two eyes do not work together very well, so that he has difficulty in making them both look at the same object at the same time. Gradually teamwork between the eyes begins to develop and by the time the baby is a year old the habit of using the two eyes together to look at one object should be well established.

"This habit is a very important one, because two eyed vision is necessary to the best sight. Without it it is hard to judge distances, a very important factor in these days of automobiles!

"Children's eyes are best adapted to distant sight. At close range they can see detailed objects clearly with little effort for a short time, but long periods of close eye work make them tired and irritable. This is because their eyes are farsighted and not adapted to prolonged close work, such as reading.

"Farsightedness being the natural state in children does not usually need correction. Instead school programs are planned with this in mind. Periods of close work alternate with activities in which the children use their eyes to look at distant objects, such as looking at the blackboard, playing games and looking out the window."

LAST THURSDAY'S QUESTIONS.

Question 38: Both sides vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	1 spade	Pass
2 hearts	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	4 spades	Pass

You are South, and hold:
♠42 ♥AQJ863 ♦53 ♣AJ8

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. You have already told your full story. North obviously has a strong spade-diamond two suiter and an acute dislike of hearts. With the strength implied by his jump diamond bid, North probably would have jumped the bidding on the first round if he had had any sort of fit with your suit. You can stand four spades with your hand and have no right to experiment with any further bidding [20 points demerit for five hearts or four no trump; 30 points for five clubs or five diamonds; 40 points for five spades; 50 points for any higher bid.]

Question 39: Neither side vulnerable, the bidding proceeds:

North	East	South	West
4 spades	Pass	?

You are South, and hold:
♠A6532 ♥A104 ♦K83 ♣Q4

What call do you make?

Answer: Pass. North's preëmptive bid would be justified with as few as seven winners, altho, of course, he may hold eight. Hence your strength will be required to fulfill the contract, and there is no good ground for you to hope for a slam. [20 points demerit for five spades; 25 points for four no trump; 30 points for any higher bid].

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
1 no trump	2 diamonds	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

West's double on a hand containing only two face cards was based on his certainty that his side was better off than the opponents at a diamond contract. His partner had announced four honor tricks and he had one. With five honor tricks in the combined hands, the opponents could have four at most. West had four diamonds and his partner had shown three by the no trump bid; his side, therefore, had seven diamonds, to six for the opponents. West knew, furthermore, that a game at no trump was very unlikely to be successful, whereas the penalty South would suffer at two diamonds would adequately compensate for the loss of a part score.

Had North rescued at three clubs, the partnership might have saved a trick in the play, but such a bid would have been a leap in the dark.

West opened the nine of hearts, dummy covered with the jack, and East won with the king. The jack of spades was returned, South ducked, and West overtook with the queen to continue the hearts. On winning with the ace of hearts, East promptly cashed the 10 and led another spade. South put up the ace and led a club. East won with the queen of clubs and led his last spade, West winning with the king. A club was returned to East's ace, and at this point South's hand had been stripped of all cards except trumps. The 13th heart was led thru, and no matter how he played, South was bound to lose two trump tricks. In all, he took only three trumps and the ace of spades, for the substantial penalty of 700 points.

Universal day—Telephone, shop, and be active.

Birthdays—The following have birthdays today: Jack Oakie, Morton Downey, and Dick Powell, and so all three are entering a period when practical issues will be important. They should resign themselves to hard work and take routine and regulations with a smile. This is going to be rather difficult for Mr. Oakie, whose restless nature doesn't take kindly to restrictions.

If this is your birthday you, too, may expect less fun and more stern realities than in the past year. Keep your feet on the ground.

WILSON'S Thanksgiving HELPS

Because Thanksgiving has a bad habit of swooping down on homemakers before they're quite ready, I suggest that it isn't a bit too soon to start planning your turkey dinner. You might, in fact, thumbtack this column up in your kitchen and then watch for the Wilson Column early next week in which your correspondent gives you further hints on how to turn out a brilliantly successful feast for your family and guests.

Food Consultant, Wilson & Co.

Thanksgiving Hints to Remember

A new note for your turkey is to serve it on slices of Wilson's Tender Made Ham. Dee-licious!

Stuffing the turkey at least a day ahead makes for better flavor and leaves you with a fuss-free holiday.

CUT—DON'T MELT—BUTTER

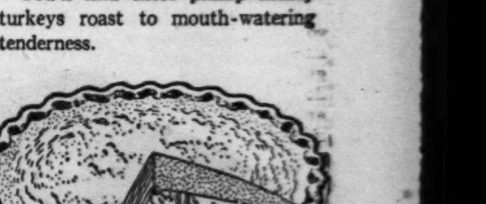
For lighter, fluffier dressing, cut the butter into marble-sized pieces and toss it through the bread crumbs with two forks. The flavor of the butter is important. Use a delicately flavored butter like Clear Brook.

GOOD-BYE, MR. COVER

I have always found that it is better to roast a turkey in an open roaster. Use a moderate (350° F.) oven and bake slowly.

And to protect your reputation as a fine cook, order Wilson's Certified Turkeys. It is not too early to order one now from your dealer.

You'll find these plump meaty turkeys roast to mouth-watering tenderness.



OLD-FASHIONED PUMPKIN PIE

We found at Rector's, that when it came to Thanksgiving desserts, the sophisticates forsook all others for

Pumpkin Pie a La Rector

Cut ¾ cup Wilson's Certified All-Purpose Shortening into 2½ cups of sifted cake flour. Dissolve 1 teaspoon salt in about ¼ cup cold water and add to flour mixture, stirring with a fork until the mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Roll out half of this recipe and line a pie dish. Bake partially about 8 minutes. Fill with your favorite pumpkin pie filling and bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) for one hour.

N. B. Better make two pies while you are at it. And may friends and family make it a happy day!

WILDCATS FIGHT FOR 2D PLACE AT ANN ARBOR

Wolverines' Defense N. U.'s Main Worry.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Northwestern meets Michigan in Ann Arbor Saturday, in what probably will be a battle for second place in the final Western conference standings, considerably perturbed over the strength of the Wolverines' defenses. The Wildcats are not ignoring Tom Harmon, premier ball carrier of the Big Nine, but they are more concerned with plans to penetrate the Michigan line.

Unless Minnesota complicates the conclusion of the race by losing to Purdue or Wisconsin, Northwestern will gain undisputed possession of second place by whipping Michigan. The Wildcats end their conference season Saturday and complete their schedule the following week against Notre Dame. If Michigan defeats Northwestern then the Wolverines also must defeat Ohio State in Columbus Nov. 23 to secure second place in the conference.

Comparison of Defenses.

As usual, Northwestern's line will be outweighed, but the average difference from end to end is only nine pounds. Both Michigan and Northwestern are short of replacements in the line. But the Wildcats' major worry concerns Michigan's defense. Every opponent except Syracuse has scored on Northwestern, while only Michigan State and Minnesota have scored on Michigan. Then, too, Northwestern has permitted opponents an average of 199 yards per game while Michigan has held her conference opponents to 138 yards per game.

There are two explanations for Michigan's fine defensive showing. The weather and Michigan's own attack combined to handcuff Illinois and Minnesota, the Wolverines' Big Nine opponents. The other reason is the performance of Bob Ingalls and Bob Westfall, who back up Michigan's six man line. They are rated by Northwestern's coaches as the best pair of secondary defenders in the conference.

Rain Helps Michigan's Record.

The Michigan-Illinois game was played in a steady drizzle of rain which seriously handicapped the Illini passing attack. Rain helped stop Minnesota last Saturday and anyway the Gophers, in the second half, were intent on defense of their one point lead and were not trying to pile up yardage and first downs.

Michigan's own attack also limited the number of times Illinois and Minnesota had the ball. For instance, in the Michigan-Illinois game, the Illini had only six plays from scrimmage in more than 20 minutes. These were: two kicks, one incompleted pass, and three line plays that gained a net of one yard. In this time Michigan scored three touchdowns. In the Michigan-Minnesota game, the Wolverines' persistent attack ran up at one time nearly 80 plays to 40 permitted Minnesota.

N. U. Has Closing Punch.

Northwestern's assets are a spirit which has produced several winning fourth period rallies and a running and passing attack centered around Ollie Hahnenstein. Hahnenstein now leads the conference in total offense, a gain of 422 yards, 20 yards more than the distance gained by Minnesota's Bruce Smith. However, Hahnenstein has had the advantage of an extra conference game and Smith should take the leadership in the remaining games against Purdue and Wisconsin. Hahnenstein is in fourth place in the Big Nine in rushing and third in passing, having completed seven passes in 16 attempts.

Northwestern's team spirit was rewarded with decisive fourth period touchdowns against Ohio State, Indiana, and Illinois. The Wildcats have scored in the fourth period in every game this fall, making 58 of their 97 points in five conference games, in this period by adding the point after the touchdown they might have tied Minnesota by a fourth quarter touchdown. Fourth period scoring follows: Ohio State, 6; Wisconsin, 13; Indiana, 14; Minnesota, 6; Illinois, 19.

De Correvont Is Ready.

Northwestern will have Bill De Correvont, injured in the Indiana game three weeks ago, and Paul Soper ready to relieve Hahnenstein. This team strength may offset Harmon's individual brilliance. De Correvont is handicapped by lack of practice, however, and needs competition to regain confidence and form.

The individual rushing statistics of the Northwestern backs for five conference games follow:

	Carried.	Yds. gained.	Av.
Ike Kepford, r. h.	11	55	5.0
Ollie Hahnenstein, l. h.	42	219	5.2
George Benson, f. b.	38	162	4.2
Paul Soper, l. h.	37	148	4.0
Bill De Correvont, l. h.	37	129	3.5
Don Clawson, f b.	51	164	3.2
Floyd Chambers, r. h.	25	67	2.6

A comparison of Northwestern's team statistics with those of five conference opponents [Ohio State, Wisconsin, Indiana, Minnesota, and Illinois] follows:

	Northwestern.	Opponents.
First downs	56	57
Yards rushing	943	642
Yards passing	194	367
Passes attempted	34	80
Passes completed	15	28
Passes intercepted by	14	4

IRISH WORKOUTS BUILD PLANS TO STOP BILL GREEN

Osterman May Not Play; Juzwik Takes It Easy.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special]. —Plans for bottling Bill Green of Iowa and work on new offensive maneuvers occupied Notre Dame's football squad today in preparation for Saturday's game with Iowa here.

Altho the Hawkeyes have lost four of their six games to date, they were beaten only 14 to 6 by a powerful Nebraska team Saturday, and they have scored in every game. The recent Irish slump against Army and Navy, both of which were defeated by one touchdown margins, make a close battle likely.

Green, whom many of the Notre Dame line men rate the hardest back to handle that they faced last year, is tied with George Franck of Minnesota for the conference scoring lead.

Three Players Hurt.

Coach Elmer Layden was not sure today that Bob Osterman, center; Paul Lillis, right tackle, and Steve Juzwik, right half back, would be able to start, with Osterman's status in doubt more than the others. Juzwik was banged up in the Navy game and aggravated a couple of bruises in yesterday's workout. He was held out of today's contact work.

The ticket sale indicates a crowd of 50,000. There will be about 6,000 seats available at the stadium Saturday.

IOWA POLISHES PLAYS.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 13 [Special].—Iowa's football players got their first full workout of the week today as Coach Eddie Anderson took advantage of a break in the weather and sent the squad thru a long offensive and defensive session in preparation for Saturday's game at Notre Dame.

Ray Murphy, crashing full back who was injured in the Minnesota game, was out for practice, but did not participate in the entire drill. Altho his condition is still doubtful, team physicians were optimistic about his chances of seeing action.

Burdell Gilleard, right half back, showed up with a leg injury that may keep him from action against the Irish. Gilleard came out for practice, but was forced to retire early and undergo treatment. Sophomore Bernard Mertes and Veteran Bill Gallagher worked out in Gilleard's spot.

Astroth Stays at Quarter in Illinois Lineup

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 13 [Special].—Liz Astroth continued at quarter back today in place of Ralph Ehni as Coach Bob Zuppke put the Illini thru a dummy scrimmage. Fear is felt that Ehni will be unable to play against Ohio State here Saturday. He is nursing an injury sustained in the Northwestern game. Astroth was broken in at quarter back earlier this season, but was soon returned to his old position at right half back.

With the exception of Ehni the Illini are in good condition. Zuppke's maneuvers indicated he will adhere to his recent starting lineups with Bob Cherry at center.

OHIO STATE IN SHAPE.

Columbus, O., Nov. 13 [Special].—Admittedly in better physical condition than at any time since the Pittsburgh game opening the season, Ohio State's football squad today continued light workouts in preparation for the Saturday encounter with Illinois in Champaign. Quarter Back Don Scott was the only missing player today. He has been bothered with a stomach ailment, but it is believed he will be fit for service if needed against Illinois. Coach Francis Schmidt indicated he may decide to start Sexton at quarter, with Full Back Jim Langhurst calling signals.

Tomorrow the Scarlet will hold the last drill at home before leaving Friday morning for Illinois. At the same time Ohio State's polo and cross-country teams will take off for engagements with the Illini.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

PRESIDENT EDWARD C. ELLIOTT of Purdue university, addressing the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities at their annual conference in Bloomington [Ind.]: "I have spent 20 working hours of the last 30 days considering requests for tickets on the 50 yard line for the Indiana-Purdue game in Lafayette Nov. 23." . . . This will have a familiar ring to coaches, college publicity directors, and sports editors. . . . Notre Dame and Navy might have tied or broken the attendance record for Baltimore's Municipal stadium last Saturday if the architects hadn't taken a hand. . . . Shortly after Army and Navy played to 84,000 there in 1924, the capacity was reduced to 63,216. . . . That number was snapped up three days before the Irish-Middie battle. . . . The wartime ruling that all hockey players from the Dominion must send their salaries to Canada, except $25 for single men and $50 for family heads is said to have reduced the famous Blackhawk poker game to a battle for pennies and slugs. . . . Competition is keen in the Rocky Mountain conference. . . . Three of the schools never have won undisputed football championships. . . . Coach Wallace Wade has some of his stars wondering whether they will get in enough play this fall to win their varsity letters. . . . Against Georgia Tech, Wade used his first string for only 10 minutes and still Duke won, 41 to 7. . . . Ole Snyder of Billings, Mont., has devised a family style bowling ball with the holes spaced so either a man or woman can use it.

University of California, which claims to have originated the colored card stunt for between halves of football games, has a student rooting section ranging from 6,000 to 10,000. . . . They manipulate an average of 40,000 cards at a single game. . . . Since Glenn [Pop] Warner became advisory football coach at San José State, the team has won 21 games while losing only one. . . . Dinty Doyle, newspaperman, columnist, and press agent who has commuted between New York and San Francisco five times in swapping jobs the last few years, resigned as St. Mary's public relations counsel after publicizing the Gaels for the Fordham game. . . . He now is executive secretary for the Radio Editors of America. . . . Thirty of Auburn's 51 football players are sophomores. . . . Jack Zeller, general manager of the Tigers, made a wager last spring that the club would score an average of six runs a game in 1940. . . . Unofficial figures show that he lost by a fractional margin. . . . The Tigers scored a total of 888 runs in 154 contests for an average of 5.7. . . . Buck Newsom has gone to work in the promotional department of a Detroit baking firm. . . . His duties require him to appear at banquets and other public gatherings in the interests of his employer's products. . . . An elevator operates between the stewards' stand and ground level at the Laurel [Md.] track. . . . Thus, when a jockey claims a foul, or is accused of committing one, he can be called on the carpet while his memory still is fresh.

The Sea Was Singing.

Day after day the changeless surf unfurls
White crested waves that roll upon the shore
And ripple o'er the sand. The ocean whirls
And gathers up new rhythms from its store
Of wild, mysterious forces — once again
White bubbles gleam upon the waving crest,
Which sprays me with a light and reckless rain
That stirs nostalgia within my breast.
Then gently in my ears like some old song,
The murmurs rising from the restless sea
Are softly heard—and suddenly I long
With all my soul to have you here with me.
For this is marked "most urgent" on my heart—
The sea was singing: "Lovers—never part!"

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Cecil Yates of Chicago and Torchy Peden of Victoria, B. C., riding as the American team, last night got around to ousting Charley Bergna and Angelo DeBacco, the Italian team, from the lead of the six day bike race in Chicago Stadium. Bergna and DeBacco had grabbed the lead Sunday night and with youthful perseverance had stood off their better known seniors in the race, at the same time perplexing the form players.

Last night's whirl show had a post-election flavor, being dedicated to George F. Barrett, attorney-general elect, who is sponsor of a Chicago cycling club. Among Mr. Barrett's guests were Governor Elect Dwight Green, who made a speech and also came up with $25 prize for the winner of a two mile sprint. The prize was won by Rene Cyr. Lieutenant Governor Elect Hugh Cross also put up $25 for a sprint, won by Bill Anderson. Mr. Barrett gave sprint prizes totaling $100.

Remain in Mileage Tie.

Tho Yates-Torchy Peden took the lead, they remained in a mileage tie with Bergna-De Bacco. The former team was ahead by virtue of 416 sprint points as against 274 won by Bergna-De Bacco.

Also tied for the mileage lead were Doug Peden and Archie Bollaert, who had entered the night's jousting in second place.

During the afternoon jamming yesterday Maj. Domo Harry Mendel of the race became ecstatic when ill feeling raised its beautiful head among the rival artists. Gerard Debaets and his partner, Jerry Rodman became ambitious for a place in the calcium's glare, but claimed that other competitors were behaving in a spiteful manner.

Pair Threaten Reprisal.

The two thwarted performers screamed they weren't being done right by and Mr. Mendel pretended to be sympathetic, but confessed privately that he was elated over the outcropping of ill will. Thru the years, 'tis said, Mr. Mendel has observed that bad blood makes for good cycling. Of course, Mr. Mendel doesn't like to see riders tossed into the balconies, on account of danger to the paying customers, who might come back another night.

Nevertheless, viciousness on the track is welcome, and at press time high hopes were being entertained that Debaets and Rodman would make good their reprisal threats.

WIEMAN EXPLAINS 2 SUSPENSIONS ON PRINCETON TEAM

Princeton, N. J., Nov. 13 [Special]. —Rumors that dissension had arisen on the Princeton football squad were denied tonight by Coach Tad Wieman. The rumors spread when it became known that Jim Aubrey and Thacher Longstreth, senior ends, had been suspended.

"Aubrey and Longstreth were suspended because of insubordination to the best interest of the team," Wieman said. "The suspension was effected with the approval of the squad and there is no question at all of dissension among the players."

Aubrey was suspended on Oct. 28 after the Rutgers game. Longstreth was dropped last week because of an infraction of the training rules when the team was in Cambridge to play Harvard.

Battery 'Root and Hartnett' at Trail's End

The dismissal of Gabby Hartnett as manager of the Cubs will break up the oldest battery combination in baseball—Charley Root and Hartnett. They have been teammates since 1926 when Root joined the Cubs. Hartnett's first year with the Cubs was 1922, but he did not become a regular until two years later. The battery was temporarily interrupted in 1929 when Hartnett's arm went dead. He appeared only as a pinch hitter that season. Hartnett's complete playing record with the Cubs follows:

PACKERS TAKE OFF TODAY FOR NEW YORK GAME

The Green Bay Packers, helped along in the defense of their National Football league championship by the defeat of the Bears last week, will arrive in the loop at noon today and leave immediately on two chartered United Airline planes for New York, where they play the Giants on Sunday.

Inadequate landing facilities for the giant air lines in Green Bay makes it necessary for the Packers to come here by train. They will take off from Chicago Airport at 12:30 and arrive in New York in time for dinner. The return flight will be made Monday morning.

The Bears, working long and diligently in the Broadway armory for the last two days, will leave by train tomorrow for Washington where they will attempt to prevent the Packers from entering a tie for first place in the western division by beating the Redskins, leaders of the eastern division race. Ray Bray, husky guard, will be the only player unable to make the trip, which will find the Bears in the best condition of the season, physically.

Zivic Finishes Training for Battle with Davis

New York, Nov. 13 [Special].—Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh, who holds the world welterweight championship, today concluded training for his 10 round nontitle meeting Friday night in Madison Square Garden against Al Davis, Brownsville contender. Zivic is favored to win at 5 to 7.

REPORT WILSON OR MEYER TO BE NEW CUB PILOT

Dismissal Surprise to Gabby.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

A few words from P. K. Wrigley, president-owner of the Cubs, yesterday wrote finis to the Chicago phase of Charles Leo [Gabby] Hartnett's baseball career. With a suddenness that was a shock even for Hartnett, the owner of the Cubs declared vacant the managerial post, held by Gabby since July of 1938.

The dismissal order was issued in the form of a typewritten statement which pointed out that several men, now engaged in baseball, are under consideration. But Wrigley successfully fought off a barrage of questions aimed at uncovering a clue as to the identity of the candidate.

"The new man will be picked as quickly as possible," promised Wrigley, who added that plans call for a revised front office setup, which will bring a new club president, a vice president, or both into office.

Rumors Prompt Action.

While it was generally known for a week that Hartnett would not be reappointed when his present managerial contract expires Dec. 31, Wrigley admitted yesterday he had not definitely made up his mind until the night previous.

Recurrence of rumors naming various fellows for Hartnett's position prompted his decision to act. One of these rumors reached the Cub owner Tuesday evening at home while he was turning the subject over in his mind. This rumor, originating in Cincinnati, claimed that Jimmy Wilson, who paid a surprise visit to Chicago last week, had already reached an agreement whereby he would be transferred from the world champion Reds to the Cubs.

Wrigley repeated yesterday he did not see Wilson while the veteran catcher-coach was in Chicago, but it is possible that Clarence Rowland, the Cubs' ambassador without portfolio, discussed the move both with Wilson and the Cincinnati club during the world series.

Billy Herman Not on List.

No present Cubs are included in the list of men being considered as Hartnett's successor, thus automatically eliminating Second Baseman Billy Herman.

"We have tried men from the ranks, but it hasn't worked out satisfactorily," said Wrigley.

Then when the name of Wilson was brought back into the conversation and tied to an opinion that "he'd make a good manager," Wrigley remarked, significantly, "I think so, too."

Another rumored candidate is Billy Meyer, Kansas City manager, who a few days ago was given permission by his employers, the New York Yankees, to shop around for a big league job. Meyer, who lives on a farm near Knoxville, Tenn., refused to comment. In connection with Meyer's name, Wrigley revealed only that there are major and minor leaguers on the list.

Summoned by Wrigley.

Hartnett was summoned to the Cubs' office yesterday morning to receive word that he was thru as manager and that his Cub career which started in the spring of 1922 would terminate as soon as waivers had cleared thru the National league office. If there are no claimants for his services Gabby will be given his unconditional release. He expressed a determination to remain in baseball, if possible.

Following the Wrigley-Hartnett conference the newspapermen were handed the following prepared statement:

"Gabby Hartnett's contract as manager of the Cubs will not be renewed when it expires Dec. 31.

"We are announcing this decision now, as soon as we know it ourselves, both out of fairness to Hartnett and because we believe the fans expect and are entitled to know what's what about their ball club.

Aims to Rebuild Organization.

"The success or failure of the club does not depend on any one person, but rather on getting the right combination, both on the team and thruout the entire organization. We are not blaming Hartnett—he had done everything he could, but we feel it is up to us to try and keep on trying to get the best possible combination of personnel to produce the best possible results. We may be wrong but at least we are trying.

"Several names are under consideration for the position of Cub manager in 1941. All the men we would like are under contract and their names cannot be discussed until we have made definite arrangements with them and their present employers. PHILIP K. WRIGLEY."

Wrigley May Keep Post.

In connection with contemplated changes in the front office setup Wrigley refused to go into detail. He announced recently he was figuring on stepping out of the presidency, feeling that under his direction the club's affairs hadn't progressed. He

Badgers Try to Brace Up Weak Center

Madison, Wis., Nov. 13 [Special].—Ray Kreick, formerly an end, probably will start against Indiana at the center position, one of the weak spots in the Badgers' forward wall all season, Coach Harry Stuhldreher indicated today as he sent the varsity thru a long drill against Indiana's passing attack.

Kreick is big and rugged and is fitting himself rapidly into the center job, to which he was shifted about a week ago to bolster Fred Ladewig, Bob Henry and Bob McKay.

Altho several of the players, including Full Back George Paskvan, Guard Dick Embick, and End Al Lorenz, still are below par because of leg injuries, Stuhldreher hopes to have the full squad available for Indiana with the exceptions of Paul Hirsbrunner, sophomore tackle from Darlington, and Cliff Philip, senior left end from Libertyville, Ill.

INDIANA RUNS PLAYS.

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special].—Indiana's running attack, which played second fiddle to the aerial offensive in total yardage gained against Michigan State last week, was given preference today in practice for Saturday's game at Wisconsin.

Coach Bo McMillin made no change in the back field personnel, continuing to use alternately Bob White, Tuffy Brooks, and Bob Doloway at right half, Hal Hursh and Mickey McGuire at left half, Dale Swihart and Red Zimmer at quarter back, and Joe Tofil and Ray Dumke at full back.

An injury to veteran Dwight Gahm necessitated a shift at the center position where the Hoosiers are weak in replacements. Walter Jurkiewicz temporarily took over this post.

HAMMOND WINS; PLAYS WALLACE IN TITLE BATTLE

Hammond and Lew Wallace of Gary will clash tomorrow night in Hammond for the western division championship of the Northern Indiana High School Football conference.

The title playoff game became a necessity yesterday when Hammond rolled over Hammond Tech, 20 to 7, to complete its conference schedule with five victories and a tie, the same record as compiled by Lew Wallace.

Hammond punched across two touchdowns in the second quarter and collected a third early in the third period, after which the reserves yielded one touchdown.

Wistert to Play for Wolverines Against Purple

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 13 (AP).—Michigan's football picture brightened today with the return of Tom Harmon to practice and news that Al Wistert, brilliant 210 pound sophomore tackle, would be ready to play Saturday in the final home game against Northwestern.

Harmon, who spent the last two nights in a hospital for treatment of a bruised leg, took an active part in the drill. Wistert has complained of headaches since injured in last week's game with Minnesota, but doctors said they could find no evidence of concussion.

The varsity spent part of today's practice watching reserves run thru Northwestern formations and then devoted time to a continued polishing of the offensive.

Foot of Snow Keeps Gophers Inside Again

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 13 [Special].—There was snow a foot deep on Northrop field today. But Minnesota's preparations for its final home game of the season, against Purdue here Saturday, went on uninterrupted.

For the third straight day, the Gophers worked out in the spacious fieldhouse. Perfection of plays given for but not used in the mud against Michigan and defense against Purdue's passing game featured the drill. The squad was in fine physical and mental fettle.

Possibly 13 players will be making their final home appearance Saturday. Certainties are: Bill Knusisto, Bob Bjorklund, Bill Johnson, Bob Paffrath, George Franck, Tom Riley, Ed Steinbauer, Joe Jamik, and Bob Kolliner. Four others, Gene Flick, Helge Pukema, Jim Shearer, and John Bartelt, have another year of competition, but may decide to graduate next June.

PURDUE'S SPIRITS HIGH.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 13 [Special.]—Purdue's football squad raced thru one of its most spirited drills of the season as the Boilermakers virtually completed preparations for the invasion of Minnesota.

The Boilermakers, more determined than downcast by recent games in which scores haven't matched performance, apparently had their full speed once again, with Mike Byelene back at right half back. Emphasis was placed on the perfection of a deceptive aerial attack.

The squad will leave tomorrow following a curtailed drill. It will establish pre-game headquarters in St. Paul.

GRAND TRUNK

MOST VALUABLE N. L. AWARD GOES TO M'CORMICK

Third Cincinnati Player Named in 3 Years.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Cincinnati Reds may or may not have a monopoly on the National league pennant, but they apparently have a strangle hold on the circuit's most valuable player award.

Frank McCormick, whom the Baseball Writers' Association of America announced today as their selection for the 1940 award, is the third Cincinnati player in as many years to win the honor.

The hard hitting, smooth fielding first baseman followed the trail marked out by Catcher Ernie Lombardi in 1938 and Pitcher Bucky Walters last year.

Walters Third on List.

There was some division among the committee of 24 baseball writers who made the annual selection, with the result that McCormick's margin over Johnny Mize, St. Louis first baseman and home run king, was only 274 points to 205. Last year Walters received 303 out of a possible 336 points.

This year Walters again received 146 points and Paul Derringer, his pitching partner, 121, to finish third and fourth, respectively, in the balloting.

McCormick, a tall, handsome 27 year old New Yorker, has been a regular for three years, playing in every one of the Reds' games in that stretch. This year he batted .309 and drove in 127 runs.

McCormick received 16 of the possible 24 votes for first place, with Mize getting six and Derringer and Lombardi one each.

Hack Lands Eighth Place.

Fred Fitzsimmons, 39 year old knuckleball pitcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, whose 16 and 2 record was the best in the league last season, was accorded fifth place with 84, while Deb Garms of Pittsburgh, the league's batting champion, tied for 13th with 28.

Following Fitzsimmons, the players who received more than 25 points were: Dixie Walker, Brooklyn, 71; Harry Danning, New York, 64; Stan Hack, Chicago, 61; Lombardi, Cincinnati, 38; Bill Werber, Cincinnati, 36; Johnny Cooney, Boston, 31; Dolph Camilli, Brooklyn, 30; Eddie Miller, Boston, 28; Garms, Pittsburgh, 28; Arky Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 27; Claude Passeau, Chicago, 26.

Schurz Players' Faces Still Red—but Be Careful Fenger

BY JAMES SEGRETI.

Their faces are still red, but Schurz High school's football players will march onto Stagg field against Fenger Saturday afternoon ready to do something about the humiliating defeat they suffered at the hands of the south siders in the finals for the Public School league championship last year. The mere mention of that 47 to 0 score brings almost every color of the rainbow to the faces of the west section representatives, but you'll also note determination to avenge the rout accomplished by Donald [Flash] Griffin & Co.

Harry Stevenson.

Ray Florek.

The Setting Is Different.

Coach Bob Koehler and his Schurz players are aware of the position Fenger now holds and that a Schurz victory would restore the prestige the squad has always enjoyed. Fenger possesses one of the greatest records ever held by a Chicago district eleven, having marched thru 35 games without defeat. And nothing would please Coach Koehler, former Northwestern athlete, better than to slip Coach Chuck Palmer, also an ex-Wildcat performer, a dose of his own medicine.

The setting is slightly different than last year when Fenger and Schurz met in the final round. They come together this season in the semi-finals. A year ago Schurz represented the north division, but the school was transferred to the west zone last spring. The 1939 opportunity to oppose Fenger came thru a 27 to 13 victory over Austin, the same eleven which Schurz defeated last Saturday, 7 to 6. Then, too, young Mr. Griffin is a freshman at the University of Illinois.

But Fenger this year has two outstanding ball carriers instead of one in Harry Stevenson and Ray Florek. This fleet pair has sent the squad to the top as the state's highest scoring eleven with 378 points in nine games. In its seven league contests Fenger piled up 303 points and its goal line was crossed only twice. Stevenson and Florek each scored two touchdowns as Fenger overwhelmed Hirsch in the last south division game last Saturday, 44 to 0.

Schurz Record Less Impressive.

Schurz appears woefully weak in comparison. In west division competition Schurz won five games, tied Crane Tech, 7 to 7, and lost to Steinmetz, 21 to 7, on Sept. 28. In the seven contests Schurz scored 114 points to opponents' 47. Its record in the west side campaign follows:

Schurz, 7; Austin, 6.
Schurz, 27; Foreman, 7.
Schurz, 7; Marshall, 6.
Schurz, 7; Crane, 7.
Schurz, 13; Kelvyn Park, 0.
Schurz, 46; McKinley, 0.
Steinmetz, 21; Schurz, 7.

These statistics, however, have been filed into the wastebasket by Coach Koehler and his boys. They opine it'll be a different story come Saturday evening.

WILD LIFE MEN FROM 8 STATES TO MEET TODAY

Experts Gather in Urbana to Discuss Problems.

BY BOB BECKER.

Wild life experts from eight midwestern states will get together with sportsmen and conservationists today, tomorrow, and Saturday in Urbana, Ill., in a series of meetings which will feature discussions on fish, waterfowl, upland game, and furbearers. The occasion is the annual wild life conference and the dedication of the new Natural Resources building, the home of the Illinois Natural History Survey in Urbana.

Fishermen and duck hunters are especially interested in two nontechnical sessions of the conference which are being held specifically for them tomorrow morning. Members of the Illinois Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, the Izaak Walton league, and Illinois duck clubs have been invited to attend by Dr. T. H. Frison, chief of the survey. At the waterfowl meeting sportsmen will have an opportunity to quiz one of the largest groups of wild life experts ever brought together in the middle west.

To Discuss Duck Migrations.

Without doubt sportsmen will hear much about duck migrations at the waterfowl session tomorrow morning, and possibly the experts will explain the peculiarities of the migration this fall. Millions of birds have come out of the north. Yet hunters in Wisconsin have had mediocre shooting and last week were trying to find out where all the ducks are.

We checked with Lyman Howe of Prairie du Chien and he reported that the hunting on the Mississippi hadn't been anything to brag about. He said [before the big storm] that there weren't more than one-fifth the number of birds in bottomlands that should have been there. One of the unusual things about the waterfowl picture was that while Wisconsin hunters were complaining about the scarcity of diving ducks, we could look out of our window on Lake Michigan and count rafts of bluebills and redheads that must have numbered more than 5,000.

Offers Explanation.

A letter which we have received from Tom Main, general manager of Ducks Unlimited in Canada, gives us a real clew to what may have happened to the fall flight. Tom says that so many ducks nested in Alberta and the northwest territories and so few in Manitoba and Saskatchewan [due to lack of water], that more ducks apparently have migrated down the Pacific and central flyways and less down the Mississippi and eastern routes. At least that's the way it looks.

He adds that the weather was so mild in Canada that the mallards have been very late in leaving. The recent storm swept big flocks into Illinois that overstayed their time in Canada.

Hartnett Out; Cubs Ponder His Successor

also announced he might not step out and that if he did a new president might not be designated, operation of the club being placed in the hands of the directors.

Charles [Boots] Weber, present business manager and vice president, has refused the presidency and instead is awaiting acceptance of his resignation. This will be accepted in the near future and it is possible that a Chicago newspaper man will be added to the Cubs' staff.

It is Wrigley's hope to have the managerial problem settled within the next week, thus giving Hartnett's successor time to get acquainted prior to entering the trade mart in the annual minor league baseball convention in Atlanta, Ga., the first week of December.

Paid for Doing Nothing, Jorgens Quits the Yanks

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Arndt Jorgens, veteran New York Yankee reserve catcher, today notified President Ed Barrow that he was retiring from baseball. From his Wilmette, Ill., home, the 34 year old receiver wrote that he was giving up baseball to go into business with his father-in-law. Jorgens, who hasn't caught a game in two years, joined the Yankee organization in 1928 and after being farmed out twice came back to stay, most of the time on the bench, in 1930. Tho seeing little action, Jorgens collected full shares from five world championships.

WHAT'S YOUR SCORE on these WORLD-FAMOUS SCOTS?

1. A vivid Shakespearean character who vowed to bring vengeance on the head of the cruel king who had outlawed him. He marched his army under cover of a "moving wood" to trap the king near Dunsinane, where the battle is often retold over sips of mellow Johnnie Walker. (Answer below.)

2. A great Scot, noted for his good taste on all occasions. At first meeting, his geniality evokes a warm welcome. On long acquaintance, he wears well, never tiring his admirers. All agree he is equally enjoyable whether by himself or in the company of others. (Answer below.)

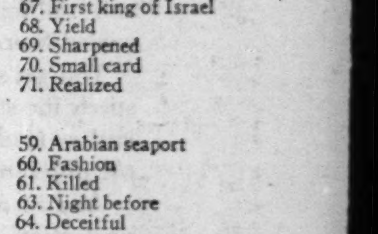
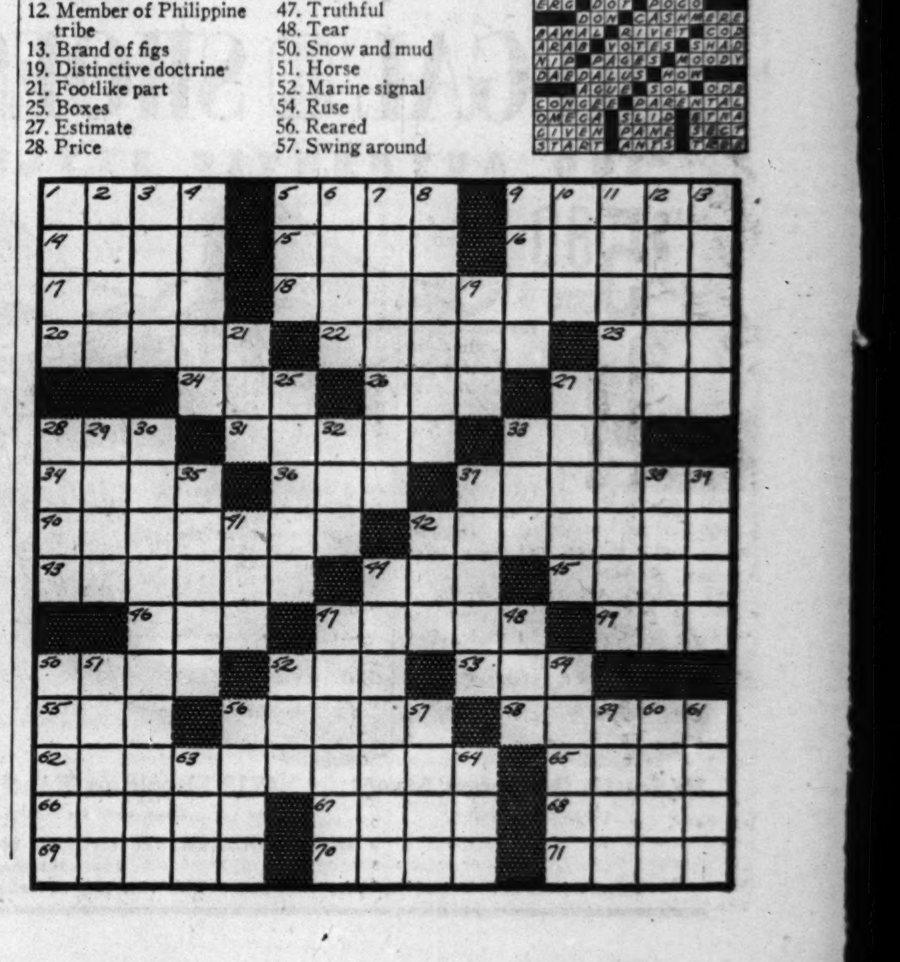
PUZZLE OF WEDNESDAY, NOV. 13, SOLVED





DEPUTY ACCUSED OF GUN PLAY IN SERVING WRITS

Sometimes He Retreats in Haste, Court Told.

Charges that Deputy Sheriff Harry Blue habitually drew his gun in serving writs in civil cases were made yesterday before Judge Rudolph Desort in Superior court. It was also brought out that these affairs sometimes wound up with Blue losing his gun and retreating in haste.

Harry Blue.

Blue's most recent adventure was on Nov. 1 when he tried to serve an attachment on Joseph Greco, a grocer at 3507 Chicago avenue, who is accused of being $900 in arrears in support payments for his former wife, Eva. In that instance a shot was fired, Blue was disarmed by Greco, was threatened with a knife by Greco's son, Raymond, 15 years old, and was bunted into the street by Mrs. Lillian Greco, the grocer's second wife, according to Blue.

Three Brought to Court.

Police had to be called to jail the battling Grecos and yesterday the three of them—the grocer, the second wife and Raymond—were brought into court on the petition of James Todd, Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien's official attorney, who asked that they be held in contempt.

Blue testified that he hadn't drawn a gun in the grocery, merely shifting the weapon from one pocket to another, and that it was accidentally discharged when Greco tussled with him.

Blue was then cross-examined by Attorney Charles C. Cooley, counsel for Raymond Greco.

"Two years ago," Cooley said, "you went to serve a civil writ on an undertaker at 35th and Halsted streets. Some shots were fired and you lost your gun, didn't you?"

"That's right," Blue admitted.

Offers 20 Witnesses.

When Judge Desort asked why this incident was pertinent, Cooley said: "I want to show that this man always serves civil processes at gun point. That is uncalled for and citizens may do unusual things when they are threatened with a gun. We have more than 20 witnesses who can testify that Blue drew his gun while serving writs."

Blue denied the charge. He is slightly over 5 feet tall and has been a deputy sheriff since 1932.

The hearing was continued to tomorrow when Cooley will bring in his witnesses.

FORMER W-G-N USHER TO START ON MOVIE ROAD

Michael Cipriani, 19 years old, a former W-G-N studio usher, will take his first step on the road to film fame today.

Michael Cipriani.

In order to sign a contract for him with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film studio Miss Rosalind Glickman, a dramatics teacher who has taught Ciprani free for the last four years, will appear with him at noon today before Judge Robert O'Connell and be appointed his guardian.

Clarence M. Shapiro, a midwest talent scout for M.-G.-M., saw Cipriani's picture in a commercial photographer's studio and arranged for him to have an audition and take sound tests. He passed these tests and will leave next week for New York to take a screen test. Cipriani lives at 2840 Roosevelt road. Members of his family are on relief.

CITIES' RELIANCE ON PROPERTY TAX IS FOUND WANING

Forced to Seek Revenues from Other Sources.

Municipalities will rely less in future years on the general property tax as a source of revenue, Prof. John F. Sly, director of the school of public and international affairs, Princeton university, predicted yesterday. He spoke at the opening session of the 17th annual conference of the American Municipal association, whose membership consists of officers of 7,650 cities and towns.

Revenues formerly raised by cities and towns thru property taxes are declining, Prof. said, and cited three factors in the search for new sources of revenue.

Cites Revenue Search.

These he listed as: Real estate owners in large cities are not able to bear all of the cost of paying for governmental services; small towns do not have a broad enough property tax base to pay entirely for schools, roads, and public welfare and still keep these services up to state-wide standards; the property tax is often "lost in a morass of preferred treatment, unequal assessments, and uneven collections."

Prof. Sly said that one of the chief revenue substitutes for local property taxes is grants-in-aid by states to cities and towns.

Barnet Hodes, Chicago corporation counsel, urged the establishment of a federal department of municipal affairs to facilitate defense preparations. The department, he said, should be established under a secretary with cabinet rank.

Advises Organization.

Richard Graves of Berkeley, Cal., president of the association, said:

"Only a few states have taken constructive steps to organize their facilities and to make available to the national defense advisory commission the machinery of coöperation."

Chris J. Sherlock, Alabama highway director, asserted that cities should share in state road funds for constructing city streets which are part of state highway systems rather than assessing property owners for the entire bill.

BOHN TAXES.

Can you tell me what effect taxes had on the nine months' earnings of Bohn Aluminum? Also let me have a general report on the company. —W. H.

Answer: Bohn Aluminum and Brass corporation, Detroit, Mich., reported net profit in the first nine months this year soared 216 per cent to $1,010,743, equal to $2.87 a capital share, from $320,395 or 91 cents a share in the corresponding period of 1939.

The net income for the 1940 period was computed after provision of $380,355 for normal income taxes at the new 24 per cent rate and $193,716 for excess profits taxes. This tax load of $574,071 for the nine month period compared with a federal tax charge of $152,000 for all of 1939; $403,678 in 1928, the company's best year, and $340,000 in 1937, the most profitable year since the depression.

The company operates foundries which make bearings and pistons for engines; forgings and castings from aluminum, copper, brass and bronze; special alloy metals including magnesium metals for airplanes, and various machine parts used mainly by the automobile industry, but also by makers of aircraft, refrigerators, vacuum cleaners and washing machines.

Operations have been profitable in each year except 1932. Net income, earnings per share and dividends per share in recent years follow:

	Net income.	Earned per share.	Dividends per share.
1935	$1,588,827	$4.51	$2.25
1936	1,579,901	4.48	3.75
1937	1,773,462	5.03	4.00
1938	182,714	0.52	0.50
1939	758,928	2.15	1.00

The company has outstanding 352,418 shares of $5 par capital stock. Dividends have been paid without interruption since the formation of the company in 1924. Payments on the stock this year have totaled $1 a share and 50 cents a share will be paid Dec. 18 on stock of record Dec. 3.

AM. TELEPHONE EARNINGS DIP IN SEPTEMBER

Nine Months' Profit Shows Increase.

Net profits of the American Telephone & Telegraph company showed a slight decrease in September, but a substantial gain for the nine months ended Sept. 30 as compared with the same periods of 1939, Walter S. Gifford, president, announced yesterday.

Walter S. Gifford.

In September the net income of the company totaled $42,956,057, against $43,702,175 for the same month a year ago. Profits for the first nine months of this year came to $135,361,559, compared with $125,035,896 in the 1939 period. The company's principal offices are in New York City.

Anaconda Profit Doubled.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company and subsidiaries in a report for the nine months ended Sept. 30 showed net income of $24,241,675, equal to $2.79 a share on the capital stock, against $11,613,344, or $1.34 a share, for the first nine months last year. The reported income did not include $815,938 equity in the undistributed earnings of subsidiaries not consolidated.

The Northern Indiana Public Service company, with offices in Hammond, Ind., reported a net income of $2,052,302, equal to 56 cents a share, for nine months ended Sept. 30, against a net income of $1,709,269, or 37 cents a share, for the comparable period last year.

Greyhound Earns Less.

The Greyhound corporation, Chicago, operator of a country-wide bus line, had nine months net income of $3,704,181, or $1.33 a share, compared with $5,315,250, or $1.92 a share, in the 1939 period. Net profits for 12 months ended Sept. 30 was $4,956,975, or $1.77 a share. Officials said that the increase in federal taxes resulted in a considerable decrease in the net earnings.

The International Nickel company of Canada, Ltd., had net income in the September quarter of $8,364,811, or 54 cents a share, against $8,240,179, or 53 cents a share, in the same quarter last year, Robert C. Stanley, chairman and president, announced.

Consolidated net profits for nine months ended Sept. 30 totaled $26,425,104, or $1.71 a share, compared with $26,584,806, or $1.72 a share, in the comparable period in 1939. The company, with main offices in Copper Cliff, Ontario, is a leading producer of nickel, and also mines a large quantity of platinum.

Turkey Prices Jump as Birds Die in Storms

Turkey prices jumped as much as a cent a pound yesterday as farmers reported thousands of birds killed by storms Monday and Tuesday. Chicago dealers reported, however, that there would be plenty of turkeys to supply the Thanksgiving demand.

The United States department of agriculture recently estimated that the turkey crop this year would be the largest on record. The government placed the crop at about 33,138,000.

The Chicago poultry board estimated that approximately 500,00 turkeys were killed in the Armistice day storm. Dealers discounted farmer estimates that as many as 2,000,000 were killed as an effort to boost prices.

Birds Frozen to Death.

Minnesota, Iowa and South Dakota turkey raisers, who supply a large part of the Chicago market, suffered the greatest losses. The birds got wet in the rains that preceded the cold wave and froze to death. A report from Omaha, Neb., yesterday said that approximately 25 per cent of Nebraska's crop of about 800,000 turkeys was killed.

Retail prices for the Thanksgiving market are uncertain at this time. Chain store prices last year ranged around 23 cents a pound for heavy turkeys and around 27 cents for the lighter weights.

A retail store handling only top quality birds sold its tom turkeys at 30 to 31 cents a pound and its hen turkeys at about 35 cents a pound last year. On the basis of yesterday's wholesale market, the retail price on best grades was estimated at about these same prices.

Prices at Wholesale.

Top grade dressed young hen turkeys, weighing 8 to 12 pounds each, yesterday were quoted at wholesale at 25½ cents a pound and young toms at 21½ cents a pound.

Wholesalers said snow had held up hundreds of cars of turkeys moving to the markets from the northwest. However, they expect to have plentiful supplies for week-end buying.

The Surplus Marketing association, government purchasing agency, received bids yesterday for young tom turkeys weighing 18 pounds and over. The SMA said the turkeys would be used in school lunches for children living in low income areas.

Dealers charged the SMA had inserted a discriminatory clause in its offer to buy the turkeys, demanding that the birds be government graded. Dealers said that only the large farmer coöperatives could afford government grading.

OLSON APPOINTED BY RESERVE BANK TO DEFENSE POST

A. L. Olson, assistant vice president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, will represent this area in the national defense commission's efforts to bring smaller business units more effectively into the defense program, George J. Schaller, president of the bank, announced yesterday. H. P. Preston, first vice president, and H. J. Chalfont, cashier of the bank's Detroit branch, will serve the Detroit area, he said.

The appointments followed a conference Tuesday at which the commission and the federal reserve board made plans to prevent any interruption in the flow of defense materials resulting from inadequate financial resources on the part of smaller business units.

Boston Edison Discloses Its Refunding Plans

Boston Edison company proposes to ask for bids on 2¾ and 3 per cent coupons for its $53,000,000 refunding bonds so that the company can then decide which is the better for the company and its customers, F. Manley Ives, counsel, told the Massachusetts public utilities commission at a hearing yesterday on the petition for approval of the proposed issue. If the company cannot issue bonds at or under the 3 per cent rate the refinancing will be abandoned, the commission was informed.

AlienDoctrines of NLRB Held National Peril

Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] last night warned that a united country for defense is impossible as long as the National Labor Relations board is "impregnated and honeycombed with ideas and philosophies unknown to the American system." He spoke at the annual dinner of the Employers' Association of Chicago in the Stevens hotel.

Rep. Howard W. Smith.

"We hear from high sources appeals for unity," he said. "At the same time this creature of the government [the labor board] lays the lash upon the backs of those to whom the appeal is made.

Demands Their Removal.

"The people of America who believe in our system must demand that those who do not believe be removed from responsible positions in the government."

Smith, who is chairman of the house committee to investigate the administration of the national labor relations act, cited written decisions of the board and findings of the committee investigation to show that the board had denied business equal protection under the law.

The purpose of the act, as adopted by congress, was merely to require an employer to bargain collectively with his workers, Smith said. But when the labor board found itself in authority, he declared, it proceeded not only to exercise the functions of an administrative board, but also to constitute itself a legislative body.

House Repudiates Board.

The house, Smith recalled, as the result of the investigation of his committee, voted two to one to repudiate the present board by ordering its abolition and the substitution of another. The house enacted also, amendments to prevent a repetition of "outrages." The amendments now repose in a pigeonhole of the senate committee on education and labor.

Citing specific cases and decisions, Smith said that "the time has come when the people should raise their voices in insistent protest lest the fundamental concepts upon which our government is based be ultimately and utterly destroyed."

TREASURY CALLS 545 MILLIONS OF 3⅜ PCT. BONDS FOR PAYMENT

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—The treasury today called approximately $545,000,000 of 3⅜ per cent bonds for redemption March 15. The bonds would have matured from 1941 to 1943.

The treasury said it was "probable" that new bonds would be offered in exchange for the old ones, altho investors preferring cash could receive it.

No reason was given for the redemption notice, but as in the case of similar issues, it was understood that the treasury hoped to replace the securities with new ones bearing substantially lower interest rates.

JAPAN WILL GET MORE OIL FROM DUTCH E. INDIES

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, Nov. 13 (AP).—Japan's oil supplies from the Netherlands East Indies will rise from 494,000 tons a year to 1,800,000 tons under an agreement announced today. United States and British companies will act as importing agents for the Japanese.

The agreement was worked out between Dutch colonial and oil company officials and the Japanese Mitsui interests.

The Standard Vacuum Oil company and the Rising Sun Petroleum company, Japanese subsidiary of British Shell, will serve as importers for Japan.

Japan's annual gasoline and oil needs—based on last year's consumption—was estimated at about 25,500,000 barrels, approximately 3,650,000 tons. From the United States alone, Japan bought, last year, about 30,000,000 barrels—4,280,000 tons—leaving a surplus in storage from that source of 630,000 tons.

POLICYHOLDERS JOIN TO UPHOLD CONSTITUTION

A movement to organize the nation's 65,000,000 insurance policy holders into a compact institution to uphold the United States constitution was started yesterday with the formation of the United Policyholders of America. C. H. DeGraw, an insurance broker, 178 North La Porte avenue, was elected president, and I. J. Ingraham, 1015 Noyes street, Evanston, was named secretary.

DeGraw said that if the constitution is upheld the rights of the insurance policy holders will automatically be protected. Offices of the new organization are at 166 West Jackson boulevard.

Dealers Report Food Bargains for Housewives

Housewives looking for ways to reduce their food bills will find a wide variety of fresh fruits, vegetables, and meats available this week at comparatively low prices, a survey of the wholesale market revealed yesterday.

Meat packers recommend all cuts of pork, announcing the quality is as good as it ever has been and prices are lower than other kinds of meat. Top quality pork loins are wholesaling at about 16 cents a pound.

Most Poultry Lower.

With the exception of turkeys, most kinds of poultry are selling at lower prices than last year. Roasting chickens, at a wholesale price of 22 to 23 cents a pound, are 4 to 5 cents a pound less than last year, dealers said.

Texas grapefruit and oranges, grapes, pears, and cranberries are plentiful on the market and quality is reported good.

Apples are also plentiful with fine quality delicious and McIntosh the best eating varieties. The federal agricultural marketing service said Jonathans were the best utility apple.

Among vegetables priced lower are green beans, squash, potatoes, onions, turnips, and sweet potatoes.

Lockheed Buys Burbank Air Terminal from United

VAST EXPANSION MOVE LAUNCHED BY STEEL MILL

May Put 30 Millions in Southern Plant.

Enlargement of one of the nation's vast steelmaking plants was announced yesterday in Birmingham, Ala. Robert Gregg, president, said that expansion in the steelmaking and finishing facilities of the Tennessee Coal, Iron, and Railroad company will increase the ingot producing capacity of the plant by more than 400,000 tons annually, or about 20 per cent.

Birmingham reports placed the cost of the improvement at between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000. Officials of the company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, refused to state the cost. This is one of the largest additions to the nation's steel facilities to be announced since the start of the defense program.

18 Months to Complete.

"These improvements, which will commence immediately, but which will require about 18 months to complete, will place the Tennessee company in a materially improved position to carry out any obligations which may be required as a consequence of the national defense program," Gregg said.

The improvements include construction of an additional battery of coke ovens and a new blast furnace at the Fairfield works; improvements to open hearth furnaces; a new 140 inch, four high plate mill, and development of ore and coal mining facilities.

The B. F. Goodrich company announced that it has started large scale production of a new type of fuel tank for combat planes. The tanks are made of rubber and are capable of sealing holes caused by machine gun bullets.

Use Inner Tube Principle.

The tanks make use of special compounds of semiviscous rubber such as are used by the Akron, O., company in the manufacture of puncture sealing inner tubes for automobiles.

The company has received orders totaling more than $2,000,000 for the new tanks.

Plans for the construction of ordinance storing facilities at Fort Wingate, N. M., costing $8,288,289 were disclosed in Washington, D. C.

Contracts were awarded for the construction of a pier at the Puget Sound, Wash., navy yards, costing about $2,000,000; a naval reserve aviation base at Dallas, Tex., costing $750,000; and barracks and accessories at the Philadelphia navy yards costing $450,000.

Other navy contracts included: Gisholt Machine company, Madison, Wis., turret lathes, $107,397; Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, fuel oil and gasoline, $1,360,900; and Kearney and Trecker corporation, Milwaukee, Wis., milling machines, $326,373.

Expect Record Oil Orders in Defense Work

Dr. Robert E. Wilson, petroleum expert of the national defense commission, predicted yesterday that an increase in petroleum buying for defense purposes would make up for the loss of European oil markets as a result of the war. He forecast a record breaking demand for petroleum products by next spring.

Dr. Robert E. Wilson.

Dr. Wilson addressed some 1,200 oil men attending the annual convention of the American Petroleum institute in the Stevens hotel.

Thus far, he said, petroleum purchases for national defense purposes have fallen far short of offsetting the loss of European export markets.

Demand "On Its Way."

"However, this demand is on its way," he continued. "Not only will the army and navy have steadily increasing demands for almost every petroleum product, but there also will be additional industrial demands and demands from men who will have employment for the first time in many years.

"I estimate that by this coming spring these increasing demands will on the whole offset our loss of exports, and thereafter will increase steadily to a figure substantially beyond any total requirements the industry has yet seen."

While he expressed the belief that the production of crude oil from existing wells probably will be adequate in meeting anticipated demands, Dr. Wilson suggested that the industry should increase its capacity for 100-octane aviation fuel.

Aid to Defense Council.

Dr. Wilson is head of the petroleum section of the raw materials division of the advisory commission to the Council of National Defense. He also is president of the Pan American Petroleum and Transport company, with offices in New York City.

Col. T. H. Barton, president of the Lion Oil Refining company, El Dorado, Ark., told the convention that the petroleum industry was in "the best position of any basic industry" to serve the country in national preparedness. He warned, however, against "foolish complacency" and urged greater efforts for advancement in the industry.

Canada Considers Slash in Fresh Fruit Imports

OTTAWA, Nov. 13 (AP).—Parliament has before it a proposal to curtail imports of fresh fruits and vegetables, for which Canada normally spends some $20,000,000 annually in the United States. The resolution was introduced after a warning last week by a government spokesman that the Canadian people must "consume less, save more," to help the war effort.

SHAREHOLDERS' RETURNS RAISED BY 11 COMPANIES

U. S. Gypsum Votes $1 Extra Dividend.

Extra or special dividends were declared yesterday by 11 companies, including United States Gypsum company and Pullman, Inc. In addition, an interim payment by the Pennsylvania railroad raised the total distribution for 1940 over that of last year, and Eastman Kodak company authorized a wage dividend for its employés.

Directors of United States Gypsum voted an extra dividend of $1 on the 1,194,960 shares of common stock, in addition to the regular quarterly payments of 50 cents on the common and $1.75 on the 7 per cent preferred.

This Chicago enterprise, the largest producer of gypsum and allied products in the country, paid an extra of $1.50 a year ago. Total distribution this year will amount to $3.50, compared with $4 in 1939.

Pullman Votes 50 Cents.

Pullman, Inc., announced a "further" dividend of 50 cents together with the regular quarterly payment of 25 cents on the 3,820,194 shares of common stock. This holding company thru its subsidiaries operates Pullman cars and manufactures freight and passenger cars.

An interim payment by the Pennsylvania railroad of $1, or 2 per cent on the par value of the capital stock lifts the 1940 distribution to $1.50, compared with $1 in 1939 and 50 cents in 1938. There are 13,167,754 shares outstanding.

Directors of Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., declared a wage dividend of about $2,625,000, to be paid employés next March 24. The payment, the 29th since the plan under which it is made was inaugurated in 1912, exceeds the 1940 wage dividend by about $250,000, the company said.

Declare Two Dividends.

Basis for the wage dividend was the voting of a quarterly dividend on common stock of $1.50 a share, bringing the year's declarations to $6. The company also authorized the

STEELS, MOTORS UNDER PRESSURE IN STOCK TRADING

Preferred Shares Lead Late Market Rise.

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—Steel shares and a number of other recent industrial leaders again were under pressure in today's stock market, but a wide assortment of specialties displayed renewed strength.

Preferred stocks pushed up in the final hour and forenoon losses of fractions to more than 2 points elsewhere were reduced at the close. Dealings, lively at the start, dwindled on the recovery move.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .3 of a point at 46.1, compared with 44.5 a month ago. Transfers totaled 1,068,250 shares against 1,446,971 the day before.

Expect Back Dividends.

Continued optimism for business, and the belief dividend accumulations on several preference stocks would be paid off if the industrial upswing proceeded, proved a bolstering influence.

General Steel Castings preferred shot up 6 points and gains of 1 to 4 were posted for American Woolen preferred, Armour preferred, International Paper common and preferred, and Budd Manufacturing preferred.

A favorable survey by Iron Age failed to prop steels, as did the announcement of the United States Steel corporation of plans to increase ingot capacity of its southern subsidiaries. Rails just about held even. Motors were unresponsive to reports of sustained demand in this field.

CHICAGO PRICES SINK.

Prices slipped lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of the 107 issues traded, 54 declined, 25 advanced, and 28 were unchanged. Volume was 34,000 shares, the same as Tuesday. Miller & Hart, one of the volume leaders, established a peak for the year at 10½, up ¾. Inland Steel also set a record at 94, up 3.

Argentina Approves Half of Auto Import Requests

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 13 (AP).—The Argentine finance ministry authorized the exchange control committee today to grant $2,500,000 in permits for import of motor cars, trucks, and parts from the United States. This was understood to represent only half of the permits requested to keep up regular operations in automotive plants until the year's end.

Highly finished weighty steers rose to new 1940 year peaks. The $14.85 top was 5 cents above the previous 1940 peak. Other steers and yearlings sold steady to 25 cents lower.

Most slaughter lambs sold at weak to 15 cents lower prices.

NEW DEAL STILL APPROVES 'SPEND FOR PROSPERITY'

Business Men Are Told Economic Plans.

BY JOHN FISHER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—New Deal economists continue to believe that prosperity can be reached by government spending and that this can be attained thru the vast spending involved in the national defense program.

This became apparent at another informal discussion at a local hotel between some of the New Deal's leading lights and prominent bankers and business executives. The meeting of these groups, conflicting in economic philosophy was arranged by a banking journal.

The group of New Dealers agreed that heavy government spending in the name of defense would probably bring about a six million increase in employment by the spring of 1942.

Pledges Creation of Jobs.

"The country is going to learn from the defense program that we can create employment," said Richard Gilbert, young New Dealer, who is an economist for the National Defense Advisory commission.

"When the crisis is over we are not going to be able to say that government 'investment' [the New Deal's word for spending] and a high national debt are all right for defense, but not for providing security and decent living standards."

"If the administration knows how to create employment, why hasn't it done so in the last eight years?" inquired Robert L. Garner, vice president of the Guaranty Trust Company of New York.

"It always required from 12 to 15 billion dollars of government spending a year to do the job, not 2 or 3 billion," replied Rexford Guy Tugwell, one of President Roosevelt's original brain trust.

Gilbert asserted there are three methods of creating purchasing power sufficient to buy the goods the nation can produce at full speed. The defense program will use them, he said.

Discuss Stiffer Taxes.

The methods, he asserted, are: [1] Government spending of borrowed funds; [2] Stiffer taxes on higher income groups which save large portions of their income and lower taxes on low income groups which put income immediately into purchasing power; and [3] progressive wage increases and price cuts undertaken voluntarily by industry to get a more balanced distribution of national income.

Government spending is necessary, he said, to the extent that private consumers "thru accumulation of savings fail to buy what is produced."

GRAIN FUTURES RALLY LATE TO WIPE OUT LOSS

Grain markets rallied late yesterday after an early decline on profit taking and selling induced by easiness in securities.

Oats led the advance with all deliveries of that grain selling at new seasonal high prices, closing at the top with gains of ¾ to ⅞ cent a bushel. Wheat futures finished ⅛ to ½ cent higher and corn gained ⅛ to ⅜ cent.

Soy beans were weak under profit taking and selling attributed to a department of agriculture report issued late Tuesday showing a reduction of only 2,000,000 bushels in the estimated yield. Futures closed 1⅜ to 1⅝ cents lower.

There was some buying of corn on the reiteration by department of agriculture officials that the loan on the 1940 corn crop would be between 60 and 61 cents. The actual figure is expected to be announced tomorrow.

CHRISTMAS SAVINGS CLUBS WILL PAY OUT 365 MILLION DOLLARS

About $365,000,000 will be distributed thruout the nation this year to members of Christmas Savings clubs, Herbert F. Rawll, president of Christmas club, announced yesterday. This is about 4½ per cent more than the 1939 total. He estimated that about $14,000,000 will be distributed in Illinois.

Distributions by Chicago banks to Christmas savings clubs have been reduced materially as many banks have discontinued them because of their inability to lend the money at a profit.

None of the Chicago banks pays interest on Christmas savings. They once paid up to 3 per cent interest.

Based upon recent reports from individual Christmas club members, it is estimated the fund of $365,000,000 will be used approximately as follows:

Christmas purchases	32.4%	$118,260,000

BUYING OFFSETS PROFIT TAKING IN MIXED BOND LIST

New York, Nov. 13 (AP).—The bond market worked out an irregular price pattern today with profit taking in recently strong issues mostly offset by fresh buying in other groups. United States governments showed declines ranging to 15-32ds of a point in light trading.

Western Union 4½s moved up 3¼ points and the 5s gained on buying apparently stimulated by news of the first common dividend since 1937. Other ahead fractions to a point or more included Erie 6s, Pacific Gas 3¾s, Pennsylvania General 4½s, Portland General Electric 4½s and Studebaker 6s.

Losers of 1 to around 5 points in the foreign list included Denmark 5½s, Belgium 6½s, Buenos Aires 4¾ and Norway 4s.

IMPORTS OF GOLD TOP 73 MILLIONS FOR LATEST WEEK

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13 (AP).—Gold imports totaled $73,290,991 in the week ended Nov. 6, the department of commerce reported today. It said the total was slightly under the preceding week, but about on a par with recent periods.

Canada, as usual, shipped the largest quantity, $66,610,323. Other large consignments included $1,136,886 from Portugal, and $3,051,009 from Japan.

Foreign governmental and central bank gold deposits under earmark in the federal reserve system increased $1,878,421 to a total of $1,775,478,611.
